AMID THE CLAMOR OF SALT LAKE CITY.

Presidential Party Enjoys Hospitality of Mormondom's Capital.

Military, Civic and Fraternal Organizations Form in the Parade—Cow Punchers and Sheepmen Rend the Air With Their Yells—Nine Thousand School children Wave Flags—Eleven Thousand Hear Address in Tabernacle.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SALT LAKE (Utah) May 29.—The special train bearing the President and party pulled into the Oregon Short Line station from the North promptly at 8:30 o'clock this morning, amid the clamor of dozens of locomotive and factory whistles, the shrill yells of hundreds of cowpunchers and sheepmen, and the enthusiastic cheering of several thousand people congregated in the railroad yards, and along the streets leading from the depot.

As the President stepped from the train, he was met by Gov. Wells, Mayor Thompson, Col. J. W. Bubb and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who has been in Salt Lake for several days, waiting to join the Presidential party. The President shook hands with them warmly, and after chatting a moment the entire party were escorted to carriages. With the President were seated Secretary Loeb, Gov. Wells and Mayor Thompson. As soon as all the members of the Presidential party were escorted to the carriages, the ride through the uptown streets to the City and County Building, where the President was to deliver his first address, began.

On the north side of South Temple street, and stretching for blocks, were lined the military, civic and fraternal organizations, forming the parade, and sixty carriages of the Presidential party. Preceding the President's carriage was an escort of thirteen mounted police, under command of Capt. J. B. Burbridge, and Grand Marshal Ben Heywood and aides. A special escort to the President of fifty-six Rough Riders, splendidly mounted, and in typical plainsmen attire, came next. Four mounted troopers, two on either side of the Presidential carriage, formed the President's personal guard. Immediately following the carriages of the Presidential party, headed by the regimental band, came a battalion of the Twelfth United States Infantry, and the Twelfth and Twenty-second field batteries of the United States Artillery Corps, and under the command of Col. J. W. Bubb.

The second division was composed of the National Guard of Utah, in command of Brig.-Gen. John Q. Cannon. In the third division were the veterans of four wars, the G.A.R., the young men of the Utah regiment, which saw service in the Philippines, and a few bent and grizzled old men who fought in the Mexican and Blackhawk and other Indian wars.

In the fourth Division were the uniformed marching clubs of the Elks, Macabees and other fraternal organizations. Bringing up the rear were nearly a hundred mounted cowpunchers and sheepmen, the true western Rough Riders. Coming from the most remote corners of the State, many of them having ridden over 150 miles over rough trails to greet the head of the nation, these sunburned, brawny plainsmen, in their sombreros, and faded blue shirts, formed the most picturesque part of the long parade, and the President rose in his carriage and bowed again and again, in response to their wild cheering. It is probable that 50,000 people saw and cheered the President as he was driven through the streets. Among the spectators were many old Mormons, some of whom had come across the plains with Brigham Young, and in the years immediately following had pushed handcarts over the long trail, and they, too, straightened their bent shoulders and lifted their voices in the universal acclaim to the nation's chief.

Nine thousand school children, every one of them waving a flag, greeted the President, as he stepped from his carriage at the City and County Building and mounted a platform to address them. The reception given him by the youngsters evidently pleased the President very much, and he smiled and bowed repeatedly in response to their enthusiastic greeting.

After speaking a moment to the children, the President reviewed the long parade, and then, re-entering his carriage, was driven to the Tabernacle. Fully 11,000 people were packed into the edifice when Gov. Wells arose to introduce the President. When the Chief Executive stepped forward to deliver his address, the unique spectacle was afforded of 11,000 people gathered in a temple of worship rising to their feet and cheering wildly for fully a minute.

The President spoke for some time in eulogy of the Utah pioneers, who, he said, came here not to exploit the land and then go somewhere else, but to build homes. No real good to the community comes from the man who skins the land and then gets out. He asked that all people, but especially the people of the arid and semi-arid region, approach the task of taking care of the physical resources of the country in the spirit that has made Utah what it is. The President then made a strong argument for the preservation of the resources of the country. These resources, he said, should not be allowed to fall into the hands of a few rich men who would use them for speculative purposes, but should go to the home-makers. The President discussed the stock-raising problem and said our aim must be to help develop the settler, the man who owns the land and is growing up with it, and is raising his children to own it after him.

The President then spoke at some length on the benefits that are being derived from irrigation.

"The government can do a great deal," he said, "the government will do a great deal, but your experience here in Utah has shown that the greatest results which are accomplished must spring from the willingness to endure the risks and suffering of the pioneer."

Secretaries Moody and Wilson spoke briefly. Secretary Moody aroused considerable enthusiasm by promising to name a battleship Utah, if Congress would grant him five battleships at the next session, as it has this.

Leaving the tabernacle, the President was driven to Senator Kearns's residence on Brigham street for luncheon and a little rest. This was entirely an informal affair. President Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon Church, Senator Smoot, Gov. Wells, Congressman Howell and a few personal friends of the President and Senator Kearns made up the party. Shortly before 1:30 o'clock the President bade his hosts good-bye and was driven to the Short Line depot, and a few minutes later the train, amid cheering, pulled out for Ogden.

THEY HOLD A. CORN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OGDEN (Utah) May 29.—Upon instruction from the Secret Service men, A. Corn, an alleged anarchist, is being held by the local police pending the departure of the President. When searched by the police, a murderous-looking dagger was found in Corn's pocket. The police say that Corn came from Butte, Mont., and it is believed that he was connected with the gang who are supposed to have been implicated in the Umbria dynamite affair.

The President today met and talked with the thousands of Utahians gathered here from all the counties of Northern Utah. The train made the run from Salt Lake in 42 minutes than an hour, and arrived in Ogden on schedule time. Besides the regular party, the President was accompanied by Senators Smoot, Kearns, Dubois of Idaho and Clark of Wyoming. The parade was over a mile in length and the line of march took the party through the principal streets of the city and occupied an hour. All along the line of march the streets were crowded to the ropes that had been stretched to prevent a jam.

Features of the parade were the large assemblage of G.A.R. and Spanish War Veterans, who acted as the guard of honor, and the long lines of railroad employés who followed immediately after the President's party. Over five thousand children, representing the pupils of the public schools of the city and county, were gathered at Lester Park, and here the President made a few remarks. At a pavilion on the public square the President was welcomed by Mayor Glassmann in a few words. Senator Reed Smoot then introduced the President. The President spoke briefly.

OVERLAND WIRELESS.

The Marconi System to be Inaugurated Between Chicago and Milwaukee for the Use of the Boards of Trade.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Telegraphic communication by the Marconi wireless system will be established between Chicago and Milwaukee Monday. The station in Chicago is now practically completed, and that in Milwaukee will be finished tomorrow. Since last Sunday a series of tests has been going on which were intended to "tune" the instruments, and yesterday the first successful messages were sent to Milwaukee. A thunderstorm during the afternoon brought the tests to an end for the day.

As soon as it is in working order, the line will be turned over to the company for whom it is being built, and will be used for sending market reports between the Boards of Trade in the two cities.

KWANGSI FAMINE.

Situation Appalling and Suffering People Are Uttering Many Anti-Foreign Threats—Plague in Yokohama.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HONGKONG, May 15.—[Wired from Victoria (B. C.) May 29.] Consul McWade of the United States writes that the famine situation in Kwangsi is appalling. The people are uttering many anti-foreign threats and much alarm is felt in the district.

Plague has recurred at Yokohama; a stoker of the steamer Kagoshima Maru from Bombay was quarantined with plague on May 4 and on May 14 two fatal cases of plague occurred in Yokohama. The area in which the plague victims lived has been quarantined.

The military authorities in Formosa have commenced an expedition against the bandits. Six bandits have been killed and a large number wounded and captured.

MRS. BARNES LOSES.

Her Appeal from the Decree Appointing a Conservator of Her Estate Dismissed by the Superior Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge Braley, in the Superior Court today, dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Louisa Barnes, now of Los Angeles, from the decree of the Probate Court appointing Arthur S. Davis conservator of her estate. Judge Braley disclaimed jurisdiction, and said that she ought to petition the Probate Court to vacate its decree.

Stedd, however, that he was satisfied she had signed the petition for a conservator, and that she knows absolutely nothing of her property, where it is, or if there is anything left.

"The person who, perhaps, has spent it all is her husband, Dr. Barnes. All technicalities amount to nothing in such a case," said Judge Braley "and if I had jurisdiction, I would have unhesitatingly affirmed the Probate Court's decree appointing a conservator."

Mrs. Barnes had about $30,000 when she married Barnes.

WHEN GOULD LINES FULLY INTRENCH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "When the various Gould lines are properly connected up, the system will be such a powerful one that no competing interest will be able to keep it from getting what is justly due it." This is what Vice-President A. C. Bird of the Gould lines said today, when he returned from a five weeks' trip over the various western and southwestern portions of the system. As he spoke, Bird drew down an immense map of the country, which he has recently had made, and surveying the Gould line, continued:

"When the seaboard line is completed, and the Pittsburgh extension is ready, the Gould lines will be strongly intrenched in the Far East, the North, the Southwest and the West. The tonnage, which is now very large, will be still larger when the connections I have spoken of are made. All lines which are connections of the system will be glad to receive the tonnage which we will control, and we will be in position to conserve the best interests of the system. I am more convinced than ever that the Gould system has a great future."

Asked about the report that the Goulds would build to the Pacific Coast, if not given certain desirable traffic relations with other systems, Bird said: "Regarding Mr. Gould's plan, I know nothing. Unofficially, however, I should say that there are now enough railroads through the desert to handle the business for many years to come, provided their policy is broad enough to deal fairly with the various systems with which they connect. It is untrue that, while West, I sought additional traffic concession from the Southern Pacific, or made any threats of another coast line. The traffic relations between the Gould lines and its connections are satisfactory."

Bird said that he knew nothing except what he saw in the newspapers regarding Gould's interest in any of the much-talked-of coast-line extensions or projects.

"Nothing authentic has been learned," said he, "as to the sponsors of the Western Pacific, for which a charter is said to have been obtained. Mr. Clark declares that his Los Angeles line is to furnish an open gateway to all roads, despite the statement that there is an understanding between him and Mr. Harriman.

"Mr. Huntington is constructing an exceedingly powerful net-work of electric lines tributary to Los Angeles, and is thereby building up that part of the country rapidly. His charters permit him to do freight business, and there is a rumor that possibly he may be arranging for terminals for his transcontinental line. There is much activity in railroads in the West, but little certainty regarding them."

Bird visited all the Gould-line agencies in the West and Southwest for the purpose of ascertaining where they can be strengthened. Some changes, additions and consolidations are expected soon.

CONTROL OF B. AND O.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Railroad financiers heard today that Gould interests have wrested control of the Baltimore and Ohio from the Pennsylvania system. Should the report prove true, the importance of the event is recognized as overshadowing anything which has yet been done in the way of consolidation of systems, and forming of new alliances.

Possession or control of the Baltimore and Ohio would make the Gould system of roads by far the most important in the country, irrespective of the question of mileage. Pennsylvania's possession of the Baltimore and Ohio, it is now stated, has been in reality a popular fallacy. The Pennsylvania has not now, and never has had, a majority ownership of the Baltimore and Ohio. Its ownership of that road's securities has never amounted to more than one-third of the whole. This, however, with the friendly interests which have supported the Pennsylvania régime, has enabled the Pennsylvania practically to control the property.

A raid on stocks at the beginning of the week is said to have materially assisted the Goulds in the execution of their coup. The raid caused the throwing of large blocks of B. & O. on the market, all of which were eagerly bought up by Gould representatives, with the result of practically changing the control of the property, and placing it in Gould's hands.

BIGGEST MACHINE.

Rural Delivery in Political Aspect.

Congressmen Worrying Lest the Present Scandal Result in the System Being Abolished.

Gen. Bristow Says the Organized Carriers Can Defeat Almost Any Representative.

Inspectors Have Found Irregularities in Salaries of Assistant Postmasters and Clerks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The political aspect of the free-delivery scandal and investigation is beginning to worry department officials and members of Congress. At least half a dozen prominent Representatives were about the department today, conferring with the Postmaster-General and his subordinates. It is a well-known fact that fourth assistant Postmaster-General Bristow, who conducted the present investigation, is, on principle, opposed to rural free delivery. He thinks the government is building up a great political engine that will, in time, come pretty near ruinings Congress, and for that reason effort should be made at once to stop its further development. On the other hand, members of Congress who think they are benefited by the service built up by A. W. Machen, are strenuously opposing its curtailment in any way. Gen. Bristow made the following statement today in explanation of his position:

"Although rural free delivery has been established only a short time, there are today some Congress Districts that contain as many as 50 routes or of this special branch of the postal service. If the system is developed as the present rate, at the end of 10 years there will be from 500 to 600 rural carriers in some Congress Districts. I wonder if the members of Congress realize what this means. These carriers are bound to organize, as the carriers in all large cities have already done.

"When rural carriers perfect their organization, they will be in a position to dictate to Congress. They can make or break members of the House. They will certainly demand larger and larger pay for their services, and these Representatives who fail to vote for this increase can, and will, be beaten for re-election. Small contributions, say 25 cents from each of these rural carriers, would be sufficient to provide a fund of $20,000, and this money, dumped into a Congress District and backed by the votes and influence of the carriers and their friends would come pretty near defeating any member, no matter how popular or efficient he might be.

"Then, again, I fear that the enlargement of the service will but increase the bitter feeling between the agricultural classes and the workmen residing in the manufacturing centers. Already, this feeling is being worked up, and the farmers are beginning to demand rural free-delivery, because, as they say, the people in the city have their mail delivered to them, and for this reason the residents of the country should have the same privileges.

"This means that the postal budget would be increased millions of dollars per annum, and all prospect of a self-sustaining postal service would be destroyed for years to come. I make no secret of my views on the subject, and in conversations that I have had with public men I have dwelt on these features, but candidly, I do not think it will do any good. I should not be surprised if Congress appropriated as much as $20,000,000 for the rural free-delivery service next year."

It has been said that the members of Congress are usually actuated by selfish and political motives in working so industriously to have rural delivery routes established in their respective districts. When a route is arranged for they appoint their political henchmen as carriers, always picking out men who will do to them the most good.

About the time the Letter Carriers' Association brought about the defeat of Mr. Loud, chairman of the Postoffice Committee, because he refused to pass their bill to give them more pay, some representatives were talking the situation over at the House. One of them said:

"If I had the rural carriers here of me I would guarantee to defeat any member of Congress from a rural district that you might designate. Organize 15,000 bad carriers and get them working for a single purpose, and there is no limit to what they can accomplish in a political way. These men visit every day little farmhouses scattered through the plains and mountains, and in many instances are the only strangers that the inhabitants see for weeks at a time. By dropping a few words here and there on their daily visits, the carriers can create more sentiment for or against a candidate for office than any amount of campaign speeches and literature."

DISCOVERIES BY INSPECTORS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Postmaster-General Payne today made a statement regarding the discoveries of inspectors in the division of salaries and allowances. It covers only a part of the inquiries of the inspectors, but is favorable to George W. Beavers, formerly chief of that division.

The statement of Gen. Payne was brought out by the publication today of a story to the effect that thousands of assistant postmasters and postal clerks were being paid salaries higher than the law allowed, and that these unlawful salaries had been granted by Beavers, to strengthen his political pull. Postoffice inspectors found a number of minor irregularities in the salaries of the assistant postmasters and clerks, but they were comparatively few in proportion to the total number of postal employés, and the amounts involved are small.

Letters have been sent to postmasters at points where these irregularities make these changes necessary, to conform to the law and departmental regulations. Gen. Payne also said that this report was not supposed to cover the entire investigation of Mr. Beaver's division. It merely relates to one phase of it, and was prompted by misleading newspaper publications.

POSTMASTER MERRITT'S REPLY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The reply of Postmaster Merritt of this city to the charges of Ex-Cashier Tulloch was given out today. It contains some serious counter charges.

"Before I became postmaster," says Mr. Merritt, "one of the employés of the postoffice was suspended from duty, May 5 to June 3, 1896, without pay without any reason of record, so far as I have learned, and without any departmental authority. Mr. Tulloch, the cashier, retained this man's pay for the time stated, amounting to $140, against his protest. I am told, obtaining his signature to the customary form of pay roll, however, and then sent the account to the Auditor of the Postoffice Department as though payment had actually been made. The cashier probably had the postmaster's order to do this, and it seems he did not make personal use of the money."

Postmaster Merritt then, speaking of his removal of Cashier Tulloch, almost at once after he became postmaster, declares the removal was no mistake, and says that Tulloch was irregular and unbusinesslike in his bookkeeping, arbitrary in manner, occupied much of the time with private business and was a venturesome man in the field of speculation. Merritt denies that either the Postmaster-General or First Assistant Postmaster-General Heath, directly or indirectly, influenced Tulloch's report.

OVERHAULING OF ROSTERS.

POSTMASTERS' SALARIES CUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 29.—As a result of the thorough overhauling of the rosters of the postoffices throughout the country, Postmaster-General Payne today announced his approval of instructions reducing the salaries of assistant postmasters at fourteen second-class postoffices to 50 per cent. of the salaries of the respective postmasters. Among these are Ponce and San Juan, Porto Rico, and East St. Louis, Ill. He has found thirty-six officials in the postal service who hold office under designations not authorized by law, and directed that their positions be changed to conform to the law governing them. They were in New York, Boston, Brooklyn, St. Louis, Washington, Louisville, Los Angeles and Chicago and eight other offices.

Among those designations not authorized by law are "Superintendent of Stations," "Auditor of Stations" and "Inspector of Stations." Violations of the law, which fixes the maximum salary of clerks in second-class postoffices at $1600 a year, except in the case of assistant postmasters, will be corrected at Leadville, Colo., and three other places.

The investigation disclosed eight postoffices at which in all thirteen clerks receiving more than the salaries to which their designated positions as "assistants" entitled them, and in these cases the Postmaster-General has directed that the salaries be accordingly reduced. Most of these excessive allowances were made during the administration of George W. Beavers, who suddenly resigned as Superintendent of Salaries and Allowances immediately after the investigation of the affairs of the Postoffice Department began.

Samuel A. Groff, who was arrested for complicity in the Machen bribery case, appeared today before United States Commissioner Taylor and renewed his bond of $5000 for his appearance June 5, when he and his brother will be given a hearing.

The rolls of the third-class postoffices are now under investigation, and the authority for the compensation of the employés of every third-class postoffice in the country is being carefully examined. Postmaster-General Payne made the following statement regarding the changes announced today.

"In the case of the fourteen offices where the assistant postmaster is paid in excess of 50 per cent. of the salary of the postmaster, the action was taken to secure uniformity and better administration. The law provides that in first-class postoffices, the assistant postmaster's salary shall be not to exceed 50 per cent. of the salary of the postmaster, but this does not apply to assistant postmasters in offices of the second class. It is believed the basis of compensation should be uniform in all offices of the first and second classes, hence this order. The total amount saved to the government by this order will be $2500 a year.

"In seven offices where there appear to be eight persons who were receiving more than the law allows for the positions which they occupy, there may be some explanation of this fact, but in any event an order has been issued reducing the compensation to the amount authorized by law. In other offices there are persons employed under designations not known to the law. There is no doubt of the activity and the efficiency of these persons, and they are properly employed, but wrongfully classified on the pay rolls, and the postmasters have been instructed to change their designations to the proper title."

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

World's Fair Naval Display.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Nothing is known of the report that an international naval demonstration is to be held at Hampton Roads next year in connection with the opening of the St. Louis World's Fair. It is expected that the government will extend invitations to foreign powers upon the occasion of the three hundredth anniversary of the settlement of Jamestown, which is expected to receive the support of the Atlantic Coast States in 1907. The vessels in that case will be gathered in Hampton Roads.

Nothing to Bremerton.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—"Under present conditions, nothing will be sent to Bremerton." This statement was made by acting Secretary Darling today. He has not yet received the mail report of Capt. Bierer, commandant of the Bremerton station, and this will probably not reach the department before taking action. In the meantime, the Pacific squadron will remain at San Francisco.

Treasury Statement.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the division of redemption, shows: Available cash balance, $227,886,240; gold, $100,292,947.

California Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] California postmasters appointed today: Cuyamaca, San Diego county, Elton W. Lucas; Mordo, Monterey county, Jasper A. Mansfield.

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES.

A new demand for an examination of the books of the Metropolitan Street Railway has been made by Eugene G. Philbin, as counsel for Henry J. Braker or John F. Doyle, or both. Philbin alleges that "by carrying forward a false balance of $3,000,000 the company has entirely avoided accounting in default exactly $3,000,000 of the expenditures claimed to have been made on leased lines."

One of the negroes who was recently in bondage to a white citizen told the Montgomery, Ala., Grand Jury yesterday what he knew of involuntary servitude of negroes which has already caused the arrest of two prominent planters. The negro said he had been in bondage for more than a year for a debt of $6. He told of a negro man and a negro woman having been whipped to death.

The body of a sailor belonging to the coasting steamer Ville de Cherbourg with ten passengers on board, due to arrive at Cherbourg from Haven last Monday, has been picked up off Cape la Have. It is believed the vessel has been lost.

The Delaware Surety Company of New York, capital stock $1,000,000, was dissolved yesterday. This is the company over which litigation was had about a year ago in the courts of New York and before Chancellor Nicholson of Delaware.

FERRIS WHEEL DOOMED.

One of the Wonders of the Chicago World's Fair to be Torn Down and Sold for Junk to Satisfy Creditors.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Ferris Wheel, which was one of the wonders of the World's Fair and which has, since 1893, brought joy to the children of the North Side, will be torn down and sold for junk to satisfy creditors. The order was entered in Judge Chytraus' court today, providing for the tearing-down of the massive wheel and the selling of the iron for the creditors, principal among whom is the Illinois Trust Savings Company's Bank.

L. V. Rice, who has been manager of the wheel for several years past, was appointed receiver by the court. Bids will be received on the property June 1. It is said that the profit in the wheel will not bring over $15,000, while the total indebtedness of the Ferris Company is near $500,000.

COSTA RICA'S MOVE.

Congress Approves of the Reform Authorizing the President to Negotiate Treaties Even if Affecting Sovereignty

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Herald's correspondent in Costa Rica cables that the National Congress, in view of the possibility that the United States will again turn to the Nicaragua Canal route, has approved of constitutional reform authorizing the President of the Republic to negotiate formal treaties, even if they should affect the national sovereignty.

These treaties, it is promised, will be immediately ratified by the national assemblies of both countries, which may be specially convoked for that purpose.

FIRE DEPARTMENT'S RIGHTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Supreme Court of Wisconsin has decided that the fire department has right of way over everything when going to a fire. Lawrence Hanlon was driver of an engine and collided with a street car while running to a fire. He and other firemen were severely injured. He brought suit for damages and was awarded $4000.

DUEL WITH RAPIERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOLEDO, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A duel with rapiers was fought early Sunday morning near Adrian, the combatants being an Adrian man who writes for the magazines under the name of "Prince Robert," and F. O. Ellis of New York. Ellis is reported to have spoken slightly of "Prince Robert's" fiancée. Ellis was slightly wounded.

IT WAS PREMATURE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CANTON (O.) May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Friends of Bills Hester and Elizabeth Denny, who were recently married near Alliance, decided to give them an old-time "belling." A quantity of dynamite taken along for a grand finale, was exploded by mistake at the beginning of the ceremonies and four of the party were seriously injured.

"BEN HUR" RACERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The State Board of Agriculture today made a contract with Thomas Ensley for an elaborate revival of the Roman four-horse chariot races during the State Fair. Prizes aggregating $5000 will be offered, and Ensley offers a side bet of $5000 on the team which he will enter. The idea was suggested by "Ben Hur," and Gen. Lew Wallace, it is understood, will be one of the judges.

HEFFERMAN MURDER.

Accusation Against Rufus L. Sewall is Effectually Disproved and Coroner's Jury Vindicates Him.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, May 29.—The inquest into the death of John Hefferman, who was shot near the Ardsley Club, at Tarrytown, Sunday night, was held by Coroner Russell at Irvington, and resulted in a verdict of murder by some person unknown.

Sarah Campbell, Hefferman's companion, said she thought he declared his assailant to be Rufus L. Sewall of Boston, the prospective son-in-law of Robert Hewitt, and this was confirmed by Frank A. Healy, the club's night watchman, but the girl on looking at Sewall, said he was not the man, and his innocence was conclusively established by the testimony of several witnesses.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The story published in the morning papers of Alfred Hickman's marriage to Miss Mayo, a young lady now appearing with him at the California Theater in "A Runaway Girl," was emphatically denied in every detail by the young actor this morning. The story was to the effect that Hickman, from whom Blanche Walsh recently obtained a divorce decree, however, is of an interlocutory character and remains ineffective until the middle of July, was secretly married in New Jersey to a young lady on the eve of their departure for San Francisco, and are now registered at a city hotel as man and wife, while Blanche Walsh threatens to have him arrested for bigamy.

"The whole thing," said Hickman, "has seem at rehearsal this morning, is utterly and entirely untrue. CATTS USES THE VETO.

COUNCIL OVERRIDES HIM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKTON, May 29.—Consequent upon the expressed determination of Mayor George Catts of this city to veto the ordinance granting to the Western Pacific Railway franchises to lay tracks upon certain streets in the city, a meeting of citizens with the Mayor and the members of the City Council was held this afternoon, at which President W. J. Barnett of the railway company declared that the ground taken by the Mayor was unjust and illegal. The Mayor's chief reason for exercising his veto power was that the franchises granted the company limited switching privileges and the right to lay tracks on property it might thereafter acquire.

WORST FLOOD IN KANSAS.

Railroad Traffic at Topeka at a Standstill.

Terrific Rainfall Reported in Various Sections.

North Topeka Surrounded by a Flood—Nearly Four Inches of Rain in Kansas.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) May 29.—Railroad traffic in this city is practically at a standstill on account of floods. The Rock Island and Union Pacific are not running any trains, while the Santa Fé runs only to Emporia and the Missouri Pacific to Fort Scott. The flood situation is the worst ever known in the State. Perhaps 250 houses are in the flooded district in Topeka including several mills and elevators and the Wolff packing-house.

The condition in "Little Russia" the Russian settlement in North Topeka, is serious. The entire settlement is under water and a current has started through the district. The Kansas River is five miles wide at St. Mary's, and the town is half submerged. The Kansas River bridge there is partially washed out, and the river is rapidly rising.

Late this afternoon the Kansas River bridges at Maple Hill, Rossville, Silver Lake, Belleview and St. George were washed out. The new steel bridge at Willard is damaged beyond repair, and at Topeka the street railway bridge is useless. Several hundred cattle have been drowned.

A startling story comes indirectly from Manhattan that a cloudburst in that vicinity has started a four-foot volume of water down the Kaw river. River men discredit the story although they will keep watch for the threatened rise.

The Rock Island has news of a bad cloudburst near Herrington, which has put all the streams out of their banks.

Fifteen inches of water fell in Abilene last night, and more this afternoon. Business houses are closing, and the entire town is panic-stricken.

Tonight's rain extended all over Central and Northern Kansas, all of which is drained by the Kansas River. Rain fell during this morning at many of the flooded points, and at 4 o'clock another heavy rain, almost a cloudburst, fell. This will make the situation much worse.

Tomorrow the flood will be at its height, and the situation will then be extremely critical for North Topeka, Abilene, Wamego and other towns along the Kansas River. The police and fire departments in Topeka have organized to rescue people from the flood on the north side of the river. The condition there is appalling.

TEN THOUSAND HOMELESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOPEKA, May 29.—The high water at 11 o'clock tonight has surrounded the whole of North Topeka, and hundreds of houses are inundated. People are moving out from that part of town as fast as possible, and great distress prevails. At this time nearly five thousand people are homeless. It will be necessary for every inhabitant of the North Side to leave there by morning, and this will leave over ten thousand people without homes. The people south of the river are trying hard to take care of the flood refugees. The Courthouse, Statehouse and other buildings have been opened for their reception and a fund started for their relief.

The water plant is being worked under great difficulty, and it is feared that by tomorrow this will have to be abandoned. If this is the case, the entire city will be without fire protection.

Reports from Wamego and other points at the river report a great volume of water coming down this way. With a rise of two or three feet in the Blue and three feet in the Republican rivers. This will reach Topeka by morning, and the large Melan arch bridge will have great difficulty in holding its own.

For six hours today the flood plowed like a river through Abilene, filling the cellars and driving 100 families to places of refuge. The Rock Island, Union Pacific and Santa Fé tracks are washed away, two lumber yards burned from the contact of lime with water, and several buildings collapsed. Nearly all the business houses are flooded, scores of people were rescued in boats today, after having spent a whole night in the trees. Merchants are all moving their stock to higher places, but it is generally believed that the worst is over.

Salina is isolated, and cannot at this time be reached by wire. The Western Union Telegraph office in Salina has collapsed, and no news can be sent out from there.

At Lawrence, the Kansas River has continued to rise rapidly all day, and in the last three hours has come up nearly three feet. The water stands 13 feet deep on the dam there, and has caused the waterworks, electric light plant and brick factory to close down.

At Marysville the water is the highest ever known, and is getting higher. One hundred people at Wamego are homeless, and had to be moved out of their homes in boats. In many places the water is up to the second-story windows. Word was received there tonight that a rise of two feet was coming down the Republican River and a rise of three feet down the Blue River. The river at Wamego is rising two inches an hour. Over five hundred head of cattle have been drowned and washed down the river.

From Marion comes the report that the Rock Island depot is flooded and had to be abandoned late tonight. Many square miles of country near Emporia are under water.

At Americus, the river is four feet higher than it has ever been. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas road has not moved any trains south of Emporia all day. Council Grove reports that a large part of the country is flooded.

At Marqueite, the Smoky Hill River is higher than ever known before. Lindsburg is surrounded by water. At Concordia, many have been driven from their homes by the Republican River. Over five inches of water fell there today. At Newton, the streets were flooded tonight by a cloudburst. A tornado passed through that county tonight, doing small damage.

A tornado struck Strong City tonight, demolishing the high-school building and Baptist Church.

NORTH TOPEKA SURROUNDED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOPEKA, May 29.—At 9:30 o'clock tonight, the water had surrounded the whole of North Topeka. Over 2000 people are homeless. The river is rising, and it is estimated that by tomorrow morning fully 10,000 will be homeless. The Union Pacific depot is flooded.

NEARLY FOUR INCHES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) May 29.—Nearly four inches of rain fell in portions of Kansas last night, adding to the already bank-full streams, and rendering the flood in that State most serious. Today it is still raining at many points, and the local weather bureau predicts a further downfall, which is certain to result in enormous damage and to cause the most serious flood, perhaps, in the history of the State.

Added to the general damage in bridges washed out, railway tracks submerged and thousands of acres of bottom land covered, as reported last night, today hundreds of telegraph poles are down and telegraphic communication with many points is shut off. Trains are delayed in every direction, and on several lines traffic is almost entirely at a standstill. The heaviest fall of rain last night was in the northern half of Kansas. At Concordia it amounted to 3.78 inches; at Baker, 2.34; at Toronto, 2.80, and at Osage City, 1.42.

In Kansas City, Mo., the Missouri River is bank full and still rising, and already has caused great damage to business houses and other property in the bottoms and along the Kaw River, west from its mouth at Kansas City, Kan., the lowlands for miles are under water, hundreds of families have been rendered homeless, and thousands of acres of grain are under water.

Last night, a still higher rise in the river was predicted by the Weather Bureau, and with the additional rainfall noted, the Kaw and Missouri rivers at Kansas City and north and west of here doubtless will, in the next twenty-four hours, have reached a stage never before recorded.

DANGER IN IOWA PAST.

LOSSES HAVE BEEN GREAT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DES MOINES (Oowa) May 29.—From all over the State come reports that rivers are receding and that further danger from floods is past. In the Des Moines Valley, from Spirit Lake to the Missouri River, the entire bottoms are covered with water and the damage to the corn crop is inestimable. In Fort Dodge, Boone, Madrid, Des Moines Ottumwa and other points fully 500 homes have been inundated. In Des Moines alone, the damage will reach $500,000.

In South Des Moines the bottoms present a solid sheet of water, with houses dotted here and there, some turned over and others with their chimneys protruding above the water line. The river reached its highest point at 3 o'clock this morning, when it recorded 21.3 feet above low water mark. This is the highest mark upon the records of the government gauge by four inches.

Specials from Van Meter and other points on the Raccoon River above here this morning are to the effect that the river has continued to steadily rise, and is yet going up. Authoritative inquiry establishes a similar condition here. While the Des Moines River is slowly receding above the confluence with the Raccoon, it is rising below. South and Southeast Des Moines which suffered most last year are threatened with further devastation.

Breaks in levees in this city have surrounded hundreds of homes with water and a break in North Des Moines this morning inundated Central Place surrounding upward of 200 fine residences.

Contrary to early reports, a telegram was received from Boone at 10:30 o'clock stating that the Des Moines is still slowly rising there which indicates that the decline here is but temporary.

DAMAGE AT ABILENE.

NEAR-BY TOWNS SUFFER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ABILENE (Kan.) May 29.—The flood-waters from Mud Creek, swollen by a twelve-hour rain, swept through this city last night, doing damage estimated at $100,000. Chapmans, Solomon and Talmage, near-by towns, fared equally as bad as Abilene, and the loss to the county is tremendous. Abilene has no water, lights, postoffice service or newspapers. The damage here is estimated at about $100,000. No lives have been lost, as far as known.

The water in the principal streets of Abilene was four feet deep. Several buildings are in a dangerous condition from the high water. The preserooms of the three newspapers and the basement of Case's department store are under water. The railroad tracks have been washed away, and 200 houses are submerged, scores of families having fled to higher ground. A three-story brick building, containing several stores and offices, collapsed in it. C. Rice, Johnson & Nicolay's lumber yard caught fire from lime and was destroyed; loss $12,000. On the Smoky Hill bottoms 1000 acres are under water, and persons are being rescued in boats.

SKIDDY HOUSES FLOAT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SKIDDY (Kan.) May 29.—Thirteen inches of water has fallen in Clark's Creek Valley in the past twelve hours. The whole valley is desolated. Many houses in Skiddy were washed away, and crops have been ruined. Two thousand feet of railway tracks in this vicinity were washed out. As far as known, no lives were lost. Skiddy is a town of 200 persons in Morris county, Central Kansas, in a rich farming district.

DISORGANIZED TRAINS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKO (Kan.) May 29.—The floods have thoroughly disorganized train service in Kansas. General Superintendent Fruber of the Rock Island, said today: "Our system is in a deplorable condition. The Colorado line is tied up at this point, four trains being at McFarland and one at Wichita. Another train is tied up somewhere on the Herrington branch. The wires are nearly all down. Only the St. Joseph line to Topeka is working. At Durham, the Cottonwood River flooded the depot and ran the agent out. At Keats, a cloudburst at midnight put the town under three feet of water. Our bridge at Fairbury, Neb., is out of line, as is the bridge at Manhattan."

The Union Pacific system is in little better condition. At Calhoun Bluffs, east of Topeka, the tracks are covered. The water is over the first floors of the business houses at St. Mary's. The floor of the Kaw River bridge at Rossville is covered. The tracks west of Topeka are under two feet of water in many places between here and Waldo. The Santa Fé is unable to pass Lake View on the main line. A train reached Topeka at 9:30 o'clock from Kansas City over the Ottawa cut-off to Emporia, then east over the main line to this city. The Santa Fé will get a train west to Emporia to connect with through trains which have been run over the Ottawa cut-off.

At Topeka, the river is the highest in its history, covering many homes along the lower district and the Rock Island tracks.

At noon, the Santa Fé Railway headquarters were notified that a 4-foot rise was coming down the Kansas River, and is now near Wamego, fifty miles northwest of here, on the Union Pacific. The Union Pacific Railroad embankment is all that is keeping the Kaw River from sweeping into Topeka, but, despite the use of sacks of sand, the dyke is weakening. The river threatens to enter the old channel north of the city and make an island of that part of Topeka. The river has not used this channel for forty years, and it is crowded with residences. The people living there have been warned, and are preparing to move. The water already is flowing down many streets in North Topeka.

KANSAS CITY TRAINS STALLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) May 29.—All traffic between Denver and Kansas City was at a standstill this morning on all railroads. All trains between these two cities on the Kansas Pacific division of the Union Pacific and the Rock Island have been annulled. Three Union Pacific trains loaded with passengers, which were sent out Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, were returned to the city this morning, after repeated failures to get through. The passengers had been cared for by the railroad company and the citizens of Ellsworth, Kan., the easternmost point reached.

Two hundred passengers who had been marooned in Kansas since early in the week, and were brought back to this city today, left in a special train over the Union Pacific for Omaha this afternoon. No Kansas City trains will be sent out by the Union Pacific company for ten days.

MANY DEATHS

REPORTED IN OKLAHOMA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GUTHRIE (Okla.) May 29.—Damaging reports of storms throughout the Territory continue to arrive. At Harrison the flood killed five people, Mrs. Bryles and child, a child of John Alexander, and two people, whose bodies have not yet been identified. The drowning of several Indians is reported from Anadarko. In Day county a cyclone killed Mrs. Isaac Jones, wrecked four postoffices, and near Little Robe completely demolished a farm residence.

At Wellston the storm is reported to have fatally injured one woman and destroyed several buildings.

Near Hobart, out of a herd of fifty-two cattle belonging to Charles Smith, a dairyman, all but three were drowned in the flood.

IN OTHER STATES.

MISSISSIPPI CLIMBS HIGH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WINONA (Minn.) May 29.—The Mississippi River here today is the highest in four years. The water is now nearly up to the houses in the Polish settlement.

OKLAHOMA FLOOD LOSSES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

GUTHRIE (Okla.) May 28.—Official reports from Anadarko to Territorial officials place the flood losses at three times that of any former year. From Hobart, the estimate of losses is placed at $500,000. All telephone and telegraph lines are down, and thirty-two miles of the Rock Island tracks are out between Hobart and Anadarko.

The wheat and oat crops in that vicinity are total failures, as a result of the terrific hailstorms.

WHOLE COUNTRY FLOODED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OMAHA (Neb.) May 29.—A special to the World-Herald from Nebraska City, Neb., says that the dyke below Hanburg, on the Iowa side of the Missouri River, broke last night, and the whole country south of there is flooded. This dyke protected the farm lands for over thirty-five miles south of there, along the old bed of the Nishnabotna River. The farmers were all compelled to move out, as their farms are under water, and considerable of their stock was drowned. The loss to property cannot be estimated at this time, but all of their crops have been destroyed.

INCREASED THE GRAVITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) May 29.—Three and one-fourth inches of rain last night, following four inches Saturday night, increased the gravity of the flood situation in Oklahoma. The North Canadian River is higher than ever known, and additional floods are coming. There is no danger in the cities and towns on the river, but railways are heavy losers. Traffic east and west is paralyzed.

CANAL TREATY'S FATE.

Colombian Congress Almost Certain to Reject it in Its Present Form—Open Opposition to the Measure.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

COLON (Colombia) May 29.—[By Central American Cable.] From a most authentic and semi-official source from Bogota, the capital, it has been learned that the Colombia Congress is almost certain to reject the Panama Canal treaty in its present form. It is added that open opposition to the measure is encountered everywhere.

Señors Herrera, Fabrega and Teran, the representatives of Panama in Congress, are now on their way to Bogota. The other representatives will follow next week.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—Francis Tumblety, 83 years old, well known twenty years ago, as a traveling advertising doctor, is dead at St. Johns hospital, where he registered a month ago as "Mr. Townsend." The hospital authorities supposed he was poverty stricken and friendless. His will revealed his identity and disposed of an estate worth $100,000, among the legacies being $10,000 each to Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Ireland for charitable purposes.

SITUATION AT JACKSON.

FRANKFORT (Ky.) May 29.—Col. Rodger D. Williams, in charge of the military forces at Jackson, will be here this afternoon for a conference with the Governor. Gov. Beckham said today: I have been in communication over the long-distance telephone with Col. Williams, who is in Lexington. The situation has been exaggerated and our State is being done an injustice. No reinforcement of troops has been requested or is needed.

MEXICO.

GEN. REYES ACQUITTED BY UNANIMOUS VOTE.

ACCUSERS FAILED TO MAKE AN APPEARANCE IN COURT.

Innocence of Any Participation or Connection With the Tragic Occurrence at Monterey Clearly Established. Consolidating Offices of the Mexican National.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CITY OF MEXICO, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By a unanimous vote the grand jury of the Mexican Congress last night absolved Gen. Reyes of charges preferred with a view to his impeachment as Governor of Nueve Leon.

The accusation charged that the act of the police in firing on a procession of the friends of the candidate opposing Reyes on April 1 in Monterey was at the instigation of the general, and asked that Reyes be deprived by Congress of his privileges as State Executive and be placed at the disposal of ordinary tribunals for trial.

The accusing documents were read by the clerk of the grand jury, but no one appeared to sustain the charges. The defense was conducted by Emilio Valesquez and Jose Lopez Portillo y Rojas, who showed that Gen. Reyes had nothing to do with the tragic occurrences, and the Monterey police only resorted to violence because individuals in the procession became disorderly and aggressive, and the affair was simply a collision between the populace and police, such as might occur at any period of electoral activity in any country.

It is reported here that President W. G. Rayoul of the Mexican National Railroad will resign and be succeeded by Vice-President H. N. Brown. Assistant General Manager Galbraith succeeding Brown; that general offices of the Inter-Oceanic Railroad now controlled by the National, will be moved to this city, and that the New York offices of the National also will be moved here, giving a complete centralization of the executive forces of the entire system. This is the aftermath of the transaction in New York last Wednesday whereby the Mexican government invested in Mexican National Railroad holdings.

The government has agreed to grant the National Company a special concession preventing for twenty years the construction of any lines except branch or local along the northeasterly boundary of Mexico from Matamoras to Piedras Negras.

The agreement with the Speyers contemplates the conversion of $23,250,000 common stock of the National into two classes, of which $17,-250,000 is to be known as second preferred, and the balance as deferred stock. The second preferred is to be entitled to dividends if earned, not exceeding 5 per cent., after the annual payments of these dividends the holders of second preferred and deferred are to rank equally in the distribution of any profits. The second preferred and deferred stocks are to be issued at the rate of two shares second preferred and one deferred for every three shares of the existing common stock.

The government in purchasing a large amount of the securities of the Mexican National in connection with this deal, agrees to include as part purchase the total issue of deferred stock that may be offered for a limited period at $10 per share. The rights of existing preferred stock are not to be affected by the arrangement.

The concession of the Mexican National provides for its termination January 1, 1997, unless the company within three years from January 1, 1900, completes the line from Monterey to Matamoras, of which 150 miles remains unbuilt.

George W. Dwan, acting general freight agent of the Mexican National, has gone to Laredo to be married to Miss Alta Frye. Both are of this city. They will return to Mexico in a fortnight.

Memorial day will be celebrated Saturday by the local post, G.A.R., by exercises at the American cemetery at 10 o'clock, around the monument to the American soldiers who fought in the Mexican campaign of 1847. Ambassador Clayton will be present and speak.

All the graves of Federal and Confederate soldiers and sailors are to be decorated. After the ceremony the committee is to visit Chapultepec Grove, where, by permission of the government, they will place wreaths on the monument to the cadets who fell in the defense of the castle during the American assault of September 8, 1847.

GOVERNMENT UNCOVERS FILIPINO CONSPIRACY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MANILA, May 29.—[By Manila Cable.] Following the seizure and examination of the books of the Democratic Labor Union, the government today arrested President Dominador Gomez on charges of misappropriation of funds, brigandage, fraudulent sales of stock and organising an illegal association.

Over 100,000 pesos were collected in dues and contributions. The books show a deficit of 30,000 pesos. It is believed that part of the amount was stolen before Gomez was elected President. The government charges that part of the fund was used to furnish arms and food to the insurgents of Rizal province. This, with correspondence with Guillermo and other leaders in the field, forms the basis of the brigandage charge.

The union has a membership of 15,-000, is closely affiliated with the Nationalist party, and is strongly in sympathy with the insurgents. The arrest of Gomez has excited the natives, and will increase the feeling of unrest in Manila, which has been disturbed lately by reports of the landing of arms. The situation, however, is not serious.

Stolen for a Harem.

The Odessky Novosti relates the following romantic story of a Bulgarian lady who was kidnaped and confined for seven years in a Turkish harem.

Mme. Gerschoff, the wife of a Bulgarian officer stationed at Kalfbiar, on the Turko-Bulgarian frontier, and who was then only 22 years of age, was of such surpassing beauty that her fame spread throughout the neighboring districts.

One day, when her husband was away at the maneuvers, a number of Turks entered the house, which was some distance from any other dwellings, seized Mme. Gerschoff, and carried her off across the Turkish frontier. A servant witnessed the capture, but was unable to do anything but alarm the police, who were powerless as soon as Mme. Gerschoff had been conveyed into Turkish territory. The Bulgarian government took the matter up, but Mme. Gerschoff had disappeared, and no traces of her could be found.

It has now transpired that she was conveyed to Constantinople and sold to a wealthy Turk for £200 by the brigands who had kidnaped her.

She became an inmate of the Turk's harem, and remained in a bondage worse than death for seven years till the chance visit of a Russian female doctor to the harem gave her an opportunity of escape. This lady had been summoned to attend another inmate of the harem, and Mme. Gerschoff confided her story to her.

The lady doctor, at the risk of her own safety, helped Mme. Gerschoff to escape, and brought her to the Russian Consulate in Constantinople. The Russian Consul put her on the Russian steamship Oleg, which landed her at the Bulgarian port of Burgas, where the authorities took charge of her and sent her back to her home.—[London Express.

TO HELP OTHERS

The Worthy Object of Alderman Hosken's Daughter.

Not a Charity but a Desire to Do Something in the Interest of Humanity—Her Statement.

Miss Rhetha Hosken, the only daughter of Alderman John Hosken, of No. 634 Cherry street, Grand Rapids, Mich., with the worthy object of helping others, makes the following statement:

"I was partially paralyzed, bereft of speech and unable to walk without support. My parents had given up all hope of my ever being well, for the best physicians had treated me without helping my case. We all thought I was doomed to die.

"The paralysis was over my entire left side and so affected my organs of speech that I could hardly make my simplest wants understood. With the assistance of a chair I could manage to get across the room, but I was nearly helpless.

"My trouble began with what the doctors called poverty of the blood and I kept growing weaker and weaker in spite of their medicines. Then, when prospects seemed darkest, my mother decided to have me give up all other medicines and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They acted like magic. In less than a week after I began their use, I found I was improving. We were all overjoyed. I continued with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills faithfully and the dreadful paralysis disappeared, my strength returned and I became the healthy girl I am today. Everybody who knew me regards my recovery as simply marvelous. I am always glad in the interest of humanity to tell what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People did for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are unlike other medicines because they act directly on the blood and nerves. This makes them invaluable in such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions and all forms of weakness either in male or female. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box, or six boxes for two dollars and fifty cents, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Grand Canyon OF ARIZONA.

President Roosevelt, on recent trip, said:

"I have come here to see the Grand Canyon of Arizona, because in that canyon Arizona has a natural wonder which, so far as I know, is in kind absolutely unrivaled throughout the length of the world. I shall not attempt to describe it, because I cannot. I will not choose words that would convey or that could convey to the outsider what that canyon is. The only word I can use for it is inadequate. It filled me with awe such as I have never before known. It is beyond comparison. It is beyond description."

Fitzgerald then drove in a hard left to the stomach, and the round ended. Fitzgerald had a shade the better of this round.

WILL BRITT'S DEPOSIT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—Late this afternoon Willie Britt posted $1000 with Harry Corbett as a forfeit to bind a match for Jimmy Britt with the winner of tonight's fight between Gans and Fitzgerald. The contestants must tip the scale at 133 pounds at the ringside, or the match will be off.

The first preliminary was between Monte Attel and Al Meija, both of this city. Attel won in the fifth round, the police interfering, as Meija was hopelessly outclassed.

"Muldoon" McDonald, colored of Chicago, and Jim Clark of San Francisco then appeared in the ring for an eight-round contest. The colored man won easily in the first round, flooring Clark twice for eight seconds with terrific right swings. The referee thereupon stopped the contest, and gave the fight to McDonald.

ANGELS HIT THE BALL.

VICTORY IN TEN INNINGS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Los Angeles won the third game, a ten-inning affair, from Sacramento today by a score of 6 to 5. The batting on both sides was heavier than the score indicates, both teams having their batting eyes with them. Some of the hits were of the scratchy order. Young of the locals lost his own game, walking seven men and hitting two. Several of these free passes resulted in runs due to opportune hitting by the Angels and errors by the locals.

Gray's arm troubled him, and he was taken out before the game was half over, Drinkwater being substituted. The man with the peculiar name was wild and easily found in the fifth, his first inning, the locals getting three runs. He steadied down after this, and the Senators secured neither a hit nor a run during the rest of the game. Levy's decisions are still as rotten as ever, but he accepts the jeers of the crowd with a smile. Doyle is making himself very unpopular with the fans because of his constant kicking at decisions, whether good or bad. The score:

NEWTON AND CORBETT.

THEIR STATUS DEFINED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is not the slightest possibility of Pittsburgh securing Newton of Los Angeles nor Joe Corbett, both of whom it was said the local team was after. As soon as the report became current Ned Hanlon of Brooklyn made a statement to the effect that if the two men came East and entered either the National or American teams, it would be as Brooklyn players, as that club has a good claim on them, both having deserted. Hanlon's right to the two players is conceded under the peace agreement.

OAKS STAKES.

WON BY OUR LASSIE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, May 29.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Our Lassie won the Oaks Stakes at Epsom today. Hammerkop was second and Skyscraper third. Dazzling, owned by James R. Keene and ridden by Lucien Lynn, the American jockey, fell during the race.

Dazzling bumped into Sunrise and fell. Neither jockey nor horse was injured. Only ten horses went to the post. The betting was 6 to 1 against Our Lassie; 2 to 1 against Hammerkop and 7 to 1 against Skyscraper, and 10 to 1 against Dazzling.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, in Chutes Park, the Los Angeles High School and the Commercial High School teams will cross bats for the High School championship of Southern California. Much friendly rivalry exists between the schools and the rooters will be out in full force. Both teams have fine records so far this season. Commercial lost two to High School and High School lost one to Commercial and one to Alhambra. The game promises to be a good contest and the best seen between either high schools or colleges this year.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE.

There will be a game between the F. W. Braun Company's team and Holbrook Merrill & Stetson's team of the Mercantile Baseball League this morning at 9 o'clock sharp, in Chutes Park. No admission is charged. The teams of the league are entirely composed of employees of local wholesale houses. Following is the line-up for today's game:

F. W. Braun.		H. M. & S.
Lynn	pitcher	Carter
Hibbard	catcher	Fitzwilliams
Hartley	first base	Kerr
Morgan	second base	Spellmeir
Finley	third base	Lynch
Goodman	shortstop	Craig
Griffith	left field	McCarthy
Muller	center field	Lankin
Drabeck	right field	Smith

GOLF.

LADIES' UNEVEN PLAY.

The second round in the play for the ladies' championship, was finished yesterday afternoon at the Los Angeles Country Club and was very uneven, as the scores show. It was at match play and the results were so uneven that they were robbed of much of their interest as championship contests. Mrs. Griffith beat Mrs. Vail 7 up and 5 to play; Mrs. E. D. Silent beat Miss Seymour 4 up and 2 to play; Mrs. Nesmith beat Miss Carpenter 8 up and 6 to play, and Mrs. Frost beat Mrs. O. W. Childs 4 up and 3 to play.

The finals will probably be played this afternoon.

MEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

The male members of the club will begin play this morning for the club championship at 9 o'clock. In the handicap medal round, there will be two prizes. At match play, which begins this afternoon, the eight best scores of the morning will play for the club championship. The others will be in flights of eight also and will play for first and second prizes in their own flight, the finals to be played tomorrow afternoon.

AGAIN UP TO U.S.C.

COLLEGE ATHLETIC RULES.

Ralph C. Noble and George S. Hinchley, Pomona College; Clare Enyeart and Furguson, U.S.C.; with the Occidental delegates, Dan. S. Hammack and A. W. Buell, met at the Y. M.C.A. parlors yesterday and went over the proposed constitution that is to cover all intercollegiate sports. The student bodies had acted upon it and U.S.C., having voted it down, their delegates could do nothing, so from the other two colleges made the corrections that seemed necessary and the rearranged constitution will be submitted to U.S.C. next Monday. At that time they will either ratify or again vote it down, and themselves out of the league for it is almost certain that it will be accepted by the other two and the league formed for both are determined to have system in arranging their meets as well as to have more stringent rules of qualification for their athletes. It is strange but true that the high school associations more closely imitate the Eastern leagues in their strictness than has this college league of Southern California, and it is this laxity that has been the cause for a large part of any ill-feeling which has existed between the colleges.

THE BIVOUAC OF THE DEAD.

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat,
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on Life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few.

On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And Glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

No rumor of the foe's advance
Now swells upon the wind;
No troubled thought at midnight hants
Of loved ones left behind.

No vision of the morning's strife
The warrior's dream alarms;
No braying horn nor screaming fife
At dawn shall call to arms.

The neighing troop, the flashing blade,
The bugle's stirring blast;
The charge, the dreadful cannonade,
The din and shout are past.

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead,
Dear as the blood ye gave;
No impious footstep here shall tread
The herbage of your grave.

Nor shall your glories be forgot
While fame her record keeps,
Or honor points the hallow spot
Where valor proudly sleeps.

Nor wreck, nor change, nor winter's blight,
Nor Time's remorseless doom,
Shall dim one ray of holy light
That gilds your glorious tomb.

TRY HYOMEI AT DEAN'S RISK.

If It Fails to Cure Asthma They Will Pay for the Treatment.

Since we have been advertising the Hyomei treatment for the cure of catarrh under our guarantee to refund the money if it did not give satisfaction, many of our customers have told us of remarkable cures of asthma Hyomei has made.

A letter from the laboratory tells us that Hyomei is undoubtedly the only treatment known that will cure all forms of asthma, except cardiac asthma, and we have decided to offer to refund the money in all cases of this disease, where Hyomei is used, and does not give relief and cure.

Our guarantee to refund the money to any dissatisfied purchaser who simply states that Hyomei has been used according to directions without benefit will hold good for asthma as well as in the treatment of catarrh.

Respectfully yours,
Dean's Drug Store.

MRS. FRED SHARON KEEPS SON FROM WIFE.

ROW CAUSED BY PROSPECT OF BECOMING GRANDMOTHER.

Insanity Proceedings Brought by His Mother Against John Cabell Breckinridge in French Courts—Wife Trying to Gain Possession of Her Husband.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, May 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Discovery of John Cabell Breckinridge, a wealthy young Californian, will soon be brought up in legal proceedings to have him declared insane, reveals a most remarkable story of family disagreement.

One action in the case will come into court tomorrow when President Ditts of the Seine Tribunal will be asked to restore Breckinridge to to care of his wife. The young man's mother is seeking to have him declared insane. Her husband, Frederick Sharon, is a son of the late millionaire Senator Sharon of California, while his wife, who was a widow with three children was the wife of the late Owen Breckinridge.

Young Breckinridge is 24 years old, and was married last year in San Francisco. Mrs. Sharon received the young couple pleasantly when they reached Paris, and the family relations continued most happy until Mrs. Breckinridge made the announcement that she was soon to present Mrs. Sharon with a grandchild. Apparently, the prospect of getting into the grandmother class was displeasing to Mrs. Sharon, for, from the day of the announcement her manner toward her daughter-in-law changed. One day, while riding in the Champs Elysee, young Breckinridge affectionately drew his wife toward him. Mrs. Sharon, crying: "This has gone far enough," leaped from the landeau.

Breckinridge and his wife became very ill soon after this incident. Mrs. Breckinridge was cared for at the Hotel La Perouse, while her husband was taken to Bisseriets Sanitarium.

When the wife got better she tried to see her husband, but was not allowed to do so. Breckinridge left the sanitarium, and went to the Hotel La Perouse with the intention of seeing his wife. He was seized by two men who took him back to the hospital. Eventually he was released from the sanitarium, but was not allowed to see his wife.

Mrs. Breckinridge made appeal to Joseph H. Redding, a well-known lawyer, formerly of San Francisco, who happened to be in Paris. Mrs. Sharon engaged Edmond Kelly as her counsel. Mr. Redding learned that Kelly had applied to the court to have a commission appointed to inquire into Breckinridge's sanity, with the idea of placing him in an asylum. Redding consulted Henry Peatrice, who pronounced such proceedings outrageous, and secured a cessation of the lunacy proceedings. Argument on whether the commission shall be appointed comes up next month.

HUNDREDS OF ELKS ROAM SAN DIEGO.

PARADE, OPERA AND RECEPTION OPEN THE OUTING.

Festive Brothers to Spend Two Days in Pleasure—To Escort Veterans in Memorial Day Parade—Desert Blooming in Earnest Around Imperial.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, May 29.—Over seven hundred Elks gathered from game reserves in various parts of Southern California, roamed this vicinity today. They are on their first annual pilgrimage to warmer climates, and will have a two-days' outing hereabouts.

Five hundred of them came aboard two special trains, which arrived here at 4:30 o'clock. Special detail of bell-stags met the invaders at Oceanside, and piloted them here, when the revers effected at the depot by the 200 local wearers of antlers. The 700 then formed a parade and stampeded through the decorated streets to 324's Hall. They were led by the City Guard Band and with Hi Alden, accompanied by Charlie Fleming and Carl McStay riding at the top of electric street railway trolley repair wagon, labelled "How's this for High." A conspicuous member of the marching herd was Elk McCluskey of San Bernardino, the oldest living member of the brotherhood.

Outside of Los Angeles Santa Ana made the largest showing, San Bernardino, Redlands and Riverside coming next in order. Tonight the Elks' opera, "Martha," was given for the entertainment of the visiting brothers. Enthusiasm was at a high pitch. All the features were encored and to programme was on till near midnight. Walter Moore of Los Angeles responded to the 11 o'clock toast. After the show there was a reception at the Elks' Hall. Tomorrow forenoon he band will participate in the Memorial Day parade, as escort to the veterans. In the afternoon they will take an ocean trip in the Steamer Rita of California and in the evening they will hold a social session and dance on board the floating casino at Tent City, Coronad.

IMPERIAL HARVEST.

Supervisor Swallow, who returned hope today from the desert reports that one man at Imperial, owning two harvesting machines, has contracted for 100 days' work with his machines, for which the motive power is furnished by thirty-two mules. He will average to cover fifty acres per day. He gets $1 an acre for the work, and the owners of the land feed the mules. When Mr. Swallow left, the cutting of wheat had just commenced. He says that the desert is beginning o blossom in earnest.

He Charges the Russian Government and Church With Responsibility for the Massacre at Kishineff.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—The North American sent Count Tolstoi a cablegram asking him if the Russian government can be held guilty of the massacre of the Jews in Kishineff. He replied:

"Moscow, May 28. Guilty is the government. First, for excluding the Jews from common rights, making them a separate caste; second, for inculcating by force in Russians an idolatrous faith instead of Christianity.

Inasmuch as the last two days of May this year are holidays, the Los Angeles clearinghouse put forth its total yesterday of the local bank clearings for the month, in the sum of $23,769,980.81, as compared with $21,633,556.28 for the corresponding month of last year. For the day the clearings yesterday were $732,515.26; same day a year ago, $551,732.17.

Too many weak spots in the New York market caused trading to become stagnant. There was a decline of over two cents in May wheat. July closed at 73 1-2. Oats closed at 33.

OUR HERO DEAD.

Upon this the 20th day of May the American people pause in their several occupations to lay some chaplets of flowers upon the graves of those who died that the nation might live; to say above their immortal remains some words of remembrance. It is a holy day upon the national calendar. It is a day that should be sacred to every patriotic heart.

The men who struggled, and fought, and suffered, through the bitter and bloody years of the monster conflict between the States of this republic wrought for the liberty of the human race. They battled not only for their own country, but for the freedom-loving people of all lands beneath the sun.

There is a tattered remnant of the old army left, and today its members will march with halting steps to the places that dot the land where their gallant comrades lie wrapped about in eternal sleep. The sight of those men marching today will be one to stir the blood and to set an ache in the throat. The sight of them at any time is a very acme of pathos.

But what of those who march no more—those who never came back from the sayannas where the winding rivers ran red? They are still watching at the outposts; they are everlastingly on picket. Young, careless and debonair they went to the front in those days when all the land was filled with smoke and flame, or with the wailing of the bereaved, and they did not return. They are lying in forgotten graves by the tens of thousands throughout the Southland, and naught is left to us but a blessed recollection of their heroic deeds for the flag and the cause of human liberty.

And let us not forget what they died for. They died that law might reign in the land. They died that human liberty should not perish from the earth. They died that the stain of human slavery might be erased from the ensign of the republic. They died that the nation might progress in glory, in goodness, and in greatness.

They died that those who came after them should not be ashamed of their homeless, untrymen. They died that we might have a united country. They died that their homes, and you, good friend, for me might that a ris-

LET NO GUILTY MAN ESCAPE.

The Postoffice Department is moving with commendable energy in pushing the investigation of alleged malfeasance on the part of certain officials, and of the other irregularities which are said to have existed in the department. There is an apparent disposition on the part of Postmaster General Payne—who is, of course, acting with the approval and by direction of the President—to probe the scandal to the bottom, whatever may be the outcome and to "turn the rascals out" as fast as their rascality can be proven.

This is as it should be. In a government like ours—or under any form of government, for that matter—unworthy men are bound to get into positions of trust and responsibility. Men whose lives have been beyond reproach up to the time of their appointment or election to office will sometimes yield to the temptations which come to them by reason of their official positions. No system of government which has yet been devised by man can prevent the occasional falling from grace of trusted officials. When such things happen, it is not necessarily because of any defect in the system of government, nor because of any fault of the party in power (although the party in power is generally made to bear the blame, and perhaps not altogether unjustly.) It is chiefly because of the weakness of human nature, and this weakness is not confined to any one party, nor to any one form of government.

All things considered, our government has been remarkably free from scandals in any department. There have been some postal scandals in the past, due to dishonest officials. But when we take into account the vast sums of money which are handled by the Postoffice Department annually, even the least charitable critic must admit that the record is remarkably clear.

Perhaps the most hopeful phase of the whole matter is found in the fact that whenever there is a reasonable supposition of irregularity in the conduct of any department of the government, there is at once a movement to have the matter investigated to the end that the truth may be made public. This is right. Publicity, under such circumstances, is best for all concerned. It is best for the suspected official or officials, if he or they be innocent. It is best for the government, and for the people, whom the government represents.

One of the most effective of the influences which tend to keep our public officials in the straight path of duty is the knowledge that departure therefrom is very liable to be discovered, and when discovered is almost sure to cause the offender to be dragged into the white light of publicity, to be forever branded and disgraced if guilt be proved. No political party can afford, if it be so disposed, to conceal, defend or condone the malfeasance of any of the officials for which it stands sponsor before the people. The latter insist upon absolute, unswerving honesty on the part of their public servants. This demand is imperative, and it must be obeyed, so far as it is possible to enforce obedience. The people will tolerate no concealment, no evasion, no "whitewashing," in matters of this kind. They demand that "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth" shall be made known, and that no guilty man shall be permitted to escape. Therefore the pending investigation of alleged frauds in the Postoffice Department must go on to a finish; all the facts must be laid bare, and all officials, who may be found guilty of violating the law and their oaths of office must be adequately punished.

TIME TO CALL A HALT.

Six persons dead and thirteen terribly injured is the ghastly record of the first stage of the automobile race which was to have been run between Paris and Madrid. There is no telling what the record of slaughter would have been if the race had not been abandoned. Many of the competitors desired to continue it, but this was made impossible by the action of the Spanish government, which prohibited it. The French government has also established limitations which will put a stop to such terrific speeding as that which was responsible for most of the casualties.

The automobile is a great invention, and a very useful invention. It is probably destined to come more and more generally into use, as the cost of manufacture is reduced so as to bring the machine within the means of the ordinary purchaser. But the machine has its abuses as well as its legitimate uses. Racing on the public highways is one of the abuses of automobiling. It should not be permitted in any civilized country. If the danger were confined to the foolhardy automobilists who force their machines to unsafe speeds, for one reason or another, the case would not be so serious. But the chief danger is to the general public, as has been shown by the recent accidents in the Paris-Madrid race, and by other similar accidents in other similar races.

The Spanish and the French governments have done well in calling a halt in this dangerous so-called "sport." It was high time to put a stop to the slaughter. The automobile has the same rights in the public highways as other vehicles, and there should be no attempt to curtail these rights by unnecessary legislation. But the automobile has no special rights and privileges in the streets. It has no right to make the streets unsafe for other vehicles, or for pedestrians. Nor has it any right to endanger the lives of people living along the highway, as it does when it goes tearing along the road at an inordinate rate of speed. The principle is universal wherever civilization has established laws for the protection of individual and collective rights, that to the general public belongs the primary right to the use of the highways dedicated to the people. When the highways are appropriated for any other purpose than ordinary, legitimate traffic, the rights of the public are infringed upon to the extent of such appropriation. In the case of racing automobiles, the appropriation amounts to little short of confiscation for the time being.

Fortunately, automobile racing on the public roads has not become very common in this country up to the present time. It should never be permitted to attain to the proportions of a public menace and a nuisance. Endurance tests, where the prizes are awarded to the machines making the greatest number of miles without having to stop for repairs, etc., are all right, as are any class of competitive trials which do not require inordinate speeds. But speed races should be absolutely prohibited on the roads of either city or country. If automobilists must have speed contests, let those contests be held in places designed for the purpose, where the risks will fall almost wholly upon those who voluntarily participate in the dangerous pastime.

The cup challenger Shamrock III is now on the bounding main with her prow pointed in the direction that Columbus sailed when he made the most masterful discovery that the world has ever known. And the owner of the challenger comes on a voyage of discovery—how best to maneuver in order to win back a yachting trophy that has been on the westerly side of the Atlantic for many long years. Another blood-stirring contest between good sportsmen is close at hand. The spray is flying this morning beneath the bowsprit of the Shamrock as she makes her way through the blue waters of the mighty ocean, and there is rocking on the waters of Long Island Sound another yacht that Americans look to to preserve the position of the Yankee nation in the yachting game. And, as usual, the Yankee has no misgivings as to the outcome of the contest.

Should England place a tax upon American eatables it is barely possible that we shall see a repetition of the Boston tea party on the turbid waters of the Thames River.

As was anticipated, the western trip of the President has given him assurance that if there is any race suicide going on in this country it isn't visible to the naked eye.

It is barely possible that the French automobile industry secured some advertising out of the recent race between Paris and Madrid of the left-handed variety.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Hill of the big railroad concern up north sees wonderful possibilities in American trade with the Orient. This outburst of optimism is refreshing when one considers the strain of pessimism that ran through his previous remarks. Let us hope that Mr. Hill will continue to look on the bright side of things, regardless of the fact that his merger has been more or less unmerged.

Mr. Hanna is on the reservation and it is to be hoped that he will stay there until the round-up of 1904 is complete in every detail.

It begins to look as if the Postoffice Department at Washington had been suffering somewhat from Machenations.

"ASLEEP."

Comrades sleep, we'll not disturb you—
You have earned a sweet repose.
But we'll scatter all around you
Sweetest flowers, our fair land grows.
Sleep, I say; your crown of glory
May not rest on fairer brow,
Your brave deeds shall live in story,
Ages hence, the same as now.

When the clouds are dark about us,
And our land seemed rent in twain—
When the nations came to doubt us,
And discredit our fair name;
Then was heard the voice of Lincoln,
Thrilling every loyal breast;
"Come, ye freemen of the northland—
From the East, and from the West!

"Come, and save your country's honor!
God is watching from on high.
He'll protect our starry banner,
And the men who dare to die."
Lo! from sun-kissed California,
To the bleak New England's shore,
Men responded, by their coming,
Half a million men—and more.

Long we struggled in the conflict—
Many comrades fell "asleep!"
Yet the land thus saved has prospered,
And our gratitude is deep!
Let them rest, these comrades ours;
Wheresoe'er they sleep today,
They shall have a wreath of flowers—
Choicest flowers of all the May!

Right Way to Pack Flowers.

To pack flowers so they will travel successfully, cut them early in the day, and before they are in full bloom, with stems as long as possible. They should be placed in water in a cool, dark place for at least two hours before they are packed. A few leaves only should be left on the stems, as these take up the moisture in the plant. This applies particularly to chrysanthemums. Flowers with woody stems (such as lilacs) are bad travelers, and the stems should be peeled for two or three inches before placing them in water in order to assist them to absorb it.

The best packing material is paper only. Moss heats the flowers and causes them to shatter, and cotton-wool is distinctly bad, except for waxy flowers, such as camellias or gardenias; even then it should never come into immediate contact with the blossoms. All air must be excluded from the box, so line it with four pieces of thin paper, leaving the ends out till the box is filled. Lay any foliage which is to be packed at the bottom, and spray if the weather is hot. Place next heavy flowers, such as roses, fitting them in closely together, then put in lighter flowers, which, if delicate, may have soft green ferns between the layers. Finish with maidenhair fern or the like. Ferns should always be laid face downward. Now we come to the real secret of successful packing, which is to pack tightly. Flowers can hardly be packed too closely, and they should be well above the level of the box before it is closed, so that the lid has to be pressed down.

I would advise a beginner to post herself one box barely filled with flowers, and another crammed; the condition in which each will arrive will be an object lesson well worth the postage. Having put in all your flowers, fold the paper over them, and if the box will hold more, fill it up with wood wool. Wood wool consists of very fine shavings, and is most useful for packing, particularly for fruit. Close the lid, and remember never to nail down boxes of flowers. The jarring caused by the hammering and opening the box is fatal, and string, if tied tightly around, is all that is required. Lastly, attach a label firmly to the box. An adhesive label is the best.—[Kansas City Journal.

PROTECTION PROPAGANDA.

Free Traders Need to Gird on Their Armor.

Imperial Joey's Scheme Making Every One Talk.

Government Wants to do Educational Work Before Forcing a Vote.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, May 29.—[By Atlantic Cable.]—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's protectionist policy is the all-prevailing topic of discussion here. His masterful assertion that he would make reciprocal trade between the mother country and her colonies the question of the hour has been sensationally fulfilled. Columns of comment fill the afternoon newspapers, and everyone is asking, "Does it mean dissolution?"

Some people maintain that the government contemplates appealing to the country on preferential trade and old age pensions immediately after the close of the present session of Parliament at the beginning of August, while others maintain that the government has not the slightest intention of giving up its unexpired term of office.

The Telegraph, generally semi-inspired, says:

"The issue could not be voted on for at least eighteen months, but in the meantime the government will give the country and Parliament every opportunity to discuss it.

"A definite decision will probably be arrived at shortly and will depend almost entirely on the result of the propaganda now undertaken by the press and the members of the House of Commons. If the indications show that Mr. Chamberlain is likely to have the country at his back, a general election at the end of this year is extremely probable."

The Colonial Secretary himself, the Associated Press learns, is doubtful if he could win out just at present, but he is enthusiastically positive that with political agitation the constituencies can be brought to see the wisdom of his policy. Those who have discussed the preferential scheme with its author say he never exhibited such keen interest in any topic.

In this crusade the Colonial Secretary is absolutely in harmony with Premier Balfour and harbors no designs on the Premiership. If a general election occurred tomorrow and Mr. Chamberlain's programme were carried out, Mr. Balfour would again take the reins of government. The only practical development likely to occur in the near future is a series of political speeches from the leaders on both sides. The opposition is almost solidly opposed to a modification of free trade and will endeavor to arouse that public ferment which was associated with the corn law days. Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Balfour and such unionists as agree with them will try to extract from the public that degree of support which they may interpret as a popular mandate. All signs point to a lengthy campaign on the lines of protection versus free trade, which is likely to destroy party lines almost as much as did the home rule question. In all the argument the example and probable attitude of the United States will largely figure. The opponents of the scheme point out that the comparative immunity of the American from taxation precludes his prosperity under protection being applicable to the Britisher, who, even as the government organs admit, is already heavily taxed that the initial years of protection, with higher priced food, would be a severe strain on him and possibly create bitter dissatisfaction among the poorer classes.

The sugar convention bill, enabling the British government to carry out the provisions of the Brussels sugar convention, which passed its second reading in the House of Commons Thursday, is taken by the Liberal papers to be an important feature of Mr. Chamberlain's "attack on free trade."

The text of the bill issued today provides for the prohibition of the import bounty on sugar, that the origin of imported sugar be proved and that these be proven by the customs or internal revenue officers of British refineries which must be worked only by persons authorized by the commissioners. The Daily Telegraph this morning had a special two-column article headed "Will America Retaliate?" in which it analyzes the trade between Great Britain and the United States showing that in 1901, the British exports to the United States amounted to $91,900,000, while America's exports to England were $54,000,000. The article declares that a tariff war with the United States is inconceivable. It would create such a financial and industrial crisis in the United States as has ever been. America's answer to imperial reciprocity, therefore, would not be retaliation but an offer to trade under more favorable terms.

GUARDING THAYER'S BODY.

Investigating the Death of Young Man Who Carried Half a Million in Life Insurance.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEWTON (Mass.), May 29.—The grave of Edward M. Thayer, the Newtonville young man who died suddenly early this month while carrying a half million dollars life insurance, has been opened and the body removed to the cemetery chapel. Medical Examiner Frank W. Draper of Boston removed certain organs, after which the body was reinterred. Officers were posted in the vicinity and only three other persons besides the medical examiner and doctors were permitted to go near the grave or chapel. The sentry who has been guarding the cemetery is now pacing up and down as usual. The location of the grave is yet unknown to the many curious persons who have been attracted to the cemetery by the mystery surrounding the case.

Thayer was arrested in Boston last month on the charge of forging deeds of property on which he gave bogus mortgages, securing, it is said, considerable money. A few days after his arrest, bail being accepted, Thayer was found dead in bed in a fashionable hotel. The certificate named acute Bright's disease as the cause of death. Medical Examiner Draper having signed it. The fact of the death was suppressed for several days, but when it became known the fact that Thayer carried nearly half a million dollars in life insurance, although only 28 years of age, also became public, steps were taken by the insurance companies to protect their interests. To intimations that Thayer might have killed himself Medical Examiner Draper publicly announced that he saw no reason to change his diagnosis in the case.

It is known that Thayer, after applying first for $100,000 in insurance and later for additional policies passed the most rigid scrutiny of the doctors employed by the companies at periods not many months prior to his death.

After Thayer's funeral guards were placed in the cemetery here, presumably by the insurance companies, as the Newtonville police and the family disclaimed any such action.

SLEPT TWENTY YEARS AWAKENED TO DIE.

REMARKABLE PROOF OF LIFE'S ENDURING POWER.

No Solid Food Passed Lips of Marguerite Boyenval During Many Years of Trance—Life Sustained by Washing the Body in Milk.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, May 29.—Marguerite Boyenval of Thalles, near San Quentin, who had been in a cataleptic state since May 21, 1883, awakened Wednesday, cables the Herald's Paris correspondent. For some time past, she had been suffering from phthisis, and it is believed that the effect of this malady on her system conduced to her reawakening. She moved her hand on Sunday for the first time, and groaned slightly. When Dr. Chartier took hold of her arms, she said: "You are pinching me," and subsequently replied to questions by "yes" and "no." She was, however, in a state of great weakness, and gradually sank, dying today after awakening.

Marguerite Boyenval's lethargy was caused by fright. She had had a child, which died shortly after its birth, under circumstances which led to the opening of an investigation. One day in May 1883, while Marguerite was ironing, a neighbor said to her: "The gendarmes are coming to arrest you."

Marguerite had a series of fits, and gradually fell into her long slumber.

In 1896 the woman was described as being white as a statue, and corpse-like as a mummy, her body wasted away to almost a skeleton, and her bones seeming to be covered with parchment, instead of skin. The body was rigid, and only the pulse beats showed that she was alive. Life was sustained by washing her body in milk every day, and pouring a few drops of milk or spirits into the sleeper's mouth through a reed.

Many prominent physicians visited the patient during her twenty-year sleep.

THE PORT O' DREAMS.

It is just beyond the skyline
With its poppy fields of rest,
Where day's storm-bewildered shallop
Drops its anchor in the West,
Where a silent sea of saffron
Stretches inland toward the streams,
That go glimmering down the valleys
Of the purple port o' dreams.

In the far off gloom behind it,
Earth's dusky boundary lies,
And a step beyond its outpost
The hills of heaven rise;
So near that in the glory
Of their mystic haze it seems
That the dear dead walk beside us
In the peaceful port o' dreams.

O strange and wondrous country,
Hiding close the goals of life,
Who wins to thee brings courage
For the long dull march's strife,
And the prisoner of living
Hope's freedom pledge redeems
In thine endless, boundless radiance,
O blissful port o' dreams.

We have called thee Heart's Desire,
Or the Islands of the Blest,
And the land of the Finished Stories,
O dreamland in the West;
Yet every heart's the boundary
Of thy soul-reposing beams,
Art thou hope or love or heaven,
O happy port o' dreams?

Sail away, O weary-hearted,
To the bayous of release,
Leave the drums o' life behind you
At the harbor bar of peace,
Come to anchor off the headlands,
Where the light of heaven gleams
In the haven where you would be Past the purple port o' dreams.

REAL THING IN STRIKES.

Peons at Nogales Receiving One Dollar, Struck for Dollar Twenty-five, Compromised on Seventy-five Cents.

"Of course you have the real thing in strikes in this country," remarked Henry Dale of San Francisco to the Denver Republican, "but I can tell a story of one strike that was the strangest that ever happened in the west. Usually the strike is on account of wages. That was the case this time, but the adjustment was far from usual.

"In my business we lay pipe-lines in all parts of the west. I have to do with the carrying out of many contracts. It was while superintending one of these jobs that I gained the novel strike experience. I have never heard of its equal and no one I know ever heard of anything like it in this country.

"Our firm had a rush contract for the laying of a pipe-line near the Mexican border, a short distance from Nogales, Aris. I was sent out on the job. It was a case of dollars and cents to us to get the work finished on time. This was duly impressed upon me, and I was given liberal leeway in the matter of expenditures.

"Down in that section the only class of labor that can be gotten is the Mexican peons. I knew something of their traits, but had not had a great deal of experience with them. It was a case of peons or nothing, so I took the peons. I thought I would get a little more out of them by paying them $1 a day. They were accustomed to receiving 75 cents. That is where I made the mistake.

"With the gang of a hundred or more I got the work well started. The laborers seemed satisfied and went along about their work for some time. Then I noticed that something was wrong. Finally they sent one of their number to tell me about it. This one could speak English, and he explained that the men had heard that in some parts of the country laborers received $1.25. They thought they should have the same.

"That stumped me. I explained that I was paying above the regular scale, and could not afford to pay more. The interpreter told about this to the men. They remained sullen, but finally decided it was not possible to obtain other peons. I was lost. We did not have any too much time, anyway, and I feared we would lose.

"This condition of affairs continued two days. It was getting monotonous on the third day when a scraggly little man ambled into camp. He looked a peon, but his first word to me indicated that he was of Hibernian ancestry. He came to the point at once. His proposal was that he could strike. One hundred dollars price, and he agreed to [illegible] than that.

"The little fellow went to the men and talked to them in their lingo. He gesticulated as he did. Probably his harsh words, the hands had something [illegible] for he came back to me in a few and said it was all right, that they would go back at the rate of $1 a day. And they did, too.

"That was two years ago, and I have been trying to convince myself since that the little fellow with the merry eye did not start the strike for me and then collect his fee from me. But it."

HEATHEN GIRL POISONS SEVEN WITH ARSENIC.

NEARLY CAUSES DEATH OF WOMAN AND HER GUESTS.

Gladys Mallard, Aged Eleven, Who Was Staying With Mrs. F. F. Ward, Confesses that She Placed "Rough-on-Rats" in Food.

Gladys Mallard, aged 11, who has been making her home with the family of F. F. Ward, a brick contractor residing at No. 141 West Twenty-third street, and has been treated as a member of the family, has confessed that thrice during the past two weeks she placed arsenical poison in the food used by the family, thereby nearly causing the death of seven persons. Why she did it the child will not or cannot say, and whether her action was the result of a diseased mind or innate depravity is a matter of speculation.

According to her own statements, the girl found a box of "Rough-on-Rats" in the pantry and secreted it. She knew what the poison was and knew what the effect of it would be. On Monday, the 18th inst., while Mrs. Ward was entertaining friends from Stockton, the child placed a quantity of the poison in the cream used with strawberries. All those who ate of the strawberries became ill, but prompt medical attention saved them. No one suspected how they had been poisoned, and not the slightest suspicion attached to the child.

Twice subsequently the members of the Ward family became ill, and as the symptoms were the same as in the first instance, it was then suspected than an effort had been made to poison them, but even then no one suspected the little girl whom Mrs. Ward had taken into her home because her parents were not able to properly educate her. However, the child, when questioned, failed to tell the truth. At first she strenuously denied all knowledge of the matter, but it was remembered that she alone of all the members of the household had not been made ill. Pressed closely and finally threatened with arrest, the strange child admitted that she had put poison in the food. Not only had she poisoned the cream, but later she had put poison in the tea and again in a dish of vegetables which was being prepared for dinner. Fortunately for those who partook of the food, the quantity of poison used was so great that the danger of serious consequences was lessened.

After her confession the girl was repeatedly asked why she had attempted to kill her benefactors. She could give no explanation but she expressed not the slightest regret at what she had done. Mrs. Ward decided not to cause her arrest, believing that the child did not realize the gravity of her own action. It was impossible, however, for her to remain in that family, and she was taken to the home of an aunt.

THIRTY YEARS AWAKE

Then He Quit Coffee and Found Refreshing Sleep.

Coffee causes insomnia and physicians are agreed that this is one of the most distressing of all nervous complaints. It is seldom indeed that a man who has reached the advanced age of 81 years is entirely cured of insomnia of 30 years' standing. An old gentleman of Phila. says: "I have been a great sufferer for many years from insomnia. I am 81 years of age and can truthfully say that until I quit coffee and commenced the use of Postum Food Coffee I had not known real refreshing sleep for more than 30 years.

"Postum was prescribed for me by my doctor who made me quit coffee. I have now used Postum for more than 2 years and its good effects are both wonderful and permanent. I regard it as a good friend not only as a remedy for coffee ills but as a pleasant and nourishing food drink with a fine flavor. Several of my friends are using it to great advantage and think it much superior to coffee.

"When the directions for making it are followed closely it cannot fail to give satisfaction." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Such evidence supports the scientific theory on which Postum is based. There is a reason.

DOCTOR HARRISON

Diseases of Men Only. We Cure Every Case We Take by Painless Methods.

Our supremacy as a specialist in treating and curing men's diseases has been attained by our superior methods, which are in strict accord with the latest and most approved researches of medical science. No man has yet reached the degree of perfection where he can cure every disease, but we can honestly lay claim to a certain fact that our methods are as yet superior to all others; they are distinctively our own, used by no one else, and have proved their phenomenal excellence by effecting cures where many others have failed. These are hard, cold facts, which are worthy the attention and careful consideration of ailing men. Our offices and treating rooms are especially arranged and fitted up with the very latest appliances, with the view of giving our patients the best that science can furnish. We ask afflicted men to call and talk with us. There is no charge for consultation.

Varicocele.

Regarding this trouble, we have this to say: It is of very common occurrence with men, and should always be properly and promptly treated; few physicians treat this successfully; many know absolutely nothing of how to treat it; they are powerless to effect a cure, oftentimes telling their patients it is of no consequence, does no harm, and nature will after a time effect its own cure. Such advice as this is positively criminal. Varicocele is always serious, and leads to dangerous consequences. Our treatment is based on strictly scientific grounds, a cure being positively effected in each and every case we treat; this cure is effected in from three to five days. No knife, ligature or caustic is used. Our methods are safe, sure and the cure permanent. Remember, we guarantee a positive and absolute cure. Hundreds of references given to those we have cured.

Stricture.

With us surgery has no place in our treatment; cutting in th's trouble is obsolete. Our improved method of treating stricture is painless. Leaves no inflammation, irritation or congestion. The cure is effected, the patient hardly realizing that he is being treated, so painless and perfect are our methods.

Kidney and Bladder.

Inflammation and disease of the Kidneys come to us like a thief in the night. Thousands of cases of Kidney disease are beyond help before the victims have any warning, except, perhaps, a weary feeling through the back and lower limbs, and perhaps an irritable bladder. Every person, old or young, should have a careful, scientific chemical analysis of the urine at least twice a year. We have in our laboratory an expensive and complete outfit for this important work, and we have the necessary skill and experience to do accurate work. We make this analysis free for any one who desires to know the true condition of his kidneys and bladder. Don't neglect this opportunity. No doctor can treat the kidneys or bladder successfully unless he is thoroughly up on urine analysis, which is the only means of a correct diagnosis.

Weakness, Its Cause and Cure.

Nearly every man suffering from so-called nervous weakness has a cause for it, which is at the bottom of the trouble. The main causes are stricture, varicocele, enlarged, inflamed prostate, results of abuses and excesses, badly treated disorders, etc., which obstruct the functional centers. When a man applies to us suffering from nervousness, we find and remove the cause, just the same as an expert engineer or electrician finds and removes the cause when machinery fails to do its work. We have no difficulty in curing these cases; we have cured them by the thousands; we have the necessary knowledge, skill and experience to find the causes and give the proper treatment, thus putting the organs in a normal condition, when the weakness disappears, which was only a symptom of the real trouble.

Our book and colored plate will give you some valuable information on this subject. They will be mailed to you free.

FOR WORLD'S FAIR.

Southern California Representatives Meet to talk Over Plans—Association to be Formed.

Yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce an informal meeting of St. Louis World's Fair representatives from several of the Southern California counties was held to discuss plans for the exhibits to be sent from this end of the State. Those who met with State Commissioner Wiggins were A. B. Cass of the Los Angeles County Committee, Francis Cuttle, Riverside county; C. A. Riggs and C. C. Chapman, Orange county; C. M. Brown, San Bernardino county, and D. G. Reese, representing the supervisors of Ventura county, who have not yet appointed a World's Fair commission. It was the sense of the meeting that the exhibits should be made under the auspices of an organization to be known as the Southern California Association, each exhibit, as well as each section, to retain its identity under this management in the collective State exhibit. In the absence of officially appointed representatives from Ventura and San Diego counties, the formation of such an association was postponed until the return of Commissioner Wiggins from St. Louis, where he goes to look over the ground next month.

WHITE WINGS FLAP TODAY.

Twelve Yachts Ready for the Opening Regatta.

South Coast Club Contest Likely to be Close.

Start and Finish in Afternoon Off Terminal Island—Entries and Measurements.

The yachting season in Southern California will be formally opened this afternoon when twelve of the handsomest racing craft on the Pacific seaboard will contest for the championship honors in the first regatta of the South Coast Club's 1903 series, to be held off Terminal Island, Long Beach and San Pedro, over a triangular course of ten miles.

Preparations that have been in progress for more than a week came to a successful close last evening, and now all is in readiness for the great event today. Local yachtsmen assert that their respective boats are in are better trim for racing than ever before. Each of them has been thoroughly overhauled and tuned up to proper sailing gear, and great hopes are entertained for their success by their respective skippers.

Down at Terminal Island, where the yachtsmen hold forth in numbers, there is a look of expectancy in every face, in anticipation of today's initial result. While there has been very little betting it is the general opinion among impartial experts that first honors in the regatta will be taken by Venus, Marie or Osborn. All of these are first-class racers, and their showing today will depend upon the work of their skippers and crews. There is also considerable speculation as to the winner of second place, as several new yachts have been added to the list since last season.

Unlike the regattas of last season, there will be three distinct classes in today's contest. The classification will be as follows: Class A, 30-foot size, Marie, Shark, Edna, Eagle and Helene; Class B, 25-foot size, Venus, Osborn and Katrina; Class C, 21-foot size, Ariel, Myth, Czarina, Frolic and Esperanza. The reason for this change is because several yacht owners objected to entering their craft with larger and smaller-sized boats, as in the races of last year, when there were but two classes—A and B. It is not thought, however, that this will in anywise detract interest from the present series, as all classes will be started at the same time.

The course will be ten miles in all, and triangular. A preparatory signal will be given promptly at 1:55 p.m., so as to enable the entire fleet to play for position. At 2 o'clock the starting gun will be fired from the judges' boat off Brighton Beach pier. The first leg will be a beat of two miles, around a stakeboat off Long Beach pier; thence a beat of five miles to windward and around a stakeboat off the government breakwater at San Pedro; thence, back to Brighton Beach, a distance of three miles.

Elaborate preparations are being made by Manager H. C. Fryman of the Brighton Beach Hotel to receive the yachtsmen after the regatta. An elegant banquet will be served to the members of the South Coast Club in the large dining hall of the hotel, after which the tables and chairs will be cleared away for a dance. It is anticipated that a large crowd will attend this function.

Every available craft at San Pedro and Long Beach will be in commission during the regatta this afternoon, as it is expected that many thousand people will visit the beaches for the purpose of witnessing the contest. A special regatta flyer will leave Los Angeles, via the Salt Lake route, at 1:15 p.m., and will reach the beaches in ample time for the race. Returning, the flyer will leave East San Pedro at 11 p.m., arriving in Los Angeles before midnight.

Herbert Pease, owner of the prize yacht Venus, has been elected commodore of the South Coast Club, vice Joseph Pugh, resigned. Mr. Pease will probably fly the commodore's flag from the Venus in today's race.

LOS ANGELES REALTY BOARD.

In response to a call signed by fifteen real estate firms, a meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of taking the preliminary steps toward an organization to be known as the Los Angeles Realty Board. Leonard Merrill was chosen temporary chairman and H. R. Callender temporary secretary. A constitution was adopted, which set forth as the principal objects of the organization the abatement of the present evils and annoyances connected with the real estate business, the promotion of goodfellowship and fair dealing, the promotion of legislation for the protection of property rights, and the protection of both members of the board and the public at large from irresponsible, unprincipled and dishonest dealers.

The following were elected a governing committee to draw up by-laws and conduct the organization in accordance with the provisions of the constitution: R. A. Rowan, John D. Foster, W. M. Garland, Byron Erkenbrecher, F. W. Flint, George M. Black, E. D. Silent, Paul Schenck and C. W. Conway. These gentlemen are all in hearty sympathy with the objects sought to be attained. They will meet within a few days and prepare for the first regular meeting of the new board, which will probably take the form of a mid-day luncheon, at which the officers of the organization will be elected. In the meantime a committee to be appointed by Chairman Merrill will draw up and file articles of incorporation.

POUNDED OLD MAN.

Ramon Rodrigues will pound rocks, instead of aged men, for six months. Justice Chambers sentenced him to that term yesterday for beating Edward McNerney, a rancher, early Tuesday morning in the crib district.

McNerney's face was strong evidence against some one—who proved to be the Mexican. One eye was swollen and purple; there was an ugly cut on his cheek, and another on the back of his head.

Officer Leon captured Rodrigues and he testified to the main facts, which were that Rodrigues attacked the rancher from behind. He fell to his knees and Rodrigues struck him several more blows in the face. The peon tried to rob his victim, but McNerney shouted for help; Leon arrested Rodrigues two hours after the assault, having found him with blood on his clothes. Irene Welch, a crib woman, saw the attack, and told the facts. When the Mexican received his sentence he blubbered like a schoolboy.

An indictment charging State Senator Frank H. Farris with bribery was returned by the St. Louis Grand Jury yesterday.

MINES AND MINING.

ANGEL CITY TO PULL FOR MINING CONGRESS.

PROSPECT THAT NEXT CONVENTION WILL MEET HERE.

More than Half of Necessary Amount Needed to Win Prize—Important Mining Sales Closed—New Shipping Rates for Tombstone Miners.

Los Angeles is in the fight for the 1904 session of the American Mining Congress, and she has more than a chance of winning that important convention of mining men.

At the first meeting, held yesterday, of the special committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to canvass the situation and ascertain the sentiment relative to inviting the congress to meet here, encouraging reports were received. There were present J. Ross Clark, chairman; Walter Trask, John Singleton and Daniel Murphy of the special committee; George W. Parsons, chairman of the Mining Committee, and Col. Thomas Ewing, vice-president of the American mining Congress.

In order to secure the congress it will be necessary to raise $6000, and of this amount it was reported that $3400 had been subscribed. Of the total required $2600 will be turned over to the officers of the congress and the balance will be placed at the disposal of the local committee to be used in securing halls and in other details connected with the meeting.

The proposition of inviting the congress was most heartily taken up by the committee, and every effort will be made to capture the prize. The meetings of the congress are the most important gatherings of mining men in this country and holding the congress in this city would establish the fact that this is a mining center, a fact that is recognized by those in touch with mining interests here, but not so well known to the outside world. It is estimated that between 7000 and 9000 delegates would attend.

Whether or not the congress will be invited is a matter to be decided by those interested in bringing it here. Before the invitation can be extended it will be necessary to have $5000 actually subscribed and that before September 5 as the next meeting of the congress, is convened at Deadwood, S. D., on that date. While it is not necessary to collect the money at the present time, the guarantee must be had. That funds may not be lacking, Chairman Clark appointed F. W. Braun, Col. Ewing and Daniel Murphy a special committee to secure the necessary subscriptions.

The fight for this city will be made in the name of the Southwest, which mining men regard as the greatest new mining district in the world. It embraces Southern California, Arizona, Western New Mexico and Southern Nevada.

It was the suggestion of Col. Ewing that a strong delegation of representative business men be sent from this city to the Deadwood meeting, and this matter will be taken up later.

The sale of the Old Boot mine, situated in Pima county, Ariz., was consummated fact, as the deal had already been paid for the property. Old Boot was owned and operated by the Silver Bell Mining Company, composed of L. Zeckendorf, Steinfeld and J. N. Curtis. The property consists of sixty claims, a sixty-ton smelters. The Silver Bell Mining Company is the purchaser, the price paid was $80,000 cash. It is the intention of the company to put 100 men at work here as soon as arrangements for commodation can be made.

Negotiations have also been completed for the sale of the Cumero mine situated forty miles from Guaymas, Sonora. The purchasers are the Nogales Copper Company, which is going to reports the price was $100,000.

This property is rated as one of the most promising low-grade properties of Sonora, and the claim is that the ore body is seventy feet in width and averages $8 to the ton in yellow metal. The purchasers intend to install a 100-stamp mill.

NEW SHIPPING SCHEDULE.

A new schedule of shipping rates has been adopted by the Atchison, Topeka & Southwestern Railway Company, governing the transportation of ores from the mines in the Tombstone district, Arizona, to the El Paso smelter. The rate that averages from $15 to $18 per ton, the rate of $3 has been adopted. On ores ranging from $50 to $100 per ton $3.50 is charged. The new rates apply to carload lots, and already a number of the operators are preparing to ship large quantities of ore.

IMPORTANT TIN FIND.

According to private advices received here, an important find of tin ore has been unearthed. The discovery was made by the Pittsburgh Gold Company, operating tin mines at Jalisco, in the State of Durango, Mexico. The president, from the reports, thinks the company has struck a bonanza. The find is of such importance that it will mean the talk of establishing a smelter for the reduction of tin ore in the city of Mexico.

LOWER CALIFORNIA MINES.

The Rothschilds have a large interest on their hands at their great Boleo copper mines at Santa Rosalia, Lower California, according to the San Francisco Herald. It appears that a few years ago, when rich placer finds were reported in the interior of the peninsula, a considerable number of Americans left to prospect. On finding that the company reduced wages, and that the mines and plant are having a hard time, Agents of the company were sent to the United States and tried to get men, but could not offer higher inducements than those in Mexico, and consequently they were unsuccessful. The company then sent agents in San Francisco to try and secure contracts with 1000 Chinese to work in the mines.

Christening a Ship.

Rear Admiral Bowles, Chief Constructor of the Navy, who was an interested spectator at the launching of the armored cruiser Colorado at Philadelphia, has made some interesting comments on the peculiarities of the methods employed in christening warships by the breaking of bottles of champagne over the prows. According to Admiral Bowles there are three ways of breaking a bottle on such occasions.

He describes one as the "Chinese" method, in which the bottle is thrown like a bat and hurled against the prow of the ship with a long, sweeping swing with energy enough to break it or a three-bagger at least. The second method is described as the "American" method, in which the bottle is swung by the neck against the prow with a full-arm swing. The admiral is quoted as saying that this method was used by the builders of the Colorado. The third method is described as the ping-pong style, a dainty little smash, delicious, however, to shower the spectators on the hull, and used by the fair operator also.

It is admitted that no one of these methods is perfect and the most desirable possible in each, through the nervousness or excitement of the christener, who, by a bad aim or lack of force, may fail to break the bottle at all, or in that way spoil the christening. A failure of that kind is considered disastrous to a ship, at least from a sentimental viewpoint, and old sailors say, would "hoodoo" that particular vessel. In one case a failure to properly delayed the launching of the ship got beyond her control, and she was rescued to the end by a well-directed throw, which broke the bottle and smash the bottle broadside on.

To avoid the possibility of accidents, Admiral Bowles suggests the use of a device attached to the bottle in such a way that when the ship is ready to be released the bottle is broken by striking against the prow of the ship with sufficient force to release the ship, and thus give the ship its name before it reaches its native element. A Monster Icehouse Abandoned.

The monster icehouse belonging to the Independent Ice Company on Put-in-Bay Island, at Put-in-Bay, has been practically abandoned. The building, largest icekeeper in the country, is 250 feet square, 100 feet high, and has a capacity of 50,000 tons. The cheapness in the manufacture of ice caused the abandonment of the large storehouse.

The large ice schooners which have been seen such long series on the lakes, carrying the ice carrying trade from Put-in-Bay to Cleveland are tied up at the docks of the company near the Put-in-Bay fish hatchery at the head of the island. At present there is less than a million tons of ice in the house.—[Toledo Blade.

Buys Residence.

Mrs. Frank A. Gibson has purchased of Randolph H. Miner, through Wright & Callender, a handsome ten-room two-story frame dwelling, with lot 60x120 feet, on the southwest corner of Hewitt and Twenty-third streets; consideration named, $8000.

Stole a Grindstone.

Fram Burch, who has been addicted to the use of morphine for so many years that he is a physical and mental wreck, was arrested yesterday on a charge of petty larceny. In order to secure funds with which to purchase a supply of the drug he stole a grindstone and was caught with it in his possession.

Institution of Rector.

The Rev. Lawrence B. Ridgely will be instituted to the rectorship of St. John's Church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock by Bishop Johnson. The Rev. B. W. R. Tayler will preach the sermon which will be his last before leaving for New York on Wednesday. In the evening confirmation will be administered.

June Weather.

Official weather data for the month of June in Los Angeles for the past twenty-five years shows a mean or normal temperature of 67 deg., with the average precipitation .19 of an inch. The warmest June was in 1883, with average temperature of 71 deg., and the coolest in 1894, with average of 63 deg. The average number of clear days was 10; partly cloudy, 17; cloudy, 3.

Killed Near Palmdale.

Coroner Trout and Deputy Coroner Summerfield left for Palmdale yesterday afternoon in response to a telephone message stating that Albert Schneckenberger, an engineer at an oil-well pumping plant, had been killed by being caught in the machinery. The man's body was crushed to a pulp in the shafting. The Coroner will return with the remains today.

Had no Funds in Bank.

W. H. Harrison, a bartender, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Henderson and Baker on a charge of uttering a bogus check. He is alleged to have induced Arthur Gore, a Market-street saloon-keeper, to cash a check for a small amount on the Security Savings Bank. When the check was presented there were no funds, and Gore swore to a complaint against Harrison.

Gospel Temperance Meeting.

Francis Murphy has arranged an attractive programme for his gospel temperance meeting in Blanchard Hall Sunday night. Rev. Aquilla Webb, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church; Rev. Barton B. Bigler of Wisconsin, and Rev. S. S. Gilson of Pittsburgh will speak. The Tennessee Quartette and the Teddy's Terror Quartette will sing. Mr. Murphy's address will be directly upon the subject of gospel temperance.

Bank Gossip.

Marco Hellman, son of Herman W. Hellman, who recently resigned from the office of vice-president and manager of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, is to have a place in the American National Bank. Although no definite arrangement has been made as yet, this means that the senior Hellman (H. W.) will ally himself in some way with the American National, which recently absorbed the Bank of Commerce.

Capt. Jadwin Relieved.

A dispatch received last night from Washington states that the War Department has ordered Maj. Joseph H. Willard, in charge of the river and harbor work at Chicago, to relieve Capt. Edgar Jadwin at Los Angeles, who is now stationed here in charge of the San Pedro Harbor work. Capt. Jadwin will be transferred to Galveston, Tex., relieving Capt. Charles S. Miche, who will relieve Maj. Willard at Chicago. Maj. Willard is already in Los Angeles, having come here on a leave of absence on account of delicate health.

Former Policeman's Success.

Ross Phillips, a former member of the police department is here from Toledo, O., renewing old acquaintances and taking a vacation after two years' hard work. He resigned from the police force for the purpose of placing on the market a new kind of pistol holster of which he is the inventor. He has made a success of his venture, and there is every prospect that his invention will bring him considerable wealth. He is at the head of a corporation which is manufacturing the holsters, and large shipments of them have been made to foreign countries. He will remain in Los Angeles several weeks.

Building for May.

The number of permits issued during the month just closed, by Julius W. Kruese, City Superintendent of Buildings, was 433. The improvements authorized aggregated $1,081,111. Among the permits issued was one for an addition to a nine-story building, $150,000; one for a five-story brick building, $100,000; four for three-story frame buildings, $56,750; sixty-eight for two-story frame buildings, $242,344; and 218 for single-story frame buildings, $170,000. In May, 1902, the number of permits was 373; the aggregate of improvements, $946,594. In May, 1901, the number was 181, and the improvements, $401,966.

I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Doan's drug store at Second and Spring streets. I received an improvement from taking this one box, and I followed it with two more. They gave me prompt and effective relief from backache and regulated the action of the kidneys. If the treatment had not brought me the results promised, nothing could induce me to recommend the remedy."

THE CECILIAN

"THE PERFECT PIANO PLAYER"

and the Busy Business Man

Part Three: Concluded

The Cecilian is not merely a mechanical attachment. Of course you can play immediately; but you can learn to play it better and better each month you use it.

The controlling devises are really marvelous; and the greatest enjoyment comes from your own advancing skill in phrasing the music, as the Cecilian alone gives you the power to do.

If you are a busy man who loves music without ever having had the time to learn to play the piano, we would like to show you the Cecilian; you can see the wonderful things that can be done with it.

The Cecilian sells for $250.00 cash, or in easy monthly payments. Geo. J. Birch Co., 345-347 South Spring street. Sole Cecilian agents for Southern California and Arizona.

LAD MAY GET THOSE PANTS.

Proposition Backed by the Chief Executive.

For Only Boy Who Interviewed the President Here.

Roosevelt's Recommendation for Young Niles Folsom of St. Vincent's.

The President of the United States thinks that Niles Folsom, a fourteen-year-old Santa Monica and Los Angeles boy, ought to have long trousers. The boy thinks that this is about the most sensible proclamation ever issued by a Chief Executive of this great and free republic, and he is trying to persuade his mother to view the matter in the same light and act accordingly.

Niles Folsom is the son of Mrs. M. B. Folsom of Santa Monica. His father, who was a cousin of Mrs. Grover Cleveland, is dead. Niles is a student of St. Vincent's College, this city, having won a scholarship in that excellent institution by hard work in The Times' scholarship contest last year. He carries the honor of being the only boy who gained a personal interview with President Roosevelt when the Chief Executive visited Los Angeles during Fiesta week. It was in the course of this audience that the head of the nation issued his edict in favor of "long pants" for Niles. Today there are only two clouds on the otherwise serene and fleckless sky that high in the heavens limns Niles Folsom's boyhood: To wit, that "socks" are still strangers to his feet and that he won't be old enough to vote for the reelection of Theodore Roosevelt in 1904.

Before Niles Folsom entered St. Vincent's Academy, in this city, he was a pupil in the Academy of Holy Names in Santa Monica. The Sister Superior of the latter institution is Sister Matilda, and no one within the Los Angeles vicinage was more interested than she in the coming of President Roosevelt to the metropolis of Southern California. In 1898, when volunteers were being hurried toward Cuba from all parts of the United States, Sister Matilda was among the picked nurses sent to Tampa by the Roman Catholic Church. In the fever-infested Tampa camps Sister Matilda did great work for God and man, especially for man; and there it was that she met and became acquainted with Col. "Teddy" Roosevelt, commanding the immortal Rough Riders.

Now it happens that the present President of the United States is strongly imbued with that certain human trait which keeps a man from forgetting a friend; so when Sister Matilda knew that "Teddy" was coming to town she took pen and ink and wrote a note for his eyes.

"Teddy" came all right, but how make certain the delivery of the note? Sister Matilda, sunk in gentle meditation, bethought herself of her former pupil, and duly unto the hand of Niles Folsom, aged 14, came her missive for personal delivery to the President.

So Niles, looking exactly as you see him in the picture, hied him manfully to the Westminster Hotel at noon of Friday, May 5, struggled through the mighty crowds—Sister Matilda's precious note buttoned beneath his tight-fitting coat—and braved the stern-faced brass-buttons who guarded the hotel doors.

It was the law of the Medes and Persians that none should enter the Westminster unless provided with a guest's card of admittance. Sundry citizens can testify to the sweaty futility of trying to evade this law. Niles Folsom had no card. He was only a boy, and nobody knew him. But shucks! Was the envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Her Ladyship, the Sister Matilda, to be turned down by a paltry policeman? Not with Niles, son of the Widow Folsom!

It took him nigh an hour to "work it," but he got there.

Niles found President Roosevelt in one of the hotel parlors, walked straight up to the great man, introduced himself—without deigning to notice the secret service men who stood about—and presented Sister Matilda's message.

"I'm mighty glad to see you," said the President. "How old are you?"

"Fourteen, going on fifteen, sir," said Niles.

"Ah," said the President. "Did you have much trouble getting to see me?"

"Why—now—yes, sir," said Niles, his boy's soul quivering under the decency of it all and the lad's tongue struggling against the magnificent importance of things.

"Ah," said the President. "You are fourteen, and a pretty big boy for your years. How would you like to wear long trousers?"

"Oh—why—yes, sir, you bet—Excuse me, Mr. Roosevelt—I mean President Roosevelt. I—I think that would be—great!"

"So do I," said the President heartily. "So do I! And now, I'd like to stop and visit with you, but some of these gentlemen here want me to talk with them, and I guess that's what I'm going to do. But, lad, do me the honor of presenting my compliments to your mother, and you may say to her for me that with her permission I'll back you up on the long-trouser scheme. Goodby, and thank you very much for calling on me."

"He gave my hand a great big squeeze," says Niles, "and jimminy, but he's got a dandy set of teeth!"

REVEREND PETERSON SHOCKS PRESBYTERIANS.

HE WONDERS IF ELDERS ARE SLY TIPPLERS.

Temperance Meeting at Immanuel Church Well Attended, and Numerous Speakers Decry Iniquity.—Praise for Dr. Walker.

Temperance was the subject before a mass meeting held in Immanuel Church last night. Although the audience was only of fair size considerable enthusiasm was manifested, and the statistics of the liquor traffic were thoroughly presented.

Presiding was Rev. Thomas Dickson, and the first speaker called upon was Mrs. Emma Cash, president of the W. C.T.U. in Southern California. Mrs. Cash told the visitors about the work of temperance agitators in this locality, speaking of the various evils, directly and indirectly due to intemperance, which are found here, and concluded with a splendid tribute to Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker. Said she: "If every Presbyterian preacher was as enthusiastic in pursuing and overthrowing the saloon as the pastor of this church, I am sure the liquor traffic all over the country would suffer a serious blow. Dr. Walker is known throughout California as a man who really practices what he preaches—a man who never makes a compromise with sin." Hearty applause followed the mention of this favorite clergyman's name.

Mrs. Hester T. Griffith, president of the City Federation of the W.C.T.U., then spoke very briefly. She was followed by Rev. H. L. Peterson (colored) of Aberdeen, Miss.

Rev. Peterson did not make a very lively start, but he warmed up to his subject in splendid style when he was fairly "going." He showed good judgment in steering clear of the usual temperance platitudes, and referred to some of the President's recent remarks about our need of a sufficient navy, and also on public education. "The greatest navy in the world," said Rev. Peterson, "might be built with the money spent yearly for alcohol. Or, with this amount, we might have the greatest system of education, with governmental teaching embracing all grades, from the bottom to the top."

Rev. Peterson also attacked the dispensary law, and won the hearty plaudits of the audience on the point scored here. Referring to the appropriation of the assembly—only $2150.07—he said: "In prosperous times like these it is evident that Presbyterians do not comprehend at all the crying evils of intemperance, or—shall I say it—Presbyterian elders are themselves sly lovers of the cup!" Whereat a subdued sensation down in the pews.

Rev. L. A. Jamison of Duluth then talked for a few minutes upon the topic of the evening. He said, prefacing his remarks: "We spend annually for chewing gum, $20,000,000; $200,000,000 for jewelry, and for liquor, $1,000,000,000! For liquor we spend enough to amply run and endow all the colleges, academies and public schools in the land, to pay the expenses of 35,000 churches, and also to pay the entire yearly cost of the United States government. Bearing these figures in mind, let us pity the men who always pray in one direction and vote in the other!"

Mrs. Charlton Edholm gave a ten-minute talk upon the "Traffic in Girls," She was followed by a number from the Synodical Quartette, which was heartily encored.

Rev. Edwin R. Worrel spoke at length on the scientific phases of alcohol, and its uses and abuse, saying that which is now an accepted medical fact, that even moderate use by a man in health is injurious. Rev. Worrell added, however, that he believed alcohol had a medical use, as have many other poisons, and that people denying this were certainly fanatics.

Lucy Laney was called upon, and came to the platform in a storm of applause, which lasted some minutes. On account of the lateness of the hour she refrained from making any extended talk, beyond telling of the temperance movement in the negro schools of the South.

The Annual Terror.

Rivers: Surely you don't expect to get a flat in a good part of town for $15 a month!

Brooks: No, but I've told my wife that's all we can afford to pay—so that if she finds one for $30 a month she'll think it's about high enough.—[Chicago Tribune.

OUR SOLDIER DEAD.

Blow, bugles, blow, soft and sweet and low,
Sing a good-night song for them who bravely faced the foe;
Sing a song of truce to pain,
Where they sleep nor wake again.
'Neath the sunshine and the rain—
Blow, bugles, blow!

Wave, banners, wave, about each hero's grave,
Fold them, O thou stainless flag that they died to save.
All thy stars with glory bright,
Bore they on through Treason's night,
Through the darkness, to the light—
Wave, banners, wave!

Fall, blossoms, fall, over one and all,
They who heard their country's cry and answered to the call;
'Mid the shock of shot and shell,
Where they bled and where they fell,
They who fought so long and well—
Fall, blossoms, fall!

Sigh, breezes, sigh, so gently wand'ring by;
Bend above them tenderly, blue of summer sky;
All their weary marches done,
All their battles fought and won,
Friend and lover, sire and son—
Sigh, breezes, sigh!

MEMORIAL DAY'S ORDER OF EVENTS.

PREPARATION for today's memorial events will begin at 8 a.m., when the G.A.R. posts of Los Angeles will gather at their respective halls prior to proceeding to the different cemeteries by electric car. Stanton Post will have charge of the exercises at Rosedale Cemetery, Bartlett-Logan Post at Evergreen Cemetery, and detachments from Kenesaw Post will officiate at the other cemeteries of the city. The customary firing squads will be furnished by the Sons of Veterans.

At 1:30 o'clock p.m. the veterans and members of the W.R.C. will gather at Central Park, marching thence to Simpson Auditorium, where patriotic exercises are to be held at 2 o'clock. The programme there will be as follows:

Organ voluntary, F. H. Colby; assembly call, Bugler O. T. Thomas; call to order, Marshal T. P. Lyons; divine invocation, Chaplain J. N. Liscomb; music; introductory remarks, President H. H. Bartlett; vocal solo, C. A. Bowes; reading, Lincoln's Gettysburg address, C. M. Fairbanks; address, Gen. R. M. Adams, D.D., of Minneapolis; music; address on behalf of Sons of Veterans, Judge Curtis D. Wilbur; music, Drum Corps; "Star Spangled Banner," J. B. Paulin; address, Rev. D. J. McMillan of New York Presbyterian Church; reminiscences of the war, Organist F. H. Colby; address, Rev. Dr. W. Page of Leavenworth, Kan.; music, "America;" benediction; taps.

On entering the auditorium, Kenesaw Post will lead, followed by Stanton Post, Bartlett-Logan Post and the Woman's Relief Corps, with T. P. Lyons grand marshal, assisted by E. M. Edgerton, F. M. Stein and F. M. Ambrose.

The First Methodist Choir will furnish the music at the auditorium.

At Ocean Park the exercises attendant upon strewing flowers upon the waves in honor of the unknown naval dead will begin at 2 p.m., at the pleasure pier. The Naval Squadron of the Soldiers' Home will be in charge.

At Long Beach the strewing of the waves with flowers will take place at 9:30 a.m., the services to be conducted by the Sons of Veterans, G.A.R., and school-children of that city. At the Pavilion, Mrs. Mary E. Hartwell will speak on behalf of the Woman's Relief Corps, Dr. L. A. Pierce on behalf of the Sons of Veterans, and Judge J. C. Parish for the G.A.R.

At 2 p.m. the graves of veterans in the Long Beach Cemetery will be decorated, and the school-children will place garlands upon a monument to the unknown dead.

Some Men's Vanities.

"Why does a man always run his hand through his hair when he takes his hat off?" asked an observant man. "Did you ever notice that a man will invariably do this very thing? Is it just a nervous habit? Is it vanity? It is an old habit, I have never known a man who did not indulge this habit. Even men who have no hair to run their fingers through, men whose heads are as bald as billiard balls, will brush their hands over their heads when they lift their hats. If the men simply wanted to smooth their tousled hair, of course, this would afford ample explanation of the habit. But why should a man who has no hair on his head do the same thing? It is not a sufficient answer to say that such a man may have had a full suit of hair at one time, and that it is simply a matter of habit contracted under different conditions. As a rule men are unconscious of the fact. They do not know why, how or when they run their hands over their heads. But they all do it just the same. Go into a courtroom, or at any place where men congregate, and where it is necessary for them to remove their hats, and watch them. You will observe that every man will go through the same performance. It seems to be a perfectly natural thing for them to do. My own conclusion is that it is an evidence of vanity. A man wants his hair to be just so. Originally, probably it was simply a matter of tidiness. But it has grown into an act of vanity. The lawyer, for instance, if he has enough hair for the purpose, will want his head to have a tousled appearance. It gives him a studious appearance, and leaves the impression that he has been struggling with the books. Whatever the reason the habit is a curious one, and one which seems to be deep-rooted in the masculine nature."—[New Orleans Times-Democrat.

One Woman's Views.

"I suppose you turned me down because of my poverty," said the impecunious youth who had just been handed the frosty mitt; "but you should remember that it is possible to have plenty of money and still be unhappy."

"True," replied she of the refrigerator mien, "but I would rather be unhappy with money than without it."—[Chicago News.

SON HOOKED MA'S PIANO.

Sold the Instrument While She Was at Theater.

Mother Brings Replevin Suit to Get Back Her Property.

Buyer Anxious to Prosecute the Young Trickster, Who is a Fugitive.

Mrs. Anna Lynn brought suit in the Superior Court yesterday to recover a Weber piano, now in the possession of E. H. Reich. She alleges that the piano is hers, and Reich, who is a member of the firm of Reich Bros., hatters, admits this; but he says that before he relinquishes the Weber wants back the money—$175—which he paid for it.

Mrs. Lynn says that she will not pay because the piano was stolen from her by a thief for whose acts she will not be responsible. Both sides have retained lawyers, and the contest promises to be a lively one.

As matter of law, Mrs. Lynn seems to have the best of the argument, though the thief is her son, Floyd, a young man of 18.

Back of this suit is an interesting story—a tale of gallantry, wherein the devil of politeness entered into the young man.

This unwanted courtesy of her son was very pleasing to Mrs. Lynn one day last week when it permitted her to go to the matinee on a ticket, which his generosity had provided.

When it came time for the next matinee, Mrs. Lynn was positively shocked by Floyd's wonderful consideration for her enjoyment. There was another ticket!

But the motive of the startling thoughtfulness he displayed was revealed after the second matinee.

While Mrs. Lynn was at the play her $400 Weber piano disappeared; also Floyd.

The two facts seemed to be correlative; and they were.

Floyd, the gallant, whose Chesterfieldian scheme caused the complicated state of affairs, is at present a fugitive from wrath.

He was a clerk formerly employed by J. J. Foster, grocer; but must have been dissatisfied with his wages. He conceived the plan to get rich at his mother's expense, and the executing was not the least skillful part of the theft.

One day last week he inserted the following advertisement in the columns of The Times:

"For sale—Weber piano, cost $400; a big sacrifice. Address box 23, Times office."

On the day that the advertisement appeared, Mr. Reich answered it. He received a communication from young Lynn asking him to go out to the house on West Ninth street and look at the instrument. Mr. Reich did so and was highly pleased with the tone of the Weber. He didn't know much about pianos, then, but liked the way it acted. He talked about the price, title, etc., and thought it was a bargain.

On that afternoon Mrs. Lynn was at the matinee.

Floyd told Mr. Reich that the piano would be at the auction store of Rhodes & Reed three days later and that he could look at it there and have it examined.

On the day set there was also to be a matinee performance.

On that day the piano was carted to the auction rooms; Floyd was there, and Mr. Reich was there. Mrs. Lynn was at the matinee. Reich went prepared to buy, but he had Prof. Angelotti with him to tell him whether the piano was worth the money.

The professor dashed off a few melodies in an indifferent, professional way; then warmed up and gave the instrument the thunder test. He wanted to know of Reich what Lynn was going to charge him for the piano. It was only $175.

"That's a snap," said the professor, or something similar.

So Reich paid over the money and had the piano hauled out to his home at No. 623 Bichel street, East Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lynn traced the instrument to the auction rooms with little trouble, and learned what had become of it; hence the suit.

As has been stated, Reich offered to let Mrs. Lynn have back the piano for the sum he paid. In refusing to agree to this and in the institution of the replevin suit, Mrs. Lynn has taken the ground that the piano was stolen, and, therefore, by her course, has branded her son a thief. It was pointed out to her by Reich that this would result, but she was obdurate.

All that a mother could bear from a son she has borne, it is said. Now she is taking an independent course, regardless of the consequences to her son. She says that he has been persistently bad and that the theft of the piano was the last straw. She says that she has washed her hands of the young man.

Young Lynn will be prosecuted if he can be located.

Off for a Trip.

The big automobile stood in front of the house.

"Just going for a little pleasure spin," the owner explained to his wife, who was watching from the steps.

"You'll be back to dinner?" she said inquiringly.

"Oh, yes," he answered earnestly.

"You're sure that you've made all the necessary arrangements to get back on time?" she persisted.

"Why, certainly. I know this automobile like a book now, and it's no trick at all to tell just how far I can go in a given time. Why, I can even estimate to a minute the delays necessary to tighten bolts, loosen screws and all that." Then, to make doubly sure, he turned to the chauffeur. "Everything all right, isn't it?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

"The battery is fully charged, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Machinery oiled?"

"Yes, sir."

"Tires practically new, aren't they?"

"Yes, sir."

"You see," he said, turning to his wife, "it's all right."

"How about the fines?"

"By George! I did overlook something!" he exclaimed in answer to her question. Then to the rest of the party, "Gentlemen, we'll have to take a slow run to the bank first so that I can provide myself with the money necessary to pay the usual fines, or we may not get back until breakfast time."—[Brooklyn Eagle.

ASSEMBLY DISSOLVED, VAN DYKE CRITICISED.

Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke said last night, as he sat surrounded by a group of friends in the Westminster: "You may print in The Times that I say what the assembly now needs is a resolution against pie and doughnuts, which make men foolish. Some men get in the assembly without their nurses and we need an automatic fool-killer."

THE attack on the use of tobacco yesterday made fire and smoke as no other subject previously introduced into the Presbyterian General Assembly. It was the first time in the history of the assembly that such action has been proposed. As about half the assembly smokes, and as many members chew, the resolution at once called out division. The anti-tobacco men applauded and feeling was intense. The old smokers rallied when Rev. Dr. James W. Rogan of New Jersey took the platform amidst much excitement and moved to strike out the reference to the use of tobacco. Attempts were made to choke him off, but he held the floor with determination, and proposed his amendment. Dr. Rogan said he had never smoked in his life, and spoke as a friend of temperance. There were noisy calls of "No," against Dr. Rogan's amendment.

"I am not disturbed," said Dr. Rogan, by the cry of 'No.' It is extraneous," said Dr. Rogan, "and will imperil the other action and injure the cause when we put liquor and tobacco together. I never used tobacco in my life, but I am sure the proposed action will do great harm." Dr. Rogan was applauded. After a very long and exceedingly hot debate on tobacco, in which Rev. Dr. David S. Schaff of Cincinnati declared he was pained to see such reflection made on the fathers of the church, on John Knox and John Calvin, the resolution against tobacco was carried, and the whole report was adopted. The old smokers, however, are not disturbed, as they all know that the most advanced power of the assembly, as defined in the form of government, is merely "to recommend and attempt the reformation of manners."

Rev. Dr. E. R. Warrell of Butler, Pa., held that "intemperance is increasing in this country, and back of it is an organized phalanx of breweries and saloon-keepers which intimidate Congress, legislatures, courts, churches and ministers, and there is apathy among Christian people, and the newspapers freely advertise brands of whisky. Science declares the total abstinence principle and there is no answer to the position that the church and church papers ought to take. [Applause.] If ministers, some of them, would get out of the way, and agree to give the people a chance to give to the temperance cause we will get $10,000."

DR. VAN DYKE CRITICISED.

Rev. Dr. James D. Mason of New Jersey expressed his abhorrence of tobacco. He caused an intense sensation as he declared that Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke had stepped out of the door of the church the other day and lighted his cigar. "It was not respectful to the General Assembly," said Dr. Mason, "and I am sorry he would do so."

Rev. A. S. Clark, colored minister of Cordell, Ga., held that "the liquor business is the greatest curse of this country today, to both white and black, and no man can claim to be him in Christianity who supports the infamous business. You cannot get gospel or anything else into a man who is filled up with whisky," said Mr. Clark. "I have seen a little boy only 3 years old puffing a cigar, and gentlemen, can we afford such things as that?" [Cries of No! No!]

Elder G. D. Kanouse of California, an old soldier, said when he left the army he enlisted for life in the temperance army, "and I have a reasonable prospect of serving out my time," said Mr. Kanouse. He wanted "total abstinence for the individual and prohibition for the State."

It was elder Ferris of Missouri, chairman of the Temperance Committee, who then read the resolution seriatim.

The disturbance started when the report on temperance was under discussion, which always causes intense feeling in the assembly. The report of the commissioners committee was lengthy, earnest and eloquent temperance document, and roasted the saloon business.

There was great lamentation over the vast number of saloons in the country, and a strong appeal was made to the assembly to work for their abolition. The work of the assembly permanent committee, located in Pittsburgh, was commended, but regret was expressed that it had received only about $2000 from the churches last year. There was rejoicing that liquor was no longer sold in the national Capitol, and that the army canteen had been abolished. An earnest resolution was presented against the United States government granting licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquor in States where prohibition exists. Absolute abstinence was urged, and the use of tobacco was denounced, which is the first time such action has been proposed. It was recommended to raise $10,000 for the cause next year, and to memorialize Congress to pass the Hepburn bill. All were asked to avoid all complicity with the liquor business in any form.

The resolution against government licenses to sell liquor in prohibition States and districts was carried unanimously.

James Yereance was warm over the multiplicity of special committees. He said that the treasury was cleaned out, and opposed granting $1000 to help the Temperance Committee, and the moderator ruled that the assembly money cannot be used for such a purpose. Mr. Ferris was told to go home and send $5 from his church to the committee.

Rev. Dr. Banks Nelson, one Irishman, said he belonged to a golf club which has a sideboard. "And must I give it up?" he said, when he was silenced by cries of "No." Dr. Roberts announced that the assembly could adjourn, as foretold in The Times, in the afternoon, "making it the shortest General Assembly in fifty years, even if held on the Pacific Coast," said Dr. Roberts amidst long continued applause.

BLOW FOR UNION SEMINARY.

Union Theological Seminary came unexpectedly to the front yesterday and received a body blow, below the belt. The Theological Seminary Committee had a resolution adopted, instructing Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts, "stated clerk of the assembly to include in the minutes reference only to such seminaries as report to the General Assembly." This skillfully worded declaration was not understood by the bulk of the commissioners, but they would have voted for it as they did, had they known its import. Ever since the Brigg's trouble the assembly minutes have referred to Union Seminary with the statement of "no report," as if it were to be regarded as one of the seminaries of the church, but as a seminary in rebellion. The action of yesterday cuts off Union until she repents.

Rev. Dr. Peyton Hoge read a long report on the Theological Seminaries, showing the condition and prospects of each one. The report had no special features, being purely of a routine character, suitable for publication in the General Assembly minutes. Dr. Hoge made an address giving an interesting sketch of his ancestors, who figured so prominently in the early history of the church. He spoke of the organic union existing between the northern and southern Presbyterian churches in Danville Theological Seminary. Several speakers followed with routine addresses.

The hit of the day was made by the Rev. Dr. Matthew Brown Riddle of Pittsburgh, the famous scholar of the church. Unique in personality, he made a quaint address. He said: "One trouble with many students in the theological seminaries is they do not know enough Greek to get grace out of it. I have worked thirty-two years to put Greek into the New Testament and if you do not get it out it is not my fault."

Rev. Dr. William L. Robinson of Chicago, who nominated Prof. Zenos for moderator, and who spoke at the banquet, made his third address on theological seminaries, and wanted "a Professorship of Christian Sociology which would keep many a raw, green preacher from saying things on capital and labor which get him into trouble and lead to his resignation."

SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

Rev. Henry Lee, pastor of the Seaman's chapel in Philadelphia, addressed the assembly with great earnestness in the interest of the work among the seamen and asked for a special committee on the subject; but the chairman of the Committee on Home Missions said, "We have too many special committees already and better call a halt." Mr. Lee insisted on his committee and the assembly did not break its record, creating the tenth special committee, amid considerable grumbling.

The "Cochran resolution" to appoint a committee to draft an overture to make it possible to elect a ruling elder moderator of the assembly, was knocked out by the committee on the polity of the church. The Philadelphia men have been working for some way to open the way to elevate Dr. John H. Converse, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, to the moderator's chair, but yesterday's action sent them under cover in discouragement.

The assembly asked the Secretary of the Interior to at once build a reservoir on the Gila River for the benefit of the Pima and Papagoe Indians.

The "Smoot case" received the treatment forecasted in The Times of yesterday, in the unanimous adoption of the action therein published. The action declared "Reed Smoot is a reproach and disgrace to the American Senate and should be immediately expelled therefrom, and the Senate is called upon to use all resources to accomplish this." There was great applause and the action was unanimously adopted.

The Cumberland Presbyterian General Assembly, and the Provincial Synod of the northern section of the Moravian Church telegraphed greetings.

The announcement by Rev. Dr. Roberts that the assembly could adjourn in the afternoon was received with boisterous applause, and not because the commissioners are tired of Los Angeles, but because they are impatient to begin touring. Many of them express their purpose to remain in Los Angeles for some time.

AFTERNOON SESSION BROUGHT CLOSING WORDS.

COMMITTEES AND COMMISSIONERS EXCHANGE COMPLIMENTS.

Largest Assembly Ever Held, and the Shortest in a Dozen Years—Proceedings of the Last Session—Important Special Committees Announced by Moderator.

The throngs that have attended the sessions of the Presbyterian General Assembly stayed with it to the end. When final adjournment was taken at 5 o'clock yesterday, nearly every commissioner was in his place, the gallery was filled ,and it is likely many people were there for the closing events when they did not expect to be.

So expeditiously was the business rushed through, however, that dissolution was in sight from the noon adjournment, the forenoon session having been extended fifteen minutes in order to dispose of the report of the Temperance Committee without running it into the afternoon. To Moderator Coyle is due no little credit for this result, for he has been no temporizer with unnecessary talk, and yet he was in no sense rude or discourteous. He has a way of turning a fellow down and putting the question without hearing him, that did not give offense. Being of large frame, strong voice and positive in personality he was well equipped for the job.

The General Assembly that has just been dissolved will go into the history of the church as remarkable in several respects.

It was composed of the greatest number of commissioners that ever came together in an assembly of the Presbyterian church.

It was the shortest session held within the past twelve years, and yet according to the stated clerk, disposed of more business than any session within that period.

It will go into history, however, more particularly as the assembly at which the long-debated and disturbing question of creed-revision was put on record as an established fact, backed by the almost unanimous verdict of the presbyteries of America.

It might be set down as the assembly that has cost the most money in the whole history of the church, but while Stated Clerk Roberts was the principal force to oppose its coming to Los Angeles, he has been the most cordial in commending the results, and declared that it was worth ten times its cost.

THE CLOSING SCENES.

The local Entertainment Committee first brought down the house by announcing from the platform, when it was seen that the end had been reached, that the committee would cheerfully agree to pay the expenses of all commissioners who would remain over till Monday, even if the assembly did adjourn. This was received with great applause and laughter, and when Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker the popular pastor of Immanuel Church, and chairman of the local Executive Committee, stepped to the platform, he received an ovation at the hands of the entire house.

"I am very sure," said Dr. Walker, "that if a vote of thanks were possible from the people of Los Angeles and particularly from the Presbyterians of Los Angeles, it would be to the General Assembly for the benefits it has conferred upon us. We expected great things and our expectations have been more than realized. Our only regret is that we have been able to do so little for you; if we had known we could do so we would have arranged the Mt. Lowe excursion for Saturday; it was part of our plan when we decided to present the Mt. Lowe tickets that we should have a meeting of the assembly on the mountain top."

Dr. Walker paid his choicest compliments to the commissioners and testified to the good he felt must accrue to Presbyterianism and to all the people of the Coast as a result of their visit. He said with much feeling that one of the results had been the accomplishing of their hearts desire in furthering the interests of Occidental College. He stated that on the day the ground-breaking ceremonies were held at the college, the gifts, including the ground at a fair valuation, amount to $175,000, and he felt that this result was largely due to the inspiration caused by the coming of the General Assembly.

Dr. S. S. Salisbury, chairman, and J. H. Hurin, secretary of the Entertainment Committee, were called for and expressed their thanks for the universal courtesy of their guests. Said Mr. Hurin: "It has been a great deal of hard work, but we would all be glad to do it over again."

MODERATOR'S RESPONSE.

Dr. Coyle first paid his heartiest respects to the people of California, who, he said, were so universally kind and big-hearted, and could—be no other way, and spoke in most complimentary terms of the treatment accorded the assembly by the people of Los Angeles. As to the assembly he said: "It began on a tide of evangelism and is to close on a tide of evangelism. It was notable for good fellowship and brotherly love; there was no acrimonious debate and no words with a sting in them. Now as we go back to our homes I'm sure we will have precious memories of the golden coast and of the consecrated people we have found here."

ASSEMBLY DISSOLVED.

The moderator called for a motion that the assembly be now dissolved, and it was made by many voices. He then made the official announcement, as follows:

"By virtue of the authority delegated to me by the church, let this assembly be dissolved, and I do so declare, and call another to convene at Lafayette Presbyterian Church, in the city of Buffalo, N. Y., on the third Thursday of May, 1904."

The assembly arose and sang "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and with prayer by the moderator, the assembly was officially dead.

LAST SESSION.

CLEANING UP THE BUSINESS.

Immediately upon the afternoon session being called to order, the committee appointed by the assembly of 1902 to nominate delegates to the Alliance of the Reformed Churches throughout the world, to meet in Liverpool, Eng., June 21-30, 1904, made the following report, which was adopted:

"Your committee has selected the following delegates to the Presbyterian Alliance at Liverpool: General, the moderator, Rev. Dr. Robert F. Coyle; alternate, Rev. George Alexander; the stated clerk, Rev. William Henry Roberts; the permanent clerk, Rev. William B. Noble; Rev. Henry Collin Minton, with the Rev. David R. Kerr, Rev. James D. Moffat, Ralph E. Prime, William M. Lanning and F. K. Hipple.

Atlantic and Catawba, Rev. D. J. Sanders; alternate, Rev. William R. Coles; Baltimore, Rev. Donald Guthrie, John C. Watson; alternates, Rev. Asa S. Fiske, John P. Ammidon; California, Rev. Hugh K. Walker; alternate, Rev. Frank S. Brush; Colorado, Rev. Thomas C. Kirkwood; alternate, Rev. James M. Wilson; Illinois, Rev. L. Benson Hobson, Rev. C. T. Edwards, Charles S. Holt; alternates, Rev. John H. Boyd, Rev. Thomas D. Logan, E. A. Halsey; Indiana, Rev. D. W. Fisher, Hugh H. Hanna; alternates, Rev. Charles Little, Judge Walker; Indian Territory and Texas, Rev. Arthur Grant Evans; alternate, Rev. H. S. Little: Iowa, Rev. S. B. McCormick, Hon. William Grahm; alternates Rev. F. Hiatt, T. D. Foster; Kansas, Rev. John C. Miller; alternate, Rev. Charles E. Bradt; Kentucky and Tennessee, E. W. C. Humphrey; alternate, Rev. Francis L. Goff; Michigan, Elisha A. Fraser; alternate, Rev. W. B. Jennings; Minnesota, Rev. Robert N. Adams, Daniel R. Noyes; alternates, Rev. Thomas H. Cleland, William B. Dean; Missouri, Rev. William Carter, alternate, Thomas J. Stevenson; Nebraska, John C. Wharton; alternate, Rev. M. B. Lowrie; New Jersey, Rev. F. L. Patton, Rev. Eben B. Cobb, F. Wolcott Jackson; alternates, Rev. John De Witt, Rev. John F. Patterson, Fred H. Andrews; New York, Rev. George R. Stewart, Rev. Wilton Merle Smith, Rev. Henry Ward, H. B. Sullivan, John E. Parsons, A. Noel Blakeman, George A. Chamberlin, alternates, Rev. W. R. Taylor, Rev. David Gregg, Rev. Rice V. Hunter, Henry Aird, John Sinclair, H. Edwards Rossland, Albert R. Ledoux; North and South Dakota, Rev. E. W. Day; alternate, Rev. C. H. French; Ohio, Rev. Henry M. Curtis, Rev. S. S. Palmer, Louis H. Severance; alternates, Rev. William McKibbin, Rev. M. E. Wilson, John A. Seaton; Oregon, Rev. Warren H. Landon; alternate, Rev. Edgar P. Hill; Pennsylvania, Rev. M. A. Brownson, Rev. W. L. McEwan, Rev. James McLeod, John H. Converse, John A. McIlvaine, Robert Pitcairn, James I. Buchanan; alternates, Rev. W. Hamilton Miller, Rev. H. T. McClelland, Rev. J. Ritchie Smith, George Griffiths, E. O. Emerson, Paul H. Gaither, Thomas H. Atherton; Washington and Utah, Rev. William M. Paden; alternate, Rev. A. H. Barnhisel; Wisconsin, E. O. Hand; alternate, James E. Moseley.

Dr. Page, from the Committee on Bills and Overtures, made the final report of the committee, submitting some unimportant overtures that came to them after the limit had expired, as fixed by the rules of the assembly. They were read, but no recommendation made for their adoption.

WARM OLD DOCTOR.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Chapman, the cyclonic superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in Southern California, was granted the courtesy of the platform, to talk temperance for ten minutes. Dr. Chapman made one of his characteristic fiery talks, and at its close, received the compliment of a vote of sympathy and confidence from the assembly.

The roll of synods was called, and the report of each approved, with the exception of four—Baltimore, Macawber and Montana—which presented no reports.

WHAT IT COST.

James Yereance, chairman of the Committee on Mileage, made the following report at the afternoon session:

Receipts—From mileage fund, $29,-881.93; entertainment fund, $14,688.97; contingent fund, $15,432.25; surplus fund, $29,037.36; total, $89,088.11. Disbursements for mileage of assembly to Los Angeles, $72,655.84. Balance in contingent fund for publishing of minutes and paying other expenses of the clerk, $15,432.25. Commissioners in the assembly, 680; presbyteries represented, 229; unrepresented, 9.

The Presbytery of Bellefontaine was reported as not having contributed to the mileage fund, and the presbyteries of Bellefontaine and Clarion as not having contributed to the entertainment fund.

By vote of the assembly, the apportionment for next year's assembly expenses was fixed at 6 cents.

The Committee on Narrative presented its report, showing a general advance in spirituality and numbers.

The Committee on Necrology reported 137 deaths in the United States during the year. After the list had been read, the assembly stood and sang, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and a prayer was made by Rev. Dr. Clement E. Babb of San José, the oldest ministerial commissioner on the floor.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES NAMED.

The moderator, toward the close of the session named the special committees called for by the action of the assembly. The first of these was the College Commission, which is charged with the task of providing ways and means for raising an endowment of $12,000,000 for Presbyterian colleges. It is acknowledged to be the most important commission that has been appointed in a quarter of a century, and much interest was manifested in its personnel. It is as follows: Rev. Dr. R. F. Coyle, moderator; Rev. W. N. Page, vice-moderator; Rev. Dr. John E. Bushnell, Chicago; Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker, Los Angeles; Rev. Dr. W. Merle Smith, New York; Rev. Dr. Fred B. Richards; Rev. Dr. Samuel Black McCormick, president of Coe College; Rev. Dr. A. F. Bruske, president of Alma College. Elders: Benjamin Thaw, Pittsburgh; John H. Converse, Philadelphia; L. H. Severance, Cleveland; Stanley McCormick, Chicago; M. K. Jessup, New York; W. M. Ladd, Portland; George D. Gray, Oakland.

Committee on Presbyteries of Colored Ministers: Rev. Dr. S. J. Nichols, Rev. E. A. Elmore, Rev. Dr. Frank O. Ballard, Rev. C. H. Uggams. Elders: L. P. Parry, Brice A. Miller, William McAllister.

Lanning, New Jersey; Judge Daniel R. Noyes, Detroit; Judge Ell Torrance, Minneapolis, last national commander of the G.A.R.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Rev. Dr. W. N. Page, vice-moderator, presented the resolutions, which were adopted seriatim as read by Dr. Page. They covered the entire scope of the assembly, and were in brief as follows: Thanks to the moderator for his tact and impartial ruling; to the Presbyterians, and those of other churches who aided them; to all the people of the city for their generous hospitality; to the Laity Association for the banquet; to the Executive Committee for the excellent arrangements; to the United States postoffice for the unequaled convenience offered the assembly; to Long Beach for its hospitality; to Mrs. Hollenbeck and the Chamber of Commerce for receptions tendered; to the transcontinental railroads for the lowest rates ever made across the continent; to the Los Angeles National Bank for help in conducting the finances; to the California Hospital for its generosity in taking care of the commissioners who were taken ill, without charge.

"This is a long list, but didn't we have a good time," said Page.

"Yes, yes, yes," from all parts of the house.

The Rev. Dr. H. B. Gage was urged to the platform and made a good speech in six words:

"We expect you all back again," which was received with great applause.

Then the resolutions again. Thanks to the Tennessee Quartette for music on several occasions; to the janitors and pages for their efforts to lend comfort to the meeting of the assembly.

"Now, I guess that's all," said Dr. Page.

From all over the house came a mighty chorus: "The press, the press, the press!"

The call was received with applause by the entire assembly, showing that they held in appreciation the press service the assembly had received.

When Dr. Walker had the platform he also spoke with pride of the press service, and said he had been at several General Assemblies and he had never seen any such service as the papers of Los Angeles had given.

BIG RALLY TONIGHT.

A young people's rally will be held at Immanuel Presbyterian Church at 7:45 this evening. The "Mormon Question" will be discussed by Rev. S. E. Wishard, D.D., Presbyterian Synodical Missionary of Utah; Rev. N. E. Clemenson of Logan, Utah; and Rev. G. W. Martin of Manti, Utah. The Tennessee Synodical Quartette will sing several selections.

COMMERCIAL HIGH SCHOOL.

In commemoration of Memorial Day, the senior A class of the Commercial High School gave an interesting programme in the assembly-room yesterday afternoon. The room was crowded and close attention was given to the excellent productions.

Lincoln's history was presented in four papers: "His Childhood Days," Miss Pearl Gulick; "Lincoln As a Young Man," Miss Mabel Easley; "Lincoln As a Statesman," Miss Effie Ripley; "Lincoln's Assassination," Miss Belle Wiles. Then came a literary representation of the first stanza of "My country, 'tis of thee; "My Country," Miss Warine Bradford; "America's Poets," Miss Edna Benjamin; "America's Scenery," Elmer Boerstler.

The programme was concluded with the national anthem.

The ninth-year students met in the book-keeping room, and were addressed by Profs. C. E. Locke and B. H. Donnell.

PERSONAL MENTION.

ASSEMBLY NOTABLES.

Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts, stated clerk of the General Assembly, "Watchman on the walls of Zion," has won universal admiration in the assembly by his constant attention to his duties and by often saving the assembly from committing serious blunders. He is recognized as an authority in parliamentary and ecclesiastical law, and when he steps to the front it settles all disputes.

His fine business qualifications, able financial administration and courage save the church much money. He has been put to a severe test in the assembly by the attempt of some Eastern commissioners to run in bills for more expensive routes than those recognized by the assembly. His heavy vote for moderator will stand by him and a small increase will put him in the next time he allows the use of his name.

Through the influence of the Rev. Dr. Richard S. Holmes of Pittsburgh Benjamin Thaw of Pittsburgh, brother-in-law of the Earl of Yarmouth, was made a member of the college commission to raise $12,000,000 for the small colleges.

Rev. Dr. C. E. Babb said yesterday to an amazed commissioner from the East: "To give you an idea of the fruit in our county, I had a letter from my son yesterday, saying he had just shipped forty carloads of prunes, fifteen tons to a car, bringing $150,000 in on one transaction."

Rev. Robert Wesley Peach of New Jersey is one of the youngest men who was on a large and prominent standing committee. He was second member on the committee to revise returns on creed revision, and was called on by the moderator to address the assembly. He was appointed a member of the special committee on improved methods of religious instruction to report to the next General Assembly.

Rev. Dr. C. E. Babb received a message yesterday afternoon from the hospital that his old co-laborer, Isaiah H. McCollum, a commissioner to the assembly, is still semi-conscious, slightly better, but without hope of recovery. He is 84 years of age.

Rev. J. Gilbert Mason, D.D., of Wetuchen, N. J., attending the assembly is a lineal descendant of the Rev. Dr. Azel Roe, who helped to organize the General Assembly 115 years ago, and who was moderator of the assembly just 100 years ago. Dr. Roe was one of the strongest men of his day and was an ancestor of Edward Payson Roe, the well-known author, whose books are found in so many Sunday-school libraries.

Prof. M. B. Riddle and Mrs. Riddle are visitors at the Presbyterian Assembly. Dr. Riddle has been for thirty-two years Professor of New Testament Exegesis. Sixteen of these at the Western Theological Seminary in Allegheny, Pa. He is the only survivor of the original American Company of New Testament Revisers. Ex-President Dwight of Yale is still living, but he was not elected a member of the company until after the work began, in 1872. The three men who edited the New Testament in what is called the Standard American Edition were Prof. Mayer of Harvard, Ex-President Dwight of Yale, and Prof. Riddle of Allegheny. Prof. Mayer died in 1901, just after the American Revision was published. The immense amount of labor bestowed upon this work by these three men can scarcely be estimated. But in the preparation of the edition constant reference was made to the previous discussions, prior to 1881, when the Revised New Testament first appeared; so that the present edition fairly represents the views of the entire company. Dr. Riddle has been a voluminous writer of commentaries, review articles, and for twenty-five years has prepared Lesson Helps for the International Series of Sunday-school Lessons.

REUNITED REICHMANS WILL CELEBRATE TODAY.

BROTHERS MEET IN ASSEMBLY AFTER MANY YEARS.

One from Michigan and the Other from California, Separated for Two Decades, Meet at Immanuel Church. Presbyterians and Veterans.

It will be a happy Memorial Day for two brothers in this city, reunited for the first time in twenty-five years. John and L. H. Reichman are both old soldiers ,and both are old Presbyterians. After the war they drifted apart, the paths of their lives diverged entirely, and letters became less and less frequent.

Finally, they stopped writing altogether. John heard, in his Michigan home, that L. H. Reichman had come to the Golden State, but he was unable to communicate with his brother, and, as a result, neither knew anything of the other's whereabouts.

Later on a rumor reached the East that L. H. Reichmann had died here, in search of the health for which he came. John, who lives in Saginaw, heard it and investigated, but all that he could find out was a faint confirmation of the rumor.

This year John Reichman decided to come to the General Assembly, since rates were cheap, and it would give him a chance to see a country of which he had heard so much. Accordingly, he bought his ticket, started, and in due time arrived.

Day before yesterday, while going into Immanuel Church for the morning service, he ran squarely into his brother, now a resident of this city. L. H. Reichman is now restored almost to perfect health, and has been living here in Los Angeles quietly for six months, intending to go back East in the fall and surprise his people.

It is needless to say that the brothers were overjoyed to meet each other. Tender memories of earlier years were revived, and today will probably be one of the happiest ever spent in the old soldiers' lives.

L. H. Reichman lives at No. 825 Cranston street, the city, and here he is entertaining his brother. It is probable that he will go back East with him in a week or so.

HARD LUCK OF COX.

Ernest B. Cox was removed from the County Hospital to the City Jail yesterday and was locked up on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. He is the man who took two shots at May Warren, with many aliases, in the Golden West lodging house on South Main street, three weeks ago. Then he shot a bullet into his head, but it did not prove fatal. The Warren woman has disappeared and will probably not prosecute, but the police have other witnesses who saw the shooting. Cox will probably be arraigned this morning.

FIFTY CENTS A MONTH

A small bottle of Scott's Emulsion costing fifty cents will last a baby a month. A few drops in its bottle every time it is fed. That's a small outlay for so large a return in health and comfort.

Babies that are fed on Scott's Emulsion quickly respond to its helpful influence. It seems to contain just the elements of nourishment that baby needs most.

Ordinary food frequently lacks this nourishment—Scott's Emulsion always supplies it.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

Dolores.

Mlle. Dolores gave a concert at the Los Angeles Theater last night before a large audience. Her program embraced a variety of classic and modern periods dating from 1600 to the present day. She opened with an aria from a masseca and sang in Italian. Dolores was especially good in the "Caro-Nome" ("Rigoletto") aria, and the waltz song from "Traviata," also in her encores, "Coming Through the Rye" and Auber's "Serenade Song." Her voice is a soprano of large range and great, velvety quality. It is a brilliant voice, powerful and rich, unlike any other in its peculiar timbre.

Dolores's art is exquisite. There is no flaw. The shining voice is controlled and in its satisfying beauty Dolores was in example of the true artiste who has been made by circumstances. Her mother, Teresa Carreno, one of the greatest singers of a generation ago. Her father, Bettini, well known, if not great, in musical circles. Dolores was born of music and has grown up in a musical atmosphere. She has heard, learned, lived music from the cradle, and only music of the highest order that she heard in her formative years. She was good music sung by good singers, and she sings as a woman to whom would be expected to sing. She has the perfect art and serious appreciation. Her stage presence is the most attractive. She is a woman of calmly gracious and dignified manner. There is none of the smirking or the bold and gallery-play that so often mars Lussan's work, and even Dolores knows her own strength as an artiste and does not condescend to coquette with her audience. Her singing of "Comin' Through the Rye" was so charming and arch that she was compelled five times after it to sing "Laughing Song" she was in the most infectious and set the audience laughing with the abandon of youth. Dolores's other numbers were given in English, French, German and Italian. If there was any advantage to be gained by the city it would be by the sale of a blanket franchise as a whole. It might be possible that some one corporation would bid in the concession, whereas, a portion of the franchise—a section of the franchise—would be no use to anyone. Not to Huntington, because he could not afford to let the 3-cent fare provision. Not to Senator Clark, because the success of his venture depended entirely on establishing a complete system, running to all parts of the city. It will do no harm to advertise the franchise," insisted Attorney Miller. "If it is, we submit for the franchise is large enough you can reject it. If it does not believe that we are here in good faith to build the road, you can put a large bond as you please binding us to build the road and abide by all the terms of the franchise. To advertise a section of a system is like selling a steam engine part by part. The buyer would be afraid that after he had secured nearly the entire engine you would step in and override him for some piece of the mechanism without which the whole would be of no use."

Dolores.

Mlle. Dolores gave a concert at the Los Angeles Theater last night before a large audience. Her program embraced a variety of classic gems of periods dating from 1600 to the present day. She opened with an early Italian manner and sang it beautifully. Her voice was especially delightful in "Caro-Nome" ("Rigoletto") (Verdi), and the waltz song from "Dinorah," also in her encores, "Comin' Thro' the Rye" and Auber's "Love Song." Her voice is a mezzo of great range and great, velvety quality. It is a brilliant voice, perfectly even and rich, unlike any other in its peculiar timbre.

Dolores's art is exquisite. There is no flaw. The shining voice flows on and on in its satisfying perfection. Dolores is an example of that type of artiste who has been made by circumstances. Her mother, Trebelli, was one of the greatest singers of a long ago. Her father, Bettini, was a well-known, if not great, tenor. Thus Dolores was born of music and into an atmosphere of musicians. She heard, learned, lived music from the cradle, and only music of the best. All that she heard in her formative years was good music sung by great artists. She sings as a woman so reared would be expected to sing—with the art and serious musicianly appreciation. Her stage demeanor is most attractive. She is at all times calmly gracious and dignified, but not in none of the smirking and bowing and gallery-play that so vulgarizes the immortal works, and even Nordica and Dolores knows her own standing as an artiste and does not condescend to coquette with her audience. Her singing of "Comin' Through the Rye" was so charming and arch that she was recalled five times after it. In addition "Laughing Song" she was delightfully infectious and set the audience laughing with the abandon of pure mirth. Dolores's other numbers were "Ave Maria" (Gounod), "Les Filles de Cadix" (Delibes), "La Cigale et la Fourmi" (Lacombe), "Les Trepiede" (Paladilhe), "La Cloche" (Saint-Saens); "Spring Song" (Tosti), and three of Dvorsk's Gypsy songs. In all her selections she was exquisite. It is a rare privilege for Los Angeles music lovers and students usually students of voice, to hear the true tones and high artistic perfection of such a singer as Dolores.

Mlle. Dolores will give another concert at the theater on Friday afternoon, when popular prices will prevail. The programme will be as follows:

(a) "Par Discrete" (A. Lotti.) (1716-1794); (b) "La Calandrina" (Jomelli, 1714-1774); piano, Theme varie d'Ernani, op. 29 (Schutt:) "I Know That My Redeemer" ("Messiah.") (Handel.) 1685-1759; (a) "Ditte la Mia Bella" (H. Berlioz.) 1803-1869; (b) "Le Rose" (Stella-Sacchi.) b. 1835; "Ave Maria" (C. Gounod.) 1818-1895; "Ave Liebestraum, No. 3 (Liszt:) Recit (Gounod du Chemin) (Les Noces de Jeannette) aria, Voix legere (Les Noces de Jeannette) (V. Masse.) 1820-1892; "He Loves Me" (Chadwick) (b. 1858); "Within a Rose" (L. Lehmann) (b. 1855); "Song" (C. Eckert.) 1826-1879; "Song" (Siegmund's "Spring Song" (Grieg); "I've Been Roaming" (Schutt:) "I've Been Roaming" (Horn.) 1789-1846.

The Striped Leopard.

"What an ugly creature you are!" said the circus tiger one day to the zebra, who was trotting around outside of the leopard's cage.

"I am sorry to hear you say that," declared the zebra.

"And I say it only as a friend and for your own good," asserted the tiger. "I do not want you to become conceited or to imagine that you are good looking. That would only cause people to make fun of you."

"Well," said the zebra, "I always thought I was absolutely pretty, but I still have an idea that I was not considered unsightly."

"Oh! you are, though," continued the leopard. "Those horrid stripes of which you are covered are enough to make all the other animals run from you with disgust. Stripes are becoming to you. In fact, I must say that they are not becoming to anybody. How do you suppose I would look in stripes? A perfect fright. I am sure."

"DO MY EYES DECEIVE ME?"

"And isn't that curious?" said the zebra.

"Isn't what curious?" asked the leopard.

"Why, I always thought your stripes were perfectly lovely."

"My stripes!" exclaimed the leopard in astonishment. "Why, what do you mean? I have no stripes!"

"Do my eyes deceive me?" cried the zebra. "You seem to have stripes."

"Indeed, I have not," declared the leopard. "What you see are the bars of my cage."

"Mercy me," said the zebra. "I fear I am too bad. After all, I believe it is better to have these stripes of mine than your cage stripes," and he went trotting off to the far end of the cage and trotted off to the left with the bearded lady in a chariot.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

At the session of the Board of Public Works yesterday afternoon Attorney Clarence Miller presented arguments to show that the Council should grant the 3-cent blanket street-railway franchise. Action was delayed one week at the request of McAleer, who will vote with the other two members to deny the application next Friday.

Mayor Snyder appointed the Fourth of July Committee yesterday.

Resolutions were passed by the Bar Association yesterday on account of the death of Judge Fitzgerald and Capt. Sterry.

A sad case of a boy with a drunken mother came up in the juvenile court yesterday.

Michele Pantusa, a barber, was fined $20 in Police Court for striking his divorced wife.

A. J. Bennett, the conductor who was assaulted by the breakage E. M. Marble's jaw by knocking him from a car, was on trial yesterday. The trial was continued for character witnesses on Bennett's behalf.

AT THE CITY HALL.

ARGUMENTS PRESENTED ON THE "BLANKET."

ATTORNEY MILLER SAYS IT IS A GOOD THING.

Members of the Board of Public Works are Unconvinced, but Finally Agree to a Postponement for One Week—Ultimate Fate of the Franchise—Map Filed.

After a protracted hearing yesterday afternoon the Board of Public Works postponed action on the blanket street-railway franchise application for one week, Chairman Nofziger and Councilman Davenport refused to make a report on Monday adverse to the application, while Councilman McAleer favored delay for one week. Attorney Clarence A. Miller, representing Senator Clark of Montana, filed a map on which the routes of the proposed 3-cent road were platted in red ink. This map shows a network of lines radiating from the business center in all directions.

It was late in the afternoon before the amended petition of William Garland was taken up by the board. Nofziger promptly declared that he was opposed to the consideration of a blanket franchise and Davenport based his sentiment by saying that many street railway systems should be considered at one time. McAleer asked that action be delayed one week in order to admit of an examination of the map.

"Let it go over for a week," he said. "Then we can give this application and the map due consideration. It won't hurt anybody. If it is a good thing the city wants it; if not, we can deny the application next week. I am not in favor of blanket franchises either."

"Suppose we deny the franchise as a whole and let them decide whether they wish to ask for separate franchises," said Nofziger. "They know what the board feels about this. City Attorney Mathews says a blanket franchise should never be granted. Let us put ourselves on record right now."

Mr. McAleer renewed his request that the consideration of the franchise be put over for a week.

Attorney Miller said he was not particular whether the board took action now or postponed the report, but would like a chance to be heard when the question was settled.

"Oh, we will hear you now," said Nofziger, and the little group of people in the committee room crowded around the table as the attorney unrolled the map.

After nearly an hour the attorney addressed arguments to the board to show the desirability of granting a blanket application. It was a clear argument and the members of the board and the people present appeared to be impressed, although not entirely convinced by the points made by the attorney.

Beginning with the history of the franchise application—its presentation by Garland and the other features with which the public is already familiar—Attorney Miller led up to a discussion of the 3-cent fare. He said the difference between 5 cents and 3 cents was what the railway company would pay the people of the city for the privilege of running over the routes indicated. The 3-cent fare is equivalent to giving every family of five persons "10 perpetual passes," said Attorney Miller.

This report raised the point that all the people in the city would not ride on the new road, as a portion of the people would patronize the other lines of necessity, and that therefore the benefit would not be to the whole city alike.

"I am not saying that all the people will ride on our lines, and I do not claim that 99 per cent. of the citizens will, but nevertheless, all the people of Los Angeles would get the benefit of the 3-cent fare because"—and the attorney brought his fist down on the table with a bang—"as soon as we had 3-cent fares every other railroad in the city would have to do the same."

Referring to the objections to the sale of the street franchise as a whole, Attorney Miller declared that it did not matter whether the franchise was sold together or in sections as to the number of bidders because of the 3-cent fare. If there was any advantage to be gained by the city it would be secured by the sale of a blanket franchise, as it might be possible that some one corporation would bid in the control, whereas, a portion of the system—a section of the franchise—would be of no use to anyone. Not to Huntington will not tear up his tracks and split his cars in kindling wood, if this application is granted," he continued. "Of course, the Los Angeles Railway Company and the Traction Company will not be benefited, but they will not be injured to the extent that is claimed. It will merely give them the spur of competition and make them more anxious to accommodate the public.

"Some of the Councilmen have been quoted as saying that the rate of fare is too low. We maintain that that is our own affair. You are not here to represent the Los Angeles Railway Company the Traction Company or our company, but to represent the people of the city. If they gain, it matters not whether we lose or not. But I think I can prove that these rates are not so low as to make it inconsistent for a business man to enter into this proposition, and give the class of service that he says he will. The cable roads displaced the mule lines, and the electric lines have displaced the cable roads, simply because they are cheaper to operate. Yet 5 cents was the rate of fare over the mule lines, and there were not so many people either. Why is it strange that the fare should be reduced from 5 to 3 cents, and still leave a margin of profit?"

Attorney Miller then quoted from a statement of the earnings of the Los Angeles Railway Company, and the Pacific Electric Railway Company which, after the session, he gave very good reasons to show, had been prepared by the companies to show to prospective bond buyers. This statement shows that for the ten months ending August 31, 1902, the Los Angeles Railway Company from 96.92 miles of track, had gross earnings amounting to $1,187,293; net earnings, $530,603. Reducing the net earnings 40 per cent. to a 3-cent fare basis, the attorney showed that the company would make a profit during one year of $66,890.16, which would be the equivalent of 5 per cent. interest on a capitalization of $1,337,802, or at the rate of $14,600 a mile.

Similar figures were contained in the statement regarding the earnings of the Pacific Electric Railway Company for the six months ending August 31, 1902, showing the net earning to have been $138,372.

The Councilmen objected to the consideration of these figures, because their authenticity could not be shown, and Attorney Miller declared that if the good faith of the company, as far as the 3-cent provision was concerned, had been established, he would gladly do so.

Nofziger wanted to know why Senator Clark did not apply for separate franchise to extend his Traction road and the attorney declared that if Senator Clark owned the Traction road or had an option on it, he was not apprised of the fact.

"No one puts up $100,000 just for fun," declared Nofziger.

"That's true," assented Miller, "but Senator Clark, I understand, has an income of $100,000 almost while we are standing here, although that statement may be some exaggeration."

"How did he make that money?" broke in Davenport, with a sudden inspiration. "By magnificent business schemes. In mining and similar ventures. And still he wants to come in here and buy a 3-cent franchise. It is not in the least consistent with his reputation. I don't believe he can have any such intention."

While Davenport was talking, Nofziger and McAleer had been quietly conferring at one end of the table and as he finished speaking Nofziger announced suddenly:

"Hearing will be postponed one week."

That was all that appeared on the surface; but it was ascertained later that before this agreement was reached McAleer had agreed to vote against the blanket application next Friday.

During the long discussion all phases of the franchise question were covered. Attorney Miller declared that Clark was offering the people of Los Angeles the same thing that residents of Eastern cities were striving to get—a 3-cent fare. He quoted from a letter written by Tom Johnson of Cleveland and cited statistics to prove the feasibility of a low fare in Los Angeles where there is no snow and sleet to contend with. He pictured the plight of the city if Huntington should die or sell out, the old cars should not be replaced, the service should deteriorate, and the city be caught in the grasp of a powerful railroad monopoly.

Nofziger brought up the failure of Senator Clark to make good his promises in regard to the Salt Lake road and depicted the loss to the orange grower because the cars of the new transcontinental line were not ready to move his crop.

There may be further discussion of the franchise question at the next meeting of the board; but unless something out of the ordinary occurs the Council will vote down the 3-cent blanket franchise application of William Garland, which has been championed by Senator W. A. Clark of Montana.

OTHER FRANCHISES.

Attorney Dunn appeared before the board yesterday afternoon, and explained the activity of the Los Angeles Railway Company on Moneta avenue, as in yesterday's Times. He declared that the company merely desired to use the thirty-foot strip of land in the center of the street, which had been deeded to them by the property owners, and that if the city had any rights in the street, the company would be glad to withdraw. He said the road would be worthless without a short franchise connecting Moneta avenue with Jefferson street over Main street, and that the road would not be built until the company secured such a franchise, in all probability.

Wesley Clark's application for a franchise on Main street, from Jefferson street to the south city limits, was before the board. Attorney Dunn declared that the property owners objected to the line. Chairman Nofziger ruled that such objections should be presented to the board, and not to the railway company, and that action would be deferred for one week to allow the people to express themselves, if they so desired.

The application of E. R. Fox for a change of the franchise route on Ninth and Park View streets, was given a hard rap by Acheson St. George, who declared that the persons whose names appeared, denied having signed the petition, and that not more than six lots were represented when the bogus signatures had been thrown out. The board postponed action.

APPROVING BONDS.

CITY RETAINS NOTED LAWYERS.

At a special session of the Council yesterday afternoon it was decided to retain Dillon & Hubbard, the New York bond wizards, to pass upon the regularity of the proceedings for the issuance of the $2,130,000 bonds to be sold next Monday. It has been understood for some time that this action would be taken, and a transcript of the proceedings was forwarded to the eastern firm some time ago. Dillon & Hubbard will receive a retainer of $1250, and if their opinion is favorable to the bond issue, a further fee of $1250. The same fees were paid for an opinion on the $2,000,000 issue of water bonds.

Councilman Nofziger presided at the special session yesterday afternoon. Deputy City Attorney Goudge explained to the Council the necessity of securing an opinion from Dillon & Hubbard to insure the ready sale of the securities. He said that Dillon & Hubbard occupied an absolutely unique position in the legal world, as an opinion from the firm was a requisite to the sale of municipal bonds in the New York bond market. Unless the city procured the opinion for the benefit of all bidders some of the big bond-buying firms would get the opinion and deduct the cost from their bid. It has become customary for bond bids to be made subject to a favorable opinion from Dillon & Hubbard.

On motion of Todd a contract was presented and approved retaining Dillon & Hubbard at the terms stated.

COMMITTEE NAMED.

FOR INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Mayor Snyder appointed the following committee yesterday to take charge of the Fourth of July celebration this year: Senator Fred M. Smith, Charles Cassatt Davis, Joseph Scott, William Lovett, H. W. Frank, Willoughby Rodman, Charles Dennatin, A. S. Halstead and Charles Fife.

The committee will meet in the committee-room of the City Hall next Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock p.m. to organize and discuss preliminary plans for the celebration of the holiday.

Call on the Mayor.

E. J. Donovan, City Clerk, and M. M. Lomasay, alderman, of Boston, called on Mayor Snyder yesterday morning. Messrs. Donovan and Lomasay are making a tour of the principal cities of the United States. They will leave tomorrow for San Francisco and from there will go to Seattle, Portland and other north Coast cities. Mayor Snyder and Police Commissioner Keeney exchanged ideas on municipal methods with the Bostonians yesterday.

Fire Commission.

At a called session of the Fire Commission yesterday morning it was voted to make requisition on the Civil Service Commission for ten additional hosemen.

Mayor Takes Vacation.

Mayor M. P. Snyder, accompanied by his family, will visit the Yosemite Valley as a guest of the Park Commissioners. The Mayor leaves on Tuesday and expects to be away about a week.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT FOR DEAD LAWYERS.

JUDGE FITZGERALD AND CAPT. STERRY ARE HONORED.

Local Bar Association Passes Resolutions Showing an Appreciation of the Loss Occasioned by the Death of These Two Able Attorneys.

At a meeting of the Bar Association in Judge Wilbur's court, yesterday, resolutions were adopted in respect to the death of Judge Fitzgerald and Capt. C. N. Sterry.

The resolution for Judge Fitzgerald was as follows:

Reverently, and with heavy hearts, we offer this memorial as a faint tribute to the worth of one who, called away in the fullness of his splendid powers, leaves behind him as a heritage to his family and an inspiration to all who knew him, a name and reputation which it is the fortune of few men to achieve.

Born in 1846, in the town of Jackson, Miss., then the center of a wealthy slaveholding State, W. F. Fitzgerald was brought up amid surroundings typical of the best phases of life in the old South. Descended from a family illustrious in the country from which his ancestors came, there was born and bred in him that delicate sense of personal honor, that unswerving rectitude, that chivalric deference and grace of women, which distinguished him throughout life.

His father was a man of unusual force and courage, united with most loveable qualities, and his mother was known for her firmness of character and high ideals of life.

When the war drums beat in 1861, young Fitzgerald, though a mere stripling of 15, ran off from St. Mary's School, in Kentucky, and joined the forces of his native State, linking his fortunes with hers in the great struggle. Through the next four years where danger was greatest there he was to be found, his reckless, dare-devil bravery twice earning him promotion on the field of battle; so that before he was 19 he was a captain. Twice he was wounded, once being shot through the lungs when in the forefront of a desperate charge, he leaped upon the breastworks of the enemy in the face of a storm of shot and shell.

When the war was ended he began the study of law, was admitted to practice in his native town, and later moved to Vicksburg. The old State of Mississippi has always been noted for the ability of her bench and bar, and young Fitzgerald, generously gifted by nature with a fervid temperament, a glowing imagination, and great natural powers, soon earned for himself an assured place as a capable lawyer and a fearless advocate who could sway his audience with impassioned eloquence or overwhelm his adversary with scathing Philippics. The courage and daring which were so conspicuous in his career as a soldier, now on a different field, soon brought him into prominence in the troublous times following the war, when lawlessness was the rule, and resulted in his election to the office of District Attorney of the district of which Vicksburg was the center. He soon became a terror to the lawless element, and secured numerous convictions by his able and relentless prosecution of crime. He so embittered this class against him that on one occasion he was attacked by two desperadoes, one of whom he had prosecuted for some crime. He received a wound through the chest which brought him to death's door, but in this desperate fray he shot down both of his assailants.

After a brilliant career through two terms of this office he was nominated for Attorney General of his native State, and though defeated he led his party by a large plurality.

In 1883 he was appointed to the Supreme bench of Arizona by President Arthur, and remained in that position for two years, gaining well deserved fame throughout the territory as an able, fearless and conscientious judge.

He came to Los Angeles in 1886 and immediately entered the firm of Wade & Silent, composed of the late Judge W. P. Wade and Judge Charles Silent, the new firm being Silent, Wade & Fitzgerald. In 1887, upon the dissolution of that firm, he formed a new association with the late Judge James A. Anderson and one of his sons, under the name of Anderson, Fitzgerald & Anderson. With this firm he remained until his removal to San Francisco, upon his appointment to the office of Supreme Court Commissioner in 1891, in which position he gave such eminent proof of his capacity that in 1892 he was by Gov. Markham appointed Supreme Judge to succeed Judge Sharpstein. He filled the unexpired term, when he was elected Attorney General of the State in 1895. After four years of able administration of this office he declined a renomination and resumed the practice of his profession in San Francisco, where he remained until 1900, when he was by Gov. Gage appointed to the Superior bench of Los Angeles county. At the expiration of the term he again took up the practice of his profession in Los Angeles, and so continued until stricken by sickness a few months before his untimely death.

In these short and simple annals space does not permit that we should dwell upon his many forensic achievements or refer to the numerous able opinions written by him while on the bench. Suffice it to say that, called to fill many important offices, most of which came to him unsolicited—voluntary tributes to his worth and fitness—he was lacking in none, and his life work remains a monument more enduring than though his fame were graven in stone.

In politics Judge Fitzgerald was a Republican. Upon his return from the war he, in common with many prominent Democrats in Mississippi, believed that the best interests of the South demanded that she should be allied to the party then in power, and while others changed he remained firm in his convictions to the last, although on account of his immense popularity and great ability the highest offices in the gift of his native State would have been open to him if he could have abjured his principles and gone over to the Democratic party.

Despite the intense and bitter feelings engendered by the violent party factions prevailing in Mississippi during the Reconstruction period and up to the time Judge Fitzgerald left that State, no man in the State was so generally respected, esteemed and revered by the Democrats and Republicans alike as he. The highest and best of the opposing party were proud to number him among their friends. This great popularity was shown when he was elected District Attorney by an immense majority over his Democratic opponent in a district largely Democratic.

As a lawyer and judge he displayed rare power of analysis and breadth of thought. Thoroughly grounded in the principles of the common law and deeply imbued with the spirit of equity jurisprudence, his keen and vigorous intellect pierced with rapier-like precision to the core of the case, and his powerful and sagacious mind almost infallibly reached a legal and logical conclusion. He had an almost instinctive knowledge of human nature, and being gifted with a vivid, resourceful, and fertile brain, great reasoning powers, and master of the most forceful and expressive language, he was in the courtroom the peer of the greatest lawyers of the country.

Lion-like courage, great personal magetism, intense force of character, a temper stern and uncompromising toward his enemies, but genial, radiant, and affectionate toward his friends—a virile force which when aroused swept everything before it, great nobility and generosity of character—these were the prominent attributes and characteristics of this remarkable man.

In his demeanor toward men, the circumstances of wealth, power, place, or fame affected him not at all. The poorest laborer if honest and manly met with treatment as courteous and probably more kind than would the representative of great wealth or high office. With a withering scorn for all sham, pretense, or snobbishness; with the greatest contempt for one who could cringe to power or fawn upon wealth, to him most emphatically "the rank was but the guinea's stamp; the man's the gold for a' that."

To the weak and the helpless, and to children the noble and gentle side of this man was always shown. No one ever appealed to him for help in vain. To all little children who knew him he was a loving friend and trusted confident. All the gentleness and tenderness of his nature shone forth when with them. Many childish hearts will grieve to know that he gone away forever, and the memory of "the Judge" will ever be kept green in the minds of his little friends.

To those of us who had the great good fortune to know this man as a friend, words cannot express the loss we feel. Brave heart, loyal and true, kindly genial soul, we will not look upon your like again!

If we lift the sacred veil which covered his home life, we see the ideal relation of husband and father. To his wife and daughter he was naught but tender, gentle, and loving. For them the world held nothing too good; their happiness, their welfare were always his first and his last thought. Here the true character of the man, his innate refinement, exquisite delicacy of feeling, gentleness and tenderness were revealed not occasionally, but ever and always in his treatment of his wife and of his "Baby," as he called his daughter.

As an expression of the respect and esteem which the bar of this county feels toward him, be it

Resolved, that in the death of Judge W. F. Fitzgerald, the State and nation have lost a citizen who, if the promise of the future, as evidenced by his achievements in the past, could have been fulfilled would have gained a place in history not limited by the narrow confines of any State, but high in the roll of the great ones of the nation.

Resolved, that this community has lost one who both in private and in public life added luster to the good name of the city of his adoption.

Resolved, that in his death the bench and bar of this State part with one who added dignity and honor to the seat of justice and was of that galaxy of lawyers whose high character and reputation for spotless integrity and whose fair fame and ability contribute to maintain the bar of America in the high position which it deservedly occupies.

Resolved, that his friends have taken a long farewell of one who, by his peculiarly warm and generous nature, by the strength and depth of his affections, by the truth and loyalty of his character, had a rare capacity for that deep and true friendship which, once cemented, is granite-like in its steadfastness and strength.

Resolved, that to his wife and daughter, whose loss is beyond the power of words, we offer all we can give in this supreme moment of their lives, our heartfelt sympathy.

And resolved further, that copies of this memorial and these resolutions be sent to his wife and daughter and be presented to the Supreme Court of this State, the United States Circuit Court of this District, and to each department of the Superior Court of this county, and to the press of this city.

J. A. Anderson, Jr., Walter J. Trask, William J. Hunsaker, A. M. Stephens, J. B. Chapman, Committee.

FOR CAPT. STERRY.

The following were the resolutions adopted for Capt. Sterry:

With profound respect for his memory, and deep regret for his untimely death, the Bar of Los Angeles county makes this record of the upright life and eminent services to the profession and to his country of Capt. Clinton Norman Sterry, one of its most eminent members.

Capt. Sterry was born in the town of Ashtabula, Ohio, upon the 5th day of April, 1845. He was the son of Dewitt Clinton Sterry and Elvira Miller Sterry. At an early age, his family removed from Ohio to Lake City, Minn., where he spent his youth and early manhood. After a common school education he attended Oberlin College until the outbreak of the Civil War, and after the close of the war, attended the Law School of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. He was admitted to the bar and entered upon the active duties of his profession in Minnesota, in the year 1868. About the year 1873, he removed to Kansas, and became associated in his profession with R. M. Ruggles and P. B. Plumb, afterward United States Senator from that State. About the year 1882, he became connected with the law department of the Santa Fé Railroad System, and ten years later was appointed general attorney for the road in the Territory of New Mexico. In 1896, he was made solicitor for the Santa Fé Railroad System, west of Albuquerque, with headquarters at Los Angeles, which position he occupied until the time of his death, making his permanent residence in Los Angeles.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, he enlisted as a private in the Seventh Ohio Regiment, with which he served for two years and a half, when he was obliged to retire on account of injuries received in the service. Recovering from his injuries, he subsequently formed a company for the Heavy Artillery of the First Minnesota Regiment, and was elected and served until the close of the war as its captain, receiving honorable discharge and high commendation for meritorious service, when mustered out in 1865.

Capt. Sterry was a lawyer of rare ability, particularly in the line of railroad and corporation work; was possessed of a broad, comprehensive, logical and analytical mind, and a marvelous memory; was a great student, a profound thinker, and an untiring worker; was uniformly courteous, patient and considerate, possessing lofty and exalted ideals of the duties and obligations of his profession, and his character, both as a man and a lawyer, was without spot or blemish. He was truthful to the utmost degree, and abhorred all that was not sincere and genuine; possessed a keen sense of humor, and gracious cordiality, and was at all times a charming companion and a cordial and generous host. He was devoted to his family and intimate friends, and found his greatest delight in his home life, and in contributing to the comfort and happiness of the members of his family. He is mourned by a host of friends, who loved him because of his excellent qualities and manly worth; and his associates of the bar deem it proper to thus formally declare their appreciation of his qualities as a man and a lawyer, and to join in the many and sincere expressions of sorrow for his death. John D. Works, Frank J. Thomas, William J. Hunsaker, J. A. Graves, J. W. McKinley, Paul Burks, Committee.

HER HIGH MORAL SENSE WAS DAMAGED.

Such a frightful jolt was given to Mrs. E. J. Bower's high moral sense by the establishment of a saloon under her lodging-house that she has sued Maier & Zobelein for $2000.

She alleges that she rented the upper floors of Nos. 317, 319 and 321 West Fifth street for a lodging-house. At that time the store below was used for some purpose that did not shock her. Recently, to her unspeakable horror, Maier & Zobelein put in a saloon with two entrances and a "bright, gaudy and attractive sign" advertising a brand of beer on draught.

She avers that she comes from a religious family, and has always been opposed to saloons. She claims that her "high moral sense" would not permit her to runa lording-house over a saloon, and that it would damage her $2000 to move out. She asks that the nuisance be abated.

NEARLY JAILED LADD.

HABEAS-CORPUS ESCAPE.

Judge Habeas Corpus Ladd had a thrilling escape from spending Sunday in jail for contempt of court.

He was so uncomplimentary as to foget an engagement to try a divorce case in Judge York's court, and let the whole department wait there in solemn state. The case was set ahead for some time in September, but yesterday Habeas Corpus came into court and asked to have the case tried right away.

Judge York looked down at him disapprovingly, and told him he was guilty of contempt for forgetting the court.

"All right," said Habeas Corpus, penitently. "Fine me, but let the case go on, as my witnesses are all here."

Judge York frowned. "No, sir," he said. "I am going to send you to jail."

Habeas Corpus began to turn a pale nile green.

"I would have come, only I had so much to do, I couldn't attend to it all," he said.

"Case of overwork. This will give you a chance to rest."

"How—how about church?" gasped Ladd, gripping at straws.

"I will see that the bailiff takes you out to church," said the judge. "And then you will be bound to have good company."

Finally the judge relented. "If I put you in jail the county will have to board you, and I think you are better able to do it yourself," he said. And he even allowed the divorce case to go on.

It was the case of a woman named Barbara Burger suing William H. Burger for divorce on the ground of failure to provide. An interlocutory decree was granted.

FUGITIVE FROM IMAGINARY ENEMY.

Anna Bayers, who loved not wisely but too well, and considerably too often, was examined for insanity yesterday in Judge Wilbur's court. It was a distressing case, because the woman was brought before the insane commissioners with a young baby in her arms.

Although she is only 32, she says that she has had twelve children, five of which are now alive. About four years ago, her husband left her, and since then she has been living about Palmdale in a manner none too creditable. Her children are taken care of by charitable people about the place, and she has wandered about like an outcast. She thinks that someone is pursuing her, and her life is one of hiding from this imaginary enemy. Sometimes she sleeps out in the night, and again she camps around the railroad stations.

She was not found insane, but was recommended to the County Poor Farm.

MOTHER GOT DRUNK.

LITTLE CHILD'S PLIGHT.

Pitiful child of a drunken mother, a little tot named Jimmy Lowe, was put under the protection of the Juvenile Court yesterday.

It was the most miserable affair that has come before the court so far.

The child cannot be more than 4 or 5 years old. A few days ago his stepfather and his mother got socially drunk in their room together.

Boarders in the same lodging-house found this poor little child wandering forlornly around the halls without any one to take care of him. One of his ears was black and blue, and he told them in his baby way that his mother had picked him up by his ears. He couldn't understand what made his mother act so funny.

The mother was in court yesterday and she begged them not to take the baby away from her. She said she had never been in such a condition before. She said, in a deprecating way, that she only had three glasses of beer anyhow, and knew just what she was doing.

The mother's name now is Mrs. Gilbert. Adelia Williams. Her first husband, the father of this boy, died in December, and she married this man Williams the next April.

Judge Wilbur ordered that the boy be left with the mother, but made an order that the probation officer make supervising visits to see that she treats the child properly.

COURT NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

INSANE BARTENDER. Social life at San Pedro was too much for Alonzo J. Saunders, who was committed to the insane asylum yesterday as the result of excessive drinking. Saunders was a bartender in one of the big saloons in the harbor city. He told the judge yesterday that he did't drink to amount to anything, although he would take four or five glasses of beer and some brandy, with a pint or two sometimes thrown in on the side.

SHOOTS AT FANCIES. Walter Nadeau, who gets nervous and takes pot shots at the figments of his imagination in the gloaming, was arrested at Florence yesterday for insanity and brought to the city for examination. It makes the people around his neighborhood uneasy when he begins "seein' things" and begins firing with a pistol.

DIVORCES. The following interlocutory decrees of divorce were granted yesterday in the Superior Court:

Agnes L. Wilson from Edward J. Wilson; Aurora from Joseph Crouch; Myrtle from Lee Robbins; all on the ground of desertion.

PRIZE FIGHTER'S TRIAL. Fred W. Eckert, a prize fighter, who once had the proud distinction of being matched to fight one Buddy King (whoever he may be) is on trial in Judge Smith's court on the charge of assaulting a peace book from the Santa Fé office, filling the passe out, and selling them. When he was captured, burglar's jimmies were found in his effects.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

PANTUSA'S FALSE AIR OF INJURED INNOCENCE.

BUT DIVORCED WIFE'S TEARS WON THE VERDICT.

Italian Barber Couldn't Stave Off Fine for Beating Her With All His Virtue—Conductor Bennett on Trial for Battery.

The attitude that Michele Pantusa struck and his grand stand play of injured innocence, didn't have much effect in Police Court yesterday afternoon. His divorced wife's tears were stronger argument, and Pantusa was fined $25 for striking her and disturbing the peace of Sonoratown, which has peace—sometimes.

Pantusa was going to carry everything before him in a great torrent of protests and virtuous assertions. And then the divorced wife told her story so quietly that it required a smoking of ears to hear her. She broke down in sobs when she was through, and her little four-year-old boy whimpered in sympathy.

"I am not guility, judge," said Pantusa. "I senda this wom' to th' beach' shop to buy some stek. She come-a not back; I go aft' her. I finda her at anoth' where I dida not saida her. I tolda her to come home and tooka her by the arma.

"She was in my house and wouldn not washa the towel; not one towel would she washa. I tolda her to come out anda go; and she wouldn not, judge. Thain I take her by the arm once-a more and made her to come-a."

Then the woman said that she secured a divorce from him eight months ago, and was awarded custody of the boy. Pantusa forced her to go back to him and do his housework. On Thursday when the fracas occurred, Pantusa descended on several occasions to his cellar, where there is a jug of "Dago red," and came up each time drunker than the last. Then he tried to make his peace with a big tuft of towels—he is a barber—when she was already doing her best. He brandished a razor in her face and struck her.

Bennett's Hard Fight.

A. J. Bennett, the street-car conductor, who "felt mean" the morning of the 14th inst., on his run to South Central avenue, and beat E. M. Marble, a plumber, until he had to fall off the car and break his jaw, was in the Police Court yesterday afternoon. Attorney Appel represented him, and the fight was strong on both sides. It was after 4 o'clock when the evidence was all in, but even then Appel, who must have suspected he had the losing side, asked for a continuance until he could get character witnesses.

It didn't come out at the trial that Bennett's wife went gallvanting with a gambler on that morning of the broken jaw, but that's what he said immediately after his arrest.

H. B. Johnson, Marble's companion on that trip, covered himself with glory by running away. When he arrived at a safe distance he picked up a stone and threw it at the car.

"Did you run, Mr. Johnson?" was asked. "You bet, I did," he asserted emphatically.

When he was telling the story of how the conductor refused a Canadian dime, and the trouble that arose from some words on this subject, his tongue went as though worked by steam power. He stopped suddenly in the middle of a sentence, as if there was an abrupt break-down of machinery. After that he couldn't answer a question straight.

A passenger on the car gave evidence against Bennett.

Says She's Innocent.

Mrs. Tillie Denham, accused of obtaining groceries by false pretenses, was before Justice Chambers yesterday afternoon, to answer to the charge preferred by Rivers Bros. There was a defect in the complaint, so another was drawn without delay. To this she pleaded not guilty, and the hearing was set for June 10.

Extract from Editorial in Los Angeles Times, March 18, 1903.

Some years ago a well-known Los Angeles banker, now gone before, expressed to the editor of this journal the opinion that Los Angeles was destined to become a great financial centre, drawing money from all over the United States, a center of heavy financial operations (including life insurance,) where great industrial and commercial operations may be financed. There is no good reason why his prediction should not be fulfilled. A beginning has been made by the establishment of a first-class life insurance company in this city, the second to be established on the Pacific Coast, the other being located in San Francisco. Few people stop to consider what the possibilities are in this direction.

Roughly estimated, $7,000,000 is collected annually from California as life-insurance premiums, and sent East to build up Eastern cities. About half this amount comes back. The business constantly grows and since the outgo is first and the inflow only at the maturity of policies, the amount of business constantly increasing, the ratio is about right.

Los Angeles is as well located for a life-insurance company as is Milwaukee. Milwaukee receives an inflow of money amounting to about $30,000,000 yearly by virtue of one life-insurance company located in that city.

Take another comparison. Des Moines, Iowa, the headquarters of a number of companies, has the largest postal receipts in proportion to its population of any city in the country, by virtue of the life-insurance companies centered there. The same is relatively true of Hartford, Ct., for the same reason.

Banks and other similar institutions are circumscribed by the needs of people who can come to their doors, or their counters, but an insurance company is capable of indefinite expansion. A two-cent stamp brings an application for life-insurance just as easily from Maine or Minnesota as it does from Pasadena.

Would it not be a good thing for Los Angeles and Southern California if we could have twenty or thirty millions of dollars pouring into this city, collected from all sections of the country? Could we not profitably use this money for investment, and for the development of our natural resources? The Times commends this suggestion to all who are interested in the progress and prosperity of the City of the Angels.

ANTIQUE GEMS FROM THE GREEK AND LATIN. Vol. XII. Printed for the subscribers only by George Barrie & Son. Philadelphia.

We have before us two more volumes of the Bibliophilists Library, which Messrs. Barrie & Son are issuing. The volumes are printed in the finest style, on Japanese vellum paper. The binding is gilt solid; the pages are surrounded by an ornamental border, with more than generous margins. The illustrations are in the form of vignettes delicately colored. Every art has been expended upon these volumes to make them as attractive as possible. They will be prized by those fortunate enough to possess them, as specimens of typographical art. The first volume contains Lucian's celebrated "Dialogues of Courtesans." The Greek text and the English translation are on opposite pages, according to the custom of the series. The translation is not attributed to any scholar, but we take it for granted that A. J. Pons, who has provided the volume with many valuable literary notes, is responsible for it. As a translation it is good and thoroughly readable. There is no attempt made to tone down the original. The expurgating of the dialogues would have been a grievous mistake. There is nothing gained by doing so, and there is a great deal lost. These dialogues of Lucian, while not intended for popular reading, and wholly unfit for general circulation, have a historical and sociological value that belong to hardly any other similar work. The life of Athens was one in which women were placed in a wholly false position. The result was what Lucian has described. As literary works they are the precusors of the modern short story. Not that we would dare to trace any very close connection between the two, but they proceed upon the same theory. There is a clear idea that is made the center around which all revolves. When that idea has been set forth with perfect plainness, then the story is brought to an end. Not one word is added. The economy of space is studied until there is neither a word too few nor a word too many. This is the perfection, and is the effect of La Revue Illustrée. His work is charming. It has all the quaintness of medieval romance. The tales that make up the volume are all very short, but each is complete. Each takes one idea and presents it with perfect attention to detail, but with only such elaboration as to bring out the thought that lies behind it. The style has all the best characteristics of the French short story. But it would be perhaps misleading to call M. Doucet's work short stories, for that term has come to be associated with a different class of literature. He has produced for us little tales that seem to have been inspired by the genius of some medieval story teller. The supernatural appears in the good old-fashioned way that always made it easy for the romancers in former days to add attractions to their tales, but which is so hard for the modern with his realistic mind to use with any success. Superstitious fancies are blended with mythology. Romantic incidents and allegory are intertwined. Alfred Garth Jones, to whom we owe the delightful illustrations, is one of the newer English illustrators who is now coming to the fore. There has been some of his work in one of the monthly magazines, but nothing to compare to what he has done in this volume. The borders to the pages which first attracted our attention show a dexterity in handling design that is very unusual. He plays endless variations upon simple themes. He takes the most unpromising material and combines it in a way that is always fresh and always attractive.

The pictures, which are introduced at almost every available place in the stories, are well and artistically drawn. The spirit of the text has been successfully caught and the illustrator and author have worked together, or the illustrator has been able to enter into the spirit of the author more completely than is generally the case. The translator has produced good readable English. He has had excellent text with which to work, but he has avoided many of the pitfalls that we open to him in turning the excellent French of M. Ducet into real English. We congratulate the artists to whom we owe this book upon what is their début in American literary life. E. A. H.

An Uncompromising Conscience.

A COMEDY OF CONSCIENCE. By S. Weir Mitchell. The Century Company, New York.

It will be a very exacting and overly critical reader who is unable to find entertainment in Dr. S. Weir Mitchell's little volume, "A Comedy of Conscience." This is not that immensely diverting story's first appearanace in print, but "A Comedy of Conscience" is one of those productions that can bear reprinting. If Serena Vernon looked anything like the pictures that Henry Hutt has made of her, we do not wonder that the man in the car said "Thank you" for the opportunity to sit beside her; for the Serena of the pictures has the blondest hair, straightest nose and the sweetest mouth and wears the most delectable of bonnets and the trimmest of skirts and shirt waists. We might almost be persuaded that it was a sentimental desire to possess something belonging to her that incited her fellow-passengers to insert his hand in her shopping-bag and extract therefrom her purse, which contained $33.20, a luck-penny and a recipe for caramel custard. (Cousin John was under the impression that it was for pickled doughnuts.) But alas! Dr. Mitchell permits no delusions as to the sordidness of the fellow's motives. However, the thief was the loser by this nefarious transaction, in accomplishing which he pulled from his finger, without his knowledge, a diamond ring worth $800. Thus it happens that Serena Vernon, spinster, of most irreproachable New England ancestry and uncompromising New England conscience, finds herself in a dilemma which, for her own satisfaction, she thus sets forth in her diary

"This stone is worth $800!

To whom does it belong?

Was it that man's?

Did he steal it? That is not my business. Yes, it is.

The ring is not mine.

I have it. I did not steal it.

It was not given to me. The man robbed himself. He will never come for it.

What shall I do with it? Oh, dear! what will John say? I cannot sell it, because it is not mine. I cannot return it to that rascal, because it may not be his. I hate to ask advice. Now I must. I will ask my rector, and Helen Clare, and Cousin John."

With the assistance of numerous reporters, an advertisement and a pair of pistols in the hands of Cousin John, Serena at last manages to extricate herself from her annoying position without outraging her very strait-laced conscience. The love story which runs through the too few pages of the book is comical and tender at the same time, and gives additional charm to what is altogether a most edifying tale of a New England maid who owned to thirty summers and declared herself to be a spinster by nature.

DRAMA.

D'Annuscio's "Francesca."

FRANCESCA DA RIMINI. By Gabriele d'Annuncio. Translated by Arthur Symons. Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York.

Very few plays have caused more discussion than D'Annuncio's rendering of the Story of Francesca da Rimini. Even in Italy, ordinarily more than tolerant to themes of illicit love in print and on the stage, the theater was kept in a continual uproar on the first night of the play's presentation, and there were parts for which even Duse's genius failed to gain any hearing at all, so loud and vigorous were the protests of the audience. Many of the critics have asserted that Duse's genius alone has brought the play all the success it can claim. No doubt Duse's connection with the play and her unhappy passion for its author will at least lend it its chief initial interest for most readers of the translation, and they will study its character, at first, as much to discover, if possible, what there was in its creator to hold in absolute thralldom a soul like Duse's as to analyse its dramatic and poetic qualities.

When one arrives at the point of such analysis, one finds it a peculiar play—peculiar both in versification and in the treatment of its theme.

The verse is iambic throughout, iambic pentameter when sustained periodic speech makes the long line desirable; but wherever the period is brought to a close with two or three feet, the line ends here and another is begun with the opening of the new sentence or clause. This form of verse is not new in Italian drama, as the translator notes; Tasso, Guarino, Leopardi make use of it. Milton employed the same sort of verse in some of the speeches and choruses of "Samson Agonistes," and he has had many imitators. In unskilled hands, such verse would halt continually; but in skilful hands, it may gain in lyric grace and dramatic significance quite as much as it loses in dignity and sonorous quality by departing from the measured pentameter. In Milton's use of it, we find such a compensating gain that fits it to the situation. But D'Annuncio is not Milton. Neither, however, is he Shakespeare; and the shifting, irregular character of his versification perhaps suits his style better than a more regular one. Mr. Symonds suggests a Wagnerian influence in D'Annuncio's treatment of his theme; to the writer it would seem that D'Annuncio has been very strongly influenced by Wagner in both the form and the internal spirit of his work. He deals with his story from the point of view of the time in which the events occurred; his lovers follow the dictates of their passion simply, naturally and without excuse. They are strong, beautiful, young; gentler, better than those about them; and are naturally drawn to each other. For the rest, D'Annuncio is not Wagner, any more than he is Milton or Shakespeare, and the Teutonic spirit Romanticised loses in fleshly and in naturalness, hence, in beauty. The passions dealt with are weaker, more self-conscious, less direct and objective, more animal and self-seeking, less tender and human. In, these characteristics lie the chief reasons for any complaint of immorality, rather than in the events themselves, to which we can hardly apply a twentieth-century standard.

When we turn from the chief personages to the minor characters of the play, we find still more to criticise in its spirit. The exchanges of repartee between the jester and the women of Francesca's train, for instance, are mere games of battledore and shuttlecock with broad vulgarities uncolored by hint of wit or humor. Shakespeare's worst innuendoes are, with few exceptions, relieved by wit; but there is not a jest that anyone but a thirteenth-century hostler could laugh at in D'Annuncio's whole play.

Neither is the play one from which it is possible to quote to any extent. There are very few passages that, taken by themselves, have poetic or dramatic beauty; the most of even the best passages lose literary value when considered apart from the context. Yet in connection with that context, there is much that impresses one as beautiful and strong; and the play, as a whole, leaves the impression of both strength and beauty in spite of dull, witless vulgarities; in spite of obvious weaknesses of treatment; in spite of the slow and eventless movement of many scenes; and in spite of other dramatic and literary defects. It leaves the impression of originality, of sincerity. One feels that it is the production of a man who, for the time being, forgot himself in his work; and when a man is as nearly enough great to do that, he generally produces something of value, although it may not be of the highest and best.

FICTION.

Noblesse Oblige.

THE GREY CLOAK. By Harold Macgrath, author of "The Puppet Crown." The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis. (Price $1.50.)

The hero of Harold Macgrath's new book is a courtier of the old school—recklessly brave, unswervingly true to his friends and a dashing lover. The Grey Cloak, a somewhat foppish article of attire, plays an important part in the story, as borrowed by a friend, it is stolen from that friend and used by the thief in a midnight escapade in which robbery and murder are committed. The owner of the cloak, the Chevalier de Cavennes, is banished from Paris for these deeds and endures the banishment without protest, thinking that the guilty man is his friend to whom the cloak was lent, and that a protest of innocence would be a virtual accusation of the friend. Later, when the facts of his banishment become known to his friend, the latter exonerates the chevalier and succeeds in showing that he himself is not guilty. The chevalier returns to Paris, only to be told a lie concerning his parentage that causes him to exile himself to the new world. He is in love with a beautiful unknown who also turns up in the western continent. After adventures of various sorts, in which the chevalier proves his courage and fidelity, the tale concerning his parentage is apparently disproved and as the story closes, none knows, but Brother Jaques, a Jesuit priest, that it was true and that this same priest is the legitimate son of the chevalier's father and the rightful heir to the estates which the priest leaves the chevalier to enjoy. The story ranks with a number of readable historic romances recently published.

An International Problem.

MR. CLAGHORN'S DAUGHTER. By Hilary Trent. J. S. Ogilvie Publishing Company, New York. (Price $1.25.)

Mr. Claghorn's daughter is the offspring of an international marriage. Her father is an American resident in Paris, and her mother was a French woman. Both she and her relative, the Marquise de Fleury, visit the United States and make the acquaintance of their American relatives. The American members of the family are religious, and Mr. Claghorn and his daughter are agnostics. A dozen other international problems of difference of belief, training, manners and morals are treated. They are the same themes that Henry James tried his hand at and that a number of other novelists have treated since from different points of view. The book is a very good study of different national types, and the problems that are at present springing out of their contact in the more intimate modern relations of nations.

NATURE.

Disputed Tales.

WOOD FOLK AT SCHOOL. By William J. Long. Ginn & Co., Boston.

John Burroughs attacks the accuracy of Mr. Long's observations as recorded in these stories of the woods; he does not believe that wild animals ever do such remarkable things as Mr. Long describes. The latter relates, for instance, how he makes friends with two fawns as yet untaught in the wood wisdom of fear of man; sees a porcupine descend a hill by turning himself into a ball and rolling down; meets a bear in a narrow path and causes the bear to give way to him; attempts to climb to a nest of young herons and is sent hastily down the tree by a fit of apparently voluntary sea-sickness on the part of the nestlings, who are on the lookout, etc. The bear story is one particularly likely to arouse the scepticism of the hunter; and Mr. Long's analysis of the bear's attitude toward the human intruder of his wildwood domain will hardly meet acceptance from them. It may be true that bruin is usually inclined to go his way without molesting a man who does not attempt to molest him; but the statement that "if you are bold, he is timid as a rabbit" is not likely to receive confirmation from those best acquainted with bears. Nor would the most of these be likely to advise the unarmed reader to make a practical test of Mr. Long's assertion: "Jump at the bear with a yell and a flourish, the instant he appears, and he will hurl dirt and chips back at you as he digs his toes into the hillside for a better grip and scrambles away whimpering like a scared puppy." At least, if any one desires to make a test of this statement, it is probable that the experienced bear hunter would not advise the choice of a grizzly for the experiment. It would be interesting to hear the opinion of T. S. Van Dyke on this question.

NEW MAGAZINES.

An article of very general interest is Frank Swales's "How to Drive," published in the June number of Pearson's Magazine, and accompanied by a large number of illustrations. Mr. Swales is recognised as an authority on the subject of driving.

The English Illustrated Magazine for May contains an article on the Fiesta de las Flores in Los Angeles, by W. H. Bamforth Kilner. A second finely illustrated article in the same number shows some remarkable feats of mountain climbing near Chamonoix by a member of the English Climbers' Club, and the Swiss and Italian Alpine Clubs.

The Outlook for May 23 has a tribute to Emerson by Col. T. W. Higginson. Justin McCarthy writes for the Outlook of May 7 an article on "The Business Half of the English Session," and the same issue contains a discussion of the question of Russia's grow of power, by A. Maurice Low, under the title, "Shall Russia Dominate the World?"

A new ten-cent magazine, the first issue of which appeared this month, is The Red Book, devoted to fiction. Among the contributors to the initial number are Morgan Robertson, Elizabeth Phipps Train, W. A. Fraser, Gen. Charles King, Cy Warman and Rene Bache.

The May-June numer of The Book Lover is especially devoted to Emerson and contains a number of articles on his personality and work. A beautifully illustrated article in the same issue concerns "The Nineteenth Century Renaissance in Bookbinding Art." The remaining 200 pages are replete with interesting matter on literary themes.

A chapter from a forthcoming book, "The Religious Situation in America," by Urbain Gohier, author of "The Army Against the Nation," is published in the Independent of May 14. The article is interesting as the view of a traveler.

The World's Work for June is a vacation number, filled with articles on travel and outdoor amusements for summer pleasures.

Collier's Magazine for May 23 contains stories by E. Nesbit and Stanley Weyman.

"Bee-Keeping for Pleasure and Profit;" "How to Grow Cherries;" "First Principles of Poultry Raising;" "Our Friend, the Pig," and "How to Build a House-boat," are some of the articles in the June number of "Country Life in America," edited by Prof. L. H. Bailey.

The Craftsman, published in the interest of the united crafts, is a magazine devoted to all kinds of fine handiwork. The current number has a long illustrated leader on the recent Arts and Crafts Exhibition at Syracuse. An article of particular literary interest analyses "Shakespeare's Working Classes."

PEOPLE AND THINGS LITERARY.

Prof. Josiah Royce's "Outlines of Psychology: An Elementary Treatise with some Practical Applications" will be published on June 10 by the Macmillan Company.

Prof. Richard T. Ely has written a monograph on "The Evolution of Industrial Society," which will come from the press about June 1. The volume is designed to be used as a text-book in classes in sociology and political economy, as well as for the general reader.

Mrs. Humphry Ward will be especially entertained as "the" guest of the New Vagabond Club in London on June 17, at the Hotel Cecil. The chair will be occupied by Jerome K. Jerome.

Miss Sarianna Browning, only sister of the poet died a few weeks ago in Florence, where she lived with her nephew, the poet's son, at the latter's villa, La Torre all 'Antella. Miss Browning had led a singularly unselfish life, devoted first to her mother, then her father, and finally to her brother after the death of his wife. It was this sister whom Mrs. Browning, then Elizabeth Barrett, was afraid to meet with the natural timidity of an affianced woman at being first introduced to her future husband's relatives. "I was afraid," she wrote in one of her exquisite letters to Browning, "of not being liked enough . . . I would rather, ten times over, receive Queen Victoria and all her court—do you understand?" Miss Browning was buried in the Protestant cemetery at Florence on April 24.

Bliss Perry, the editor of the Atlantic Monthly, says that he has seen few accounts of the sixteenth century stage which seem as readable as the one by Edward Everett Hale, Jr., Ph. D., in his edition of Shakespeare's "Tempest." The account is entitled "The Conditions of the Elisabethan Stage and Their Effect Upon Shakespeare," and contains a great deal of curious information. It is illustrated with a reproduction of the only drawing of the interior of an Elisabethan theater known to exist, of which the original sketch was only recently discovered.

Miss Josephine Daskam has long been famous as an author who never had a manuscript returned. Now she has pricked this bubble of reputation and claimsas place among the rejected. "I have," she recently said, "but it was my own fault. When my work began to have greater vogue I unlocked an old desk and sent some very bad things I had written when I was at college to the publishers. They were rejected. "I don't like writing," continued Miss Daskam. "If I could do as I wish, I would evolve a plot or two every day and have others work them up—form a kind of syndicate. I enjoy the results of my writing, but the actual writing I find tiresome."

According to the London Bookman, "the circulation of 'Wee Macgreegor' since its appearance on English soil has increased by leaps and bounds."

Andrew Lang seems likely to be able to shed considerable light, before long, on the real facts of the famous Appin murder, the circumstances of which furnished Robert Louis Stevenson with the scheme of "Kidnaped," and his later story, "Catriona." Recently Mr. Lang gained permission from the possessors of a whole sheaf of correspondence regarding the murder to go through it, and the writer is planning to publish the conclusions reached by him as the result of his deliberations.

The Bookman has made a list of "successful authors, 1895-1902" (inclusive), from the record of all their books quoted among the "best selling" lists. According to this tabulation Winston Churchill is the most popular and successful author in the United States. The list includes not only our own novelists, but also a few Englishmen. Third on the list stands James Lane Allen, while further down are Charles Major and Marion Crawford. In another tabulation of the best selling books for eight years past are found six volumes published by the Macmillan Company: "The Crisis," by Winston Churchill, which ranks second; "Richard Carvel," "The Virginian," "The Choir Invisible," "The Reign of Law" and "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall." The last is by Charles Major, whose first story, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," enjoys the almost unique distinction of having been quoted in The Bookman's record of most popular books during the five consecutive years since its appearance.

The Macmillan Company is publishing a series of very excellent books on gardening and agriculture, by practical workers and authorities in the different lines treated. Among them are "The Horticulturist's Rule-Book," "The Nursery Book;" "Plant-Breeding;" "The Forcing Book;" "The Pruning Book;" "Garden Making," and "The Practical Garden Book"—all by Prof. L. H. Bailey of Cornell University. Other books in the series have such subjects as "Bush Fruits," "Fertilizers," "Milk and Its Products," "The Geography of Disease" is a new book by Frank G. Clemow, published by the Macmillan Company, treats of the geographic distribution and spread of particular diseases, considering these in alphabetical order. The volume is illustrated with maps.

Dr. James Conland, Kipling's friend who recently died at Brattleboro, followed the sea in earlier years, and it was from his stories of these days that Kipling first conceived the plan of his "Captains Courageous." The Brattleboro Phoenix says that "as the story took form, Mr. Kipling, on two or three occasions, accompanied the doctor to Gloucester and other points on the Massachusetts coast, where, among the fisher folk, the material was gathered to give the color and flavor of real life." In acknowledgment of his indebtedness, Kipling presented the original manuscript of the book to Conland and dedicated the book to him. The Brattleboro papers speak of the doctor as a man of large stature, who died early of overwork because his sympathies would permit him no rest when there was suffering to be relieved. So greatly were his skill and friendship esteemed by his adopted friend that he was called to New York to consult with the specialists, when Kipling lay dangerously ill there of pneumonia.

FOREIGN LEATHER. There has been some improvement of late in the demand for American horsehide sole leather in Europe, following a period of comparative dullness. British importers have been induced to buy more freely, and as trade which has been quiet for some since the Easter holidays has picked up. American and Australian sole leather continue to compete with each other in the English and Scotch markets, and slight fluctuations in prices on one variety materially influences trade in the other. Three buyers representing large London houses concerns arrived in New York recently, and are operating freely, especially in hemlock sole. European leather buyers have taken advantage of a weak market in the United States on glazed kid, and have bought quite liberally of this material at concessions. One large London operator, who recently visited Boston, is reported to have purchased over $200,000 worth of glazed kid in Philadelphia, besides considerable sole and other kinds of leather in Boston and New York. The glazed kid was understood to have been secured at concessions from previous prices and lower than present ruling prices.

American tanners of Russia calf have been in receipt of inquiries and orders for export, particularly to Europe, and this, together with unexpected demand from shoe manufacturers in the United States has created somewhat of a shortage of this variety. Tanners generally did not look for much demand for colored shoes this summer, but now develops that more of them will be worn in America than last year.

Imports from Great Britain are said that American box calf is in better demand than for some time past. This is due to any failing off in possibilities of German calf, but to the fact that supplies of the latter are inadequate, and British buyers are taking up American production as a substitute.—(Dun's Review.

with 252,350 boxes in the corresponding period last year.
Total receipts in May 1902 were:
1,000 boxes, and total receipts in 1901, were 170,700 boxes.

CANNED FRUITS HIGH.
BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, May 29.—[Exclusive Times.] California canned fruits are leading features in the market. Interest centers in the probable opening prices, and buyers are wondering how much more they will have to pay this year than they did last. All materials and labor will cost much more. Some have said they would not be surprised at 15 to 25 cents advance, over last year's opening on principal varieties.
Among the influences is the crop shortage in different parts of the country.
For instances, peaches will probably be higher because of the shortage in Maryland. Last year's stocks are nearly exhausted everywhere, which will have an influence on prices in California. Several tentative lists have been put out. One, published in the Commercial few days ago, was looked upon as too low, and the opinion was expressed that no sales would be made at those figures. So far as known no important transactions have been made.
Another list was put out later, and the figures which follow represent the ideas of a large interest in California:
Peaches, yellow extra, 1.45; extra standards, 1.25; standard, 1.25; lemon cling extra 1.60; extra standard, 1.35; standard, 1.20; sliced extra, 1.40; extra standard, 1.35; standard, 1.20; plums, extra, 1.20; extra standard, 1.00;
standard, 90 cents; pears, extra, 1.50;
extra standard, 1.35; standard 1.25;
apricots, extra 1.35; extra standard,
1.20; standard, 1.10.
Prices on seconds run from 10 to 25 cents lower, varying with variety of fruit packed.
It is believed by some that these figures will approximate the association's figures. One gentleman said they were to all intents the association's prices. It was said today that the association would probably fix prices next week. It is predicted that sales will be heavy as soon as a definite announcement of prices is made.

BANKS CLOSED. Tomorrow is Decoration Day, and the banks will be closed in observance of the legal holiday.

RAILROAD EARNINGS. Current weekly gross earnings furnish ample evidence of the heavy volume of the country's internal trade, and if the views of leading traffic officers are accepted as conclusive, earnings, aided by good crop yields, should for the remaining months of the year prove as favorable as those of the past four months. Data in hand for the first week of May show that gross earnings on roads thus far reported averaged 15 per cent. ir excess of those for the corresponding week of 1902, while preliminary returns for the month of April signify an increase of 14.3 per cent, being the fortieth consecutive monthly gain recorded in connection with railway gross earnings. This ratio of increase, remarkable enough in itself, is rendered more so when it is remembered that it follows gains that have been making since 1898. For example, the last decrease in April gross earnings occurred in 1894, when the loss then that month in 1893, a year of depression, amounted to 14.3 per cent. In April of 1895, however, improvement set in, with the result that the gain of 4.5 per cent. was shown, and this was followed by an increase of 11 per cent. in April of 1896, 1.5 per cent. in 1897, 15.5 per cent. in 1898, 11 per cent. in 1899, 12.3 per cent. in 1900, 16 per cent. in 1901, and 11.2 per cent. in April a year ago.—[Bradstreet's.

COMMERCIAL.

LEATHER. There has been no improvement of late in the demand for American hemlock sole leather, following a period of comparative dullness. British importers have commenced to buy more freely in this trade which has been quiet for some since the Easter holidays has picked up. American and Australian sole leather continues to compete with each other in the English and Scottish markets, and slight fluctuations in prices on one variety materially influences trade in the other. Three buyers representing large London leather concerns arrived in New York recently, and are operating freely, especially in hemlock sole. Prominent leather buyers have taken advantage of a weak market in the United States on glazed kid, and have bought quite liberally of this material at concessions. One large shoe operator, who recently visited Boston, was reported to have purchased over $500,000 worth of glazed kid in Philadelphia, besides considerable sole and other kinds of leather in Boston and New York. The glazed kid understood to have been secured at concessions from previous offers and lower than present ruling prices.

American tanners of Russia calf shoes have been in receipt of inquiries and orders for export, particularly to Europe, and this, together with the unexpected demand from shoe manufacturers in the United States has created somewhat of a boom in this variety. Tanners say they did not look for much demand for colored shoes this summer, but now develops that more of them will be worn in America than last year.

Buyers from Great Britain are in the American box calf is in better demand than for some time past. This is due to any falling off in popularity of German calf, but to the fact that supplies of the latter are inadequate, and British buyers are taking up American production as a substitute.—Dun's Review.

TOMATOES GO UP. Tomatoes in 3-lb. cans, advanced today from 90 cents per dozen to $1.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

CITRUS-FRUIT SHIPMENTS. Shipments of citrus fruits from Southern California on Thursday were 49 carloads of oranges and 21 of lemons. The total for the season, from November 1, to date, is 17,402 carloads, of which 1324 are lemons.

INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS. There are many evidences that the epidemic of strikes has received a check, and last week having brought fewer new controversies into existence. Disputes remain unadjusted, but the places of strikers have been filled largely to keep most plants partially active. In other cases the points at issue have been arbitrated or settled by mutual agreement, and several wage scales are in process of adjustment. In the leading industry there is general activity, and prices for continued prosperity are strong because of the return to normal prices, although this fact is often erroneously taken to mean depression. With the return to lower prices there is prospect of smaller imports and larger exports of iron and steel. Coke is now so abundant that some ovens are being closed, and quotations are no longer inflated. Cotton mills have secured small concessions from purchasers of goods, but not commensurate with the sensational position of the raw material. Some improvement is seen in certain sections of the market for woolen and worsted fabrics, and new lines of carpets have sold freely. Satisfactory conditions exist at New England shoe shops, activity being assured for some time to come. Forwardings from Boston, according to the Shoe and Leather Reporter, were 34,190 cases, against 78,193 cases in the same week last year, and for the year thus far shipments surpass those of 1902 by 200,000 cases. Settlement of the triple wage scale was a most encouraging feature.—[Dun's Review.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

Tomorrow is Decoration Day, and produce firms will close their establishments at noon.

The market today (Friday) is about as it was yesterday; business reported fair. Eggs seem a shade weaker; no change in prices at this morning call of the Produce Exchange; eastern stock moving in quantity; country supplies fairly heavy.

Butter steady; demand good; supplies a little more plentiful.

Cheese unchanged.

Cherries received, about 1000 boxes; blacks and Royal Ann, 75@85 a box; whites, 40@60; bulk, 3 cents a pound.

Gooseberries slow; supplies piling up; 70@80 per box.

Fish plentiful.

Poultry wanted.

Little rhubarb in the market.

Bacon and ham declined ¼ cent.

Other commodities steady at jobbing prices heretofore quoted.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
NEW YORK, May 29.—There was a brief show of strength in this morning's stock market, but weak spots soon developed, and the later trading soon became apathetic, and at last stagnant. Amalgamated Copper was clearly under the pressure of continued liquidation. Its price went a sharp fraction below yesterday's low point, but met some support, and rallied over a point. There was renewed selling on a large scale of Rock Island, and later in the day Union Pacific and Southern Pacific suffered renewed declines, the former touching a new low level for the movement. The fear of a strike, of freight handlers on western railroads continued to overhang the market, and was said to account for the special pressure against Union Pacific. The sales of the morning were generally wiped out on the reaction. One of these was in Leather preferred, which moved up 3% on the plan for refunding the preferred stock. The market was irregular. The bond market was irregular; total sales, $1,154,000.

Financier's Analysis.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Financier this week says the striking feature of the official statement of the New York banks' condition was the almost unprecedented slight change of $46,100 in the net cash, notwithstanding the loss during the week through exports of gold to South America and to Europe of $4,462,600. This would seem to show that the loss through actual shipments was offset by cash receipts from the interior. The loans were decreased $407,200, which may be regarded as a very small contraction considering the heavy liquidation in the stock market during the greater part of the week. The specie was decreased $2,000,000, while the legal tenders were increased $1,593,300, making the net gain in cash $46,100. Deposits were reduced $1,520,300, and the required reserve was thereby lessened by $372,525; adding to this sum the net gain of $46,100 in cash, as above, makes an increase of $418,625 in surplus reserve, which now is $6,644,150. Calculated on the basis of deposits, less those of $17,345,600 of government funds, the surplus reserve is $10,587,325. The circulation was decreased $50,000, and the average daily clearings were $216,000,000, the clearings reported on Friday representing Thursday's business, were $222,324,664. With money ruling at low rates of call, and with such a congestion of funds at the center as now exists, the condition of the banks may be regarded as a matter of little concern.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
CHICAGO, May 29.—Wheat ruled exceedingly dull throughout the day, and aside from a decline of over two cents in May, prices showed little change. The market was quite firm at the start, due to heavy rains in the Southwest, and July was unchanged at 75¾. With the strength in corn, prices became firmer, July selling at 73¾, but the decline at Paris and the general dullness in trade resulted in an easier tone, the market, remaining steady the latter part of the day. About the only feature of note of the entire session was a decline of over 2 cents in May, caused by free selling by belated longs, which occurred late in the day. The demand at 73¾ was sufficient to absorb the offerings, and the price closed firm. Trade in corn was light. The July colored is lower, at 73¾. There was little trading in corn, but the markets held firm on the whole, the poor showing of crop conditions and the uncertainty in regard to the freight handlers' strike being the dominating factors. Closing prices were firm, with July ½@¾ higher, at 41¾. Continued dry weather in the East, together with too much rain in the West, caused a firm undertone to oats; July closed ¼ higher, at 38. Provisions were weak early, Packers inclined to sell, but later there was a fair rally, with buying of September lard by commission houses. The close was steady, with September pork 5c lower; with lard and ribs unchanged.
The leading futures closed as follows:

PACIFIC CITY NOW HUNTINGTON BEACH.

BIG TRANSFER OF SEASIDE LAND IN ORANGE COUNTY.

Trolley Magnate to Extend Line to Town and Create Fine Resort—Porter Bros. to Handle Walnuts—Thieving Celestial Freed.

SANTA ANA, May 29.—Papers were filed with the County Recorder today transferring from the West Coast Land and Water Company to the Huntington Beach Company property at Pacific City, in the southwest part of Orange county, for a consideration named at $95,000. The old Pacific City company reserves about 150 lots from its holdings, the remainder of the beach property going into the possession of the Huntington Beach Company, of which H. E. Huntington is the leading figure.

According to report, the beach town is to be developed by the early construction of an electric railroad, and transformed into one of the leading beach resorts in the South. Surveyors now in the field between Santa Ana and Newport Beach are expected to work eventually toward Huntington Beach. The place which has been known as Pacific City, is situated between Long Beach and Newport. It will in the future be called Huntington Beach.

PORTER'S PROMISE.

A. L. Porter, head of the dried fruit department of Porter Bros. at San Francisco, was here today in company with Mark Davids, Los Angeles representative of the firm, and in a meeting with individual directors of the Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers' Association, gave the assurance that the company would carry out to the letter its contract to handle a portion of the nuts for this year and that it had ample funds to advance the usual money on the walnuts. Mr. Porter stated that the embarrassment of the Porter Bros. Company would be only temporary. Porter Bros. handle half the walnuts of the association, which last year amounted to seventy-five carloads.

NEW FRUIT COMPANY.

The Independent Placentia Fruit Company filed articles of incorporation with the County Clerk today, with a capitalization of $10,000. The directors named in the articles are: A. S. Bradford, George B. Keys, William Crowther, James J. Ortega, L. K. Benchley, A. W. Swain, Robert Mears. The principal place of business is at Fullerton, and the company will operate in fruits and other products in the northern part of the county.

CHINAMAN RELEASED.

Ah Jim, who was placed in custody at Orange yesterday, for stealing a gold watch and ring from Mrs. McGuire, was released today after restoring the jewelry. The valuables were taken while the Chinaman was working in the house, and, as upon their restoration the complaining witness did not furnish necessary evidence the action was dismissed.

PAYMENT MADE ON DESERT MINES AT SAN BERNARDINO.

Fifteen Thousand Dollars First Installment of Quarter-Million—New Bids Wanted for Theater—Electric Line to Rialto Next—Hottest Day.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 29.—Four humble drivers of freight wagons on the Mojave Desert have just secured the first installment of $250,000 which they will receive from a lucky discovery of ore they made on a recent trip. Fifteen thousand dollars in cash was divided among William Smith, Isaac Reynolds, Seymour Alff and another driver. This sum was the first payment on the quarter-million for which the mineral locations were bonded by Eastern capitalists. The claims, which disclose a ledge of great richness, are located near Bagdad.

THEATER CONTRACT NOT LET.

Contrary to expectations, the contract for the construction of the new theater on Third street, east of D, was not let by the board of directors, who opened the bids last night. In addition to the consideration of the main contract, special bids were received for the work of clearing the ground, which includes the tearing down and removal of the brick and lumber on the one-story structures now on the premises. The bids for the latter work not being satisfactory, it was decided to throw out all the bids and ask for new ones on a different basis. It is expected that the building will cost, furnished, not less than $60,000, which with the real estate will represent an expenditure of about $70,000 by the theater company.

ROAD TO RIALTO.

It is stated on good authority that as soon as the traction company completes its electric road to Highland, which will be by the end of June, work will be commenced on a branch line to Rialto, four miles west of San Bernardino.

Pounded Him in Shocking Manner—Country Club Golf. Baseball Today.

Cheered to the utmost by three hundred enthusiastic lovers of indoor athletics, representatives of the Pasadena Y.M.C.A. defeated the boys of the local organization last night in various feats of agility that were interesting and exciting at all times. The contests consisted of fence vaulting, running high jump, shot put and three standing jumps, and were held in the gym of the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A.

Tyler of Pasadena, who is a magnificent young specimen of physical development for a boy not 21 years old, practically won all the events, for he was easily first in three of them and tied for first on the other, Wilson of the local Y.M.C.A. equaling him in suppleness rather than in vaulting strength. Tyler made over nineteen of the thirty-one points secured by Pasadena, and naturally was a favorite with the audience, which applauded his feats most generously.

The galleries of the gym were packed with spectators at 8 o'clock, and there was some chafing at the delay in starting, but after the programme commenced there was plenty of noise, the ladies present taking as much interest in the sport as either of the contesting delegations of rooters.

The first on the programme was a fence vault. In this were entered Wilson, Littlepage and Scott of Los Angeles, and Fawcett, Gammon and Tyler of Pasadena. After various trials at increasing heights, Littlepage dropped out at 6ft., Scott at 6ft. 4in., Fawcett at 6ft. 8in., and Gammon at 6ft. 6in. This left in Tyler of Pasadena and Wilson of Los Angeles, and the bar was gradually raised to 6ft. 8in. Both fouled on this and when it was lowered half an inch they agreed to divide nine points for first and second, Fawcett and Gammon took the remaining four, points being given as 5, 4, 3 and 1, for first, second, third and fourth.

In the running high jump were Tyler, Gammon and Hoose of Pasadena and West, Hall and Littlepage of Los Angeles. In what might be called the finals, West and Tyler cleared 5ft. 4½in., but Tyler easily jumped an inch higher, which West could not do. Gammon was third and Hall and Hoose divided fourth, the score at this time being 17 for Pasadena and 9 for Los Angeles.

There was nothing to the twelve-pound-shot put except the boy wonder, Tyler, for on his first put he made a distance of 41ft. 6in., and no one else could come within four feet of this. Hallan and Campbell of Los Angeles were second and third in this and Frampton of Pasadena fourth.

The final contest was three standing jumps; and of the six entries it finally narrowed down to Tyler against Bailey of Los Angeles. They were tied at one time on 30ft. 4½in., but in their concluding jumps, Tyler cleared 30ft. 8½in. and won.

The final score was Pasadena 31, Los Angeles 21.

ARLINGTON PROGRAMME.

LOVELACE IS SET BACK.

The programme for this afternoon's bluerock shoot at Arlington contains 3 10-bird events, a 15-bird merchandise shoot open to all comers and a 20-bird race for the benefit of Magnolia Gun Club members. The club has decided to cut the money the same way that was exploded at Ocean Park—the "equitable system," occasionally miscalled as the "Chick system," which is a three-money and not four-money proposition.

As soon as the Arlington natives learned Guy Lovelace was coming down—they read it in The Times yesterday morning—they notified him that he would be expected to "stand back" at 30 yards. So the young man has wadded up some 3½ DuPont loads that he says will break the birds at a quarter of a mile. Lovelace's individual championship record did not look good to the Riversiders.

J. G. Carlisle and two or three local shots expect to take the trip.

WIGGS WIGGLED.

LOCALS LEANED ON HIM.

Los Angeles, 11; San Francisco, 5.

Some baseball pitchers may be worth a bank cashier's salary in a minor league team on the jumping-off place of the American continent, but it will take a lot of college professors, Christian Scientists and others, to demonstrate the rumor. This is many miles from Missouri, but the fans here are just as anxious to see things as those who live around St. Louis and Pike county, and other adjacent lands.

Those who went to the national game at Prager Park yesterday needed telescopes a mile long, and then they would not have seen very much, even with such possibilities. They would have seen Mr. Wiggs, late of Cincinnati. He is a nice young man to look at and a jolly good fellow, who would rather smile than not. Mr. Hart of the San Francisco National team hired him from the Cincinnati ball club, and is paying him the fair, living salary of $500 per month to pitch.

Now, Wiggs, who is affectionately known to his friends as Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, may be the best pitcher west of St. Louis, but he was very near the worst, yesterday. He looked good to the locals, who accordingly they leaned up against his $500 arm for no less than fifteen leans. One of these was four leans in one by Reilly; another was for three in one; one was for two at once, and a dozen others were single shots. All this aggregation of "lean-tos" netted ten large runs, and after such rudeness, Wiggs rushed away back and hid under the awning.

Mr. Borchers, called Chief for some reason, replaced Wiggs, and only allowed one more run. Borchers was a star pitcher years before Prager Park was even close enough to the city to have tomato cans thrown on it, and yet he held the local sluggers to three hits in three innings.

Jocko Thomas was in the box for the locals, and it is possible that they made so much noise slamming Wiggs around the lot, that the disturbance scared the Dutchmen sufficiently to prevent them doing much damage to Jocko. They hit him nine times for five runs, and several of these were unanimously assisted by wild pitches, passed balls and errors.

About a thousand people saw the show, and they got a lot for the price, because the ball was slugged hard. The locals made a run in the first off three singles and two steals. In the third, Walters, Hollingsworth and Hall singled, Reilly hit a home run to the clubhouse, and then Thielman put a triple over third. Reilly chased in Hall ahead of him on that homer. In the sixth, singles by Walters, Holly, Gannon and Reilly, and a double by Jocko, mixed up with a passed ball, an error and some stupid play, netted five more runs for the locals, and then Wiggs retired. An error, a fielder's choice and a pass made the last in the ninth.

A fielder's choice, an error, a wild pitch and a double bagger, made the Dutch two in their third. A triple and a single made another in the seventh; two singles and a passed ball, one in the eighth, and a pass and two errors the last in the ninth.

Pugilists Jim Corbett and Jim Jeffries attended the game, and held the attention of the crowd when the players didn't.

TWO EXPERT BURGLARS.

Prisoners Captured in Santa Barbara Identified as Men Who Committed Five Burglaries in Los Angeles.

Charles Curtis and Homer Bell, alias Oliver, were brought back from Santa Barbara yesterday by Detective Benedict, and against them will be preferred four charges of burglary and one of grand larceny.

They were captured in Santa Barbara Wednesday while trying to dispose of jewelry which had evidently been stolen. The police of that city telephoned a description of the goods to the Los Angeles police, and it answered to valuables which had been stolen from a number of places in Los Angeles. When the detective took the prisoners in charge he found one of them wearing a pair of trousers which had been stolen out of a room in the Van Nuys Hotel. In the possession of the prisoners were found almost the entire proceeds of the daylight burglary at the Westlake Hotel Tuesday afternoon. It was learned that the two young men had gone directly to the depot after committing that crime, and had taken a train for Santa Barbara. They also had in their possession the charm of a fine watch which had been stolen from T. J. Wright of Albuquerque, N. M. It was the pawning of this watch that led to their identification as the men who robbed Wright. Detectives Murphy and Hawley recovered the watch in a local pawnshop, but were unable to find the charm. From the owner of the pawnshop the officers secured descriptions of the thieves, and when they were captured they were recognized at once as being the men who were with Wright when his watch was stolen.

Both prisoners were formerly employed here as bellboys at various hotels, and were thus familiar with the premises they afterward robbed. Neither of them will talk, declaring that if the officers can convict them they are willing to "take their medicine." The detectives assert that they will be able to convict them on no less than five felony charges.

I cure the condition and remove the cause responsible for your ...

I can demonstrate to the most skeptical that I am doing just what I claim to do with my exact cause treatment in the cure of chronic diseases. When I have finished my examination of your trouble I will know just what to do and just how to do it. Also, you will at once see that my method and treatment is reasonable, rational and absolutely reliable. I have made it a point during 20 years of practice not to guess, but to know why I gave a treatment and what for. Patients who have chronic, complicated troubles from improper treatment, or misunderstanding of exact cause, will find my methods and personal attention will bring the desired results. I get at the exact cause and remove the condition responsible for the trouble with the most effective treatment known.

Contracted Disease

Become chronic through improper treatment; painful, caustic, restrictive stage of stricture, or deep-seated inflammation of the tract. Chances are that every thoroughly competent physician could have cured you in a week to ten days with the proper treatment, scientifically applied. I have made it a point during 20 years of practice to cure these ailments in less time than any one, and with less pain and inconvenience to patients.

Varicocele.

My treatment effects a cure in a few days, and the cure will be permanent. Normal circulation is quickly restored, pains cease, swelling subsides, lost strength and vitality improve immediately.

I Wait for My Fee Until You Are Cu...

Not By Mail.

My treatment is reliable and gets at the "EXACT CAUSE" and condition. It does what others have failed to do. I accomplish more in a few days' time than can ever be accomplished by guessing through the mail.

Weakness.

Decline of functional activity and vitality is nearly always caused by a disturbance in the function of the reproductive system. Under proper functional equilibrium the nerves receive nourishment, nerve irritation reduced, the circulation increased and strength restored. Results are absolute and permanent.

CITY CAME OUT AHEAD.

CRAWFORDSVILLE (Ind.), May 29.—A riot occurred here today, when city officials tried to prevent a construction gang from laying tracks in the city. When the fire department turned a stream of water on the men the superintendent of the gang cut the hose, and bricks and clubs mingled in a lively mixup that followed. A riot call was sent out and sixty of the workmen and their sympathizers for the road were arrested.

SCHOOL OBSERVANCES

At the High School yesterday afternoon the day was commemorated fittingly. The platform and piano were decorated with flags and flowers. Superintendent Graham presided and an interesting programme was provided, including musical and literary numbers.

Past Commander J. D. Gaylord of the G.A.R. delivered a stirring address, telling of the significance of the day, and urged the pupils to bring flowers and strew them to the exercises in memory of the dead. He urged that the young people are inclined too much to neglect the occasion, leaving it to the older people.

The Institute also remembered the country's heroes. The assembly room was filled with scholars and visitors. The room was prettily decorated and a programme was carried out under the management of Miss Randall. Prof. H. Markham and Dr. R. R. Meredith made addresses.

HERE AND THERE.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education next Tuesday afternoon a mass meeting of citizens will be called to consider the proposition of building more schoolhouses. Superintendent Graham some time ago suggested that a new school be erected in the southeast part of town, to relieve the congestion, but the school directors do not wish to go ahead without an expression from the public.

The committee having in charge the building of a new Baptist church met yesterday afternoon and discussed the bids from contractors which were opened the night before. The contents of these bids are kept secret until Sunday, when the congregation will have a chance to express its pleasure as to acceptance.

Over fifty Elks left yesterday for the San Diego pilgrimage. Most of them expect to return on Sunday or Monday.

President C. J. Willett has declined to be a candidate for reelection to the school board. His successor has not been named as yet.

At the meeting of the Farmers' Club yesterday Thomas Stone was chosen head of a committee to confer with the Los Angeles Fruit Exchange looking to the formation of a general State exchange.

Ralph Chaffin and Miss Lida Doty were married on Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents on Mountain street. They will reside at the corner of Yale street and Fair Oaks avenue.

If you have lost an opportunity, try a Los Angeles Times "want" ad. and you will get another just as good. Telephone your "wants" to Red 1461 and our Pasadena Agency will take your ad. and send it to main office.

MONROVIA.

QUEER ELECTRICAL MISHAP.

MONROVIA, May 29.—Fred Lummer, who lives a short distance south of here, met with a peculiar accident Wednesday. He was engaged in plowing furrows around his barley field, as a precaution against the spread of fire. Running along one side of the field are the wires of the San Gabriel Power Company. A little whirlwind caught up some of the hay and brought it in contact with the wires, and the hay was at once set on fire. A streak of flame shot along the wire past three posts, when a wire broke, and the ends fell to the ground near where Lummer was at work. He received three severe shocks, which knocked him over, and for a time he was not able to arise. One of the horses, which had on steel shoes, also received a shock, and was knocked down. Mrs. Lummer hurriedly came to her husband's assistance, and together they succeeded in putting out the fire, and saving the $5000 crop of hay.

The Council this evening will consider the issuing of $5000 in bonds to purchase new meters. They believe this will do away with the objection to the use of meters, which a recent ordinance required citizens to put on at their own expense.

George A. Lawrence is a candidate for the vacancy on the school board, caused by the expiration of the term of Mrs. E. A. Wheeler.

It is reported that the electric railway service will be curtailed somewhat, commencing June 1, to continue reduced for the summer months, when so many cars are required on the beach lines.

OCEAN PARK.

FLOWER-STREWN WAVES.

OCEAN PARK, May 29.—The pretty Memorial Day ceremony of strewing flowers on the ocean waves, in remembrance of the sailor dead, will take place here, beginning at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, originator of the appropriate custom, will be here, and participate in the ceremonies. The naval veterans from the Soldiers' Home and the Naval Reserves of Los Angeles will also participate, and a large gathering is expected.

The programme will begin at the pavilion, and later the audience will go to the wharf, where the flowers will be tossed on the water, and firing squads will give salutes.

Mr. Vawter of Santa Monica has sent 40,000 carnations here for today's use, and the ladies of Ocean Park have made over 200 set floral pieces, with which to decorate the great watery tomb.

SAN PEDRO.

GLASS-BOTTOMED CLEOPATRA.

SAN PEDRO, May 29.—The handsome new glass-bottomed boat Cleopatra, built by the Hardison-Carse Company of East San Pedro for Messrs. Martin and Rubbard of Los Angeles, was successfully launched last evening. Many guests were present, and Mrs. Herbert E. Carse christened the new craft by breaking a bottle of champagne over its bow. It is said that the Cleopatra is the largest and finest boat of its kind ever built, being fifty feet in length, with a twelve-foot beam. The decks are overhanging, making a beam of twenty feet over all. The boat was built for taking pleasure parties about the marine gardens at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island. An eighteen-horse-power gas engine will furnish power for the craft, and a three-horse-power engine and Westinghouse generator will be used to operate a complete electric-light plant, which is to be installed aboard the Cleopatra.

DREDGING PLANS.

Plans for the large new government dredger, to be used in deepening the inner harbor, have been completed, and were forwarded to the Secretary of War for his approval yesterday. R. A. Crawford, engineer in charge of the inner harbor improvements at this port, designed the new dredge boat, and deserves much credit, as the plans are pronounced excellent in every detail. It is expected that the Secretary of War will approve the plans at once, so that work may be started upon the construction of the dredger in the course of a few weeks.

TROPICO.

RAILWAY MASS MEETING.

TROPICO, May 29.—At a meeting of the Street Railway Committee, held at the residence of D. H. Imley last evening, it was decided to hold a mass meeting at G.A.R. Hall Tuesday evening, June 2. There will be present not only members of the Tropico and Glendale Improvement associations, but citizens from throughout the valley, to take definite and united action regarding the proposed electric railway from Los Angeles through Tropico to Glendale. The committee urges the attendance of all who are interested in the proposed improvement.

Presbyterian General Assembly.

A complete illustrated history of the Presbyterian General Assembly in Los Angeles, will be offered for sale in a single sheet of The Times on and after Friday, May 29. It will be wrapped, readied for mailing, and will be a complete, consecutive story of the entire assemble proceedings. It is the paper to send to friends to whom you would tell the whole story. Price 5 cents.

TO THROW MESSAGE TWO THOUSAND MILES.

GREAT WIRELESS INSTRUMENT TO BE TESTED AT CATALINA.

Induction Coil Will be Used Between Cape Flattery and Dutch Harbor, Alaska—Good Catches Made of Yellowtail and Rock Bass.

AVALON, May 29.—The largest induction coil the Pacific Wireless Telegraph Company, has yet had built, has just been turned out by a San Francisco firm, and a representative of the wireless, has gone up to bring it down to White's Point, where it will be connected with the wireless apparatus, and given a practical test. This coil is expected to throw a spark three feet long, conveying messages through the air for 2000 miles. It is designed for use between Cape Flattery and Dutch Harbor, in Alaska, where the company has located stations, 1600 miles apart. The new coil is ten times as powerful as any now in use; is thirty-five inches in length and weighs, exclusive of the condenser, 650 pounds. The condenser weighs 110 pounds.

WITH THE ANGLERS.

R. Kimball, C. H. Strawbridge and Mrs. Muna of Chicago, carried off the anglers' banner yesterday. They were out with the Mascot, and landed eleven members of a big school of yellowtail. They, also picked up five barracuda, and three rock bass.

E. M. Barkus and wife, out with Claude Wickman last evening, secured five yellowtail, the largest weighing twenty-five pounds.

W. F. Dunham, with the Adelaide, caught a fine yellowtail in the bay last evening.

Dr. Dwight Stun and Dr. Evan Jenkins, of Los Angeles, and Dr. Frank Fitz of Seattle, with the Sunbeam yesterday, caught four barracuda and four rock bass.

A. J. Powers and J. E. Heasly of Warren, and L. B. Scheible of Youngstown, O., with the Nick, brought in four yellowtail, one bonita, and three rock bass.

E. M. Flesh of St. Louis, with "Mexican Joe," last evening had good sport catching two yellowtail, of twenty and twenty-five pounds.

T. M. Potter and Charles Westinck of Peabody, Kan., and B. Parming of Los Angeles, with the Holland, took an albicore and three rock bass. Mr. Potter had all the luck.

"Uncle John" Nestall snatched a baby jewfish from its cradle yesterday. It weighed only eighty pounds.

C. H. Schei and wife of Chicago, with the Bonita, took fourteen rock bass and one barracuda this morning.

E. A. Puster and family of Chicago, and John Norris and wife, and daughter of Pueblo, with the Ohio, caught five barracuda and one rock bass.

H., P. L., and A. Costikyan, four brothers, of New York, with the Scramble, this morning had one bonita, two barracuda and three rock bass.

The finest catch brought in this morning was made by Messrs. J. F. and C. J. Hart of Northport, N. Y., with the Sophia. It consisted of eight big yellowtail, seventeen barracuda, and one rock bass.

W. W. Grigg of Green River, Miss., and M. Loser of Denver, this morning secured fourteen barracuda, six rock bass and a big yellowtail.

ISLAND ITEMS.

Malcolm Joyce of San Francisco came over today chaperoning a party of railroad friends, consisting of Irving Lockwood of Los Angeles, William Crowley and Grant Cowley of Eddyville, Iowa, with their wives.

A gang of twenty peons came over yesterday afternoon to labor on island improvements.

The company issued orders yesterday for the clearing up of Crescent avenue, all boats, fish racks and other obstructions to be removed at once.

The superb yacht Lillian, Capt. I. E. Foschr, owned by E. N. Dickerson of New York, arrived in port last evening from her winter quarters in San Diego.

J. W. Tinsman, president of the Chicago Art Company, and his brother, J. A. Tinsman of Kansas City, are here.

J. H. Stewart, formerly an officer of the State School at Whittier, is spending a week here.

E. A. Beardsley, Los Angeles manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, came over today.

Mrs. T. Pease, wife and child, of Los Angeles, accompanied by Mrs. Burgess and Miss Burgess of Philadelphia, registered at Hotel Windsor yesterday.

J. A. Mitchell and wife, of Newark, O., and Mr. L. H. Mitchell of Pasadena, took quarters at the Windsor yesterday for a short stay.

CLAREMONT.

INTER-SECTIONAL RECEPTION

CLAREMONT, May 29.—North and South were blissfully united, as becomes Memorial time, ina unique social function here yesterday afternoon. It was called a "progressive reception," forty ladies residing north of Fifth street received nearly one hundred ladies living south of this division line.

Four northern homes opened for reception, each containing ten ladies of the receiving committee. In succession the southern ladies visited to Mrs. Voorhees's residence, where strawberries and cream were served, then to Mrs. Hough's, where punch and wafers were enjoyed; from there to Mrs. Wolcott's, where they partook of candies, and finally to Mrs. Billings's, where they concluded the afternoon with ice cream and wafers.

The young ladies of the Senior Class of Pomona College also were guests on the occasion.

Mr. Withington, '94, Pomona's last intercollegiate orator, was tendered a complimentary dinner by the Juniors last evening.

Eleven of the "Knights of the Dagger" and Roy Thomas, an invited guest, left yesterday afternoon for a four days' mountain trip. They will be joined today by H. L. Parks, '96.

Pomona College closed yesterday for a vacation until next Tuesday morning.

LONG BEACH.

WILL DECK THE SEA.

LONG BEACH, May 29.—Honors to the sailor dead will be done on sea here tomorrow, and the memory of soldiers who died ashore will be the subject of patriotic exercises on land. In the morning a procession of children of the public schools will march out to the end of the pleasure pier and strew flowers on the waves. A large number of wreaths for that purpose were prepared today by the women of the W.R.C. Following the flower-strewing ceremony (during which the public will probably be excluded from the wharf,) there will be patriotic exercises at the City Pavilion. Representatives of the G.A.R., the W.R.C. and the Sons of Veterans will speak.

In the afternoon the decoration of graves in the Long Beach Cemetery will take place.

SEASIDE BREVITIES.

A parlor meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stevens on American avenue. Delegates to the recent State convention in San Diego presented their reports, and musical and literary features were enjoyed.

The repairing of the pleasure pier, consisting chiefly of the driving of a considerable number of new piles, has been completed.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Jones of Los Angeles have taken quarters for a month at No. 24 Elm avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Way gave a party at the Del Mar Thursday afternoon in honor of the seventh birthday of their daughter, Edna Way. Fourteen youngsters enjoyed the games and other features.

W. J. Saunders, one of the young ruffians who participated in the assault on the camp of Austrian workmen last week, pleaded guilty today before Justice Brayton to a charge of disturbing the peace, and went to the County Jail for thirty days. Carl Biddle was fined $5 for being in company with the hoodlum gang on that occasion.

"To be or not to be" may very properly be called a question, but advertising in the Los Angeles Times is no question; results are sure. Telephone your wants to Central Office, and our Long Beach Agency will take your ad, and send it to the main office.

Rom. viii. 1-14: "The Life-giving Spirit."

THE CONNECTION.

Our studies in the book of Acts have brought us to Paul's arrest in Jerusalem and his imprisonment at Caesarea. That was about 58 A. D. Now we have a selection from a letter which he wrote to the church at Rome, a little before his arrest at Jerusalem, and while he was still at Corinth. That letter is a profound discussion of the question "how can God forgive sin and justify the sinner?" This eighth chapter is the central part of that discussion. It is a superb climax in a sublime argument. Chapter 6 contrasts sin and grace; chapter 7 contrasts law and grace, and shows how the former is weak and the latter is mighty to save and sanctify; chapter 8 contrasts the flesh and the spirit and shows how the spirit must control the flesh, by the aid of the Holy Spirit who gives us life. Our lesson comes from chapter 8 and shows how the Holy Spirit gives a new life of righteousness and brings us into sonship to God.

THE LESSON.

I.

"The Spirit Gives Life." (Verses 1-4.)

"There is therefore now no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus. (2.) For the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus made me free from the law of sin and death. (3.) For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God, sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh. (4.) That the ordinance of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit."

The law of God cannot render a verdict of "guilty" against the Christian. That is the proposition that Paul is expounding and proving in this part of the letter to the Roman Christians, both Jews and Gentiles. Not only will the Christian escape any such verdict for what he has done in the past, but for what he may do in the future. The essential reason for it is that he is "in Christ," is a part of Christ, has the right standing before the law of God and His destiny is the purpose of God.

(1.) Notice the person who relieved him of the condemnation of sin. The Holy Spirit set him free and Christ did the work that enabled the Spirit to free him.

(2.) How they did it. The Spirit brought a new life into his soul that took the place of the old elements of sin and death that formerly controlled him, through their regular "law" or method of working. The Spirit gives life in the place of death, holiness in the place of sin. That is necessary, for even if Christ should pay the past debt, the sinner would run into condemnation again, without a new, clean nature that would not sin.

The Spirit's work is a law and that assures us of regularity, permanency and security. The evil within us worked under its law, but the yoke of that law has been thrown off and the law of the Spirit reigns. The old sinful nature is not yet perfected, but it has a new Master, the Spirit, who leads through His new law of life and that nature will ultimately be purged of all its evils.

But Christ's work preceded that of the Spirit. His perfect life in the flesh was for our sakes and his meeting of the demands of a just law was for us. He had to be in the flesh like to that in which we had sinned. He had to triumph over sin in the flesh and condemn it, in order that His triumph might become ours. We can triumph only as His righteousness is imputed to us to give us standing under the law and then imparted to us, giving us power to love and keep God's law in the future.

The perfect law of God could not do it, because we are too weak to act on it and that shows its weakness. Christ works out the righteousness. The Spirit imputes it to us, and that gives us a perfect standing before the law that formerly condemned; then He imparts it to us and that enables us to live a spiritual and righteous life, because we are vitally joined to Christ. Those the Spirit makes us alive, it is Christ's life, that He imparts to us and keeps ever flowing through us in streams of healing and victory. Through our faith He joins us to Christ.

II.

"The Spirit Sustains Life." (Verses 5-11.)

(5.) "For they that are after the flesh mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. (6.) For the mind of the flesh is death; but the mind of the Spirit is life and peace. (7.) Because the mind of the flesh is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can it be. (8.) And they that are in the flesh cannot please God. (9.) But ye are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you. But if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his. (10.) And if Christ is in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the spirit is life because of righteousness. (11.) But if the Spirit of Him that raised up Christ Jesus dwelleth in you, He that raised up Christ Jesus from the dead shall give life also to your mortal bodies through His Spirit that dwelleth in you."

(5.) He keeps us pursuing lofty ideals—"the things of the Spirit" rather than "the things of the flesh." The man joined to Christ by the Spirit keeps shrinking away with horror from the sentiments and impulses that formerly controlled him, for they lead to death. The mind of the unregenerate nature used the body as its organ, but now the mind of the spiritual nature is dominated by the Holy Spirit, and the body becomes its organ. Therefore,

(6.) The Spirit enables us to subordinate and use the powers of soul and body for higher ends. That body is dead to the old law and now defies it. It is alive to the new law of life, by the Spirit and through Christ and obeys it. It will die some day, but the Spirit will live forever. But even while we are in the body we are not in the flesh, or fleshly mind, if the Holy Spirit dwells in us.

(7.) The Spirit will keep us "in Christ" as a part of Christ, and thus keeps our life steadily replenished, till the end. No one can have Christ without having the Spirit. To reject Christ is to miss the Spirit; to have Christ requires the Spirit.

(8.) The Spirit cheers us with a great hope—that He will raise our bodies from the dead just as He raised the body of Christ. As He dwelt in Christ, He dwells in us; as He raised up Christ, He will raise up us. Thus, in every way, does He sustain life, as well as impart it.

III.

"The Spirit Ennobles Life." (Verses 12-14.)

"(12.) So then, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh; (13) for if ye live after the flesh, ye must die; but if by the spirit ye put to death the deeds of the body, ye shall live. (14.) For as many as are led by the spirit of God, these are sons of God."

(1.) The Spirit ennobles life by purifying and enthroning conscience. He makes a sense of obligation and forces us to say, "we are debtors." Conscience must first be rectified and be made to say "you ought" at the right time, and to say it with intelligence and authority. We are under obligations now to make our conduct right. That is one condition on which we received the Spirit, and we can now say to ourselves "If we live by the Spirit, let us also walk by the Spirit." We owe it to ourselves, to keep our contract. We owe it to the world at large, for they need our lives. We owe it to Jesus in whose virtues we have all of our virtues. We owe it to the Spirit who imparts that principle of life to us, not to "grieve" Him by fleshly lives. We owe it to God to whom we have been reconciled by the blood of His Son.

(2.) He ennobles us in the graces that adorn the character which lives by the Spirit. "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, meekness, faith, temperance," and those who possess them are the florescent and illuminated works of God.

(3.) The Spirit ennobles us by bringing us into the exalted relation of sons of God. No one can be led around by the Spirit of God without being sons of God, made so by the Spirit. They bear some likeness to God their Father; they enjoy the arrangements which their Father makes for them; they are heirs to the heavenly estates of their Father; they will live forever with their Father.

Who does not want to live the life which the Spirit thus imparts, sustains and ennobles?

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

No man is called to a life of self-denial for its own sake. It is in order to a compensation which, though sometimes difficult to see, is always real and always proportionate.

The well-defined spiritual life is not only the highest life, but it is also the most easily lived. The whole cross is more easily carried than the half. It is the man who tries to make the best of both worlds who makes nothing of either.—[Drummond.

We pursue the objects of our physical or spiritual appetites with uncontrollable ardor. We rush to our own by an irresistible impulse. If you should turn loose a swarm of bees, a covey of quail, a flock of chickens, a herd of cattle, a drove of hogs, a crowd of children, the bees would rush to the flowers, the quail to the corn, the chickens to the worms, the cattle to the grass, the hogs to the mire, the children to the orchards. Each follows the instincts of its nature; each knows the objects of its desire. Bring a thousand immigrants into a great city. Each goes to "his own place." Some to the low dives, some to the attics, some to the basements, some to the churches, some to the schools. All of us are pursuing those objects to which our natures impel us. We are "after" them full tilt.—[Goss.

There are two elements, or atmospheres, in either of which we may, in one or other of which we must, dwell as our home. Immersed in the flesh, we are plunged in a lethal chamber. Lifted into the pure ether of "in Christ," we breathe a finer air, and an intenser life tingles in our veins. True, there still remains physical death, the outward symbol of the fatal ravages of sin, but that affects only the body, and the spirit, even while tied to the body, is life, since, through God's Spirit, it has received inward righteousness, and its life will persist utterly unaffected by what befalls its companion, the body, which so often harmed it, and will hereafter draw from the indwelling divine Spirit such abundant life that some of it will, as it were, overflow, and clothe the mortal body with the vesture of immortality.—[Maclaren.

TRUTHS TO IMPRESS.

(1.) That the sense of freedom is an exhilarating sense of victory.

(2.) That ours is a freedom from death to life.

(3.) That if we were not sinners the law of God, without Christ's incarnation and death could have saved us.

(4.) That righteousness is imputed to us only that it may be imparted to us.

(5.) That if the Spirit abides in us, we will have spiritual tastes and perceptions.

(6.) That we can have Christ only by the help of the Spirit.

(7.) That we have a sacred obligation, as well as a holy impulse to live lofty, spiritual lives.

(8.) That because we are children of the Great King, we must have kingly characters.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

FROM CANNIBALISM TO CHRISTIANITY.

Terse Comments on the Uniform Prayer-meeting topic of the Christian Endeavor Societies, Baptist Young People's Unions, etc., for May 31, "Missions in the Isle of the World."—[Lis. xxxiii. 10-17; ix. 2-6.

By William T. Ellis

Human nature seemed to reach its lowest in some of the islands of the South Sea. There cannabalism and other unspeakable abominations were common. The names "Fiji Islander," and "Patagonian," for instance, passed into speech as synonyms of utmost depravity. As if to demonstrate the power of the gospel to "save to the uttermost," many of these islands have been completely transformed into gentle, peace-loving and Christian communities. The world has seen no greater changes in human nature than those which have been effected by the gospel of Jesus in the inhabitants of the isles of the sea.

John G. Patton, who was recently in this country, is one of the living men who have been savage, man-eating islanders become a devoted Christian community. Romance has few more thrilling tales than the history of this venerable Scotsman's experience in the New Hebrides. His adventures were manifold and perilous, but grit and the gospel won.

The latest of the church's martyrs gave up his life on the shores of New Guinea only two years ago, slain by the people of a new field that he was about to enter. Of this man, James Chalmers, Robert Louis Stevenson said that he was the biggest human he had ever seen in the South Seas. The novelist's admiration for the missionary is recorded in several places. BBig in body as in heart, a broad-minded, unconventional and heroic personality, filled with the pioneering spirit, he was a type of the ideal missionary, who could win honors at home, but preferred to win souls abroad.

Church historians hark back to Pentecost to find a parallel for the scenes enacted in Hawaii in connection with the mission work of Titus Coan. On one day he baptized 1705 converts, all of whom had given proof of the genuineness of their conversion. During his missionary labors up to 1870—and he did not end his work until twelve years later—Mr. Coan baptized and received into the church more than eleven thousand persons.

Hawaii and Greenland are two mission fields that long ago ceased to be such, the missions being formally closed and the people recognized as Christians. In Hawaii the mission work now is among the foreign population, and the Hawaiians themselves send missionaries to other islands.

When James Chalmers went to work among absolute savages on the southeast coast of New Guinea they brought to his wife, as a delicacy, a man's breast, cooked! Yet that community became so Christianized that the missionary sought fresh fields of conquest.

The hymn phrase, "A nation in a day," has more nearly been fulfilled in the South Seas than anywhere else. Often the missionaries had to labor hard and long, against almost insuperable obstacles, but in the end they were rewarded by seeing whole communities casting aside their idols, and accepting Jesus Christ. Today the larger part of the South Sea Islands has been evangelized, and in Samoa, Tahiti, the Fiji Islands, and in many other of the islands which make up Oceanica, the people are Christians.

In these islands there are 875,000 inhabitants, and among them 338 missionaries labor.

America now counts a not inconsiderable portion of the island world in her territory. What with Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines under our flag, we are but looking after our own when we labor for the uplifting of these islanders. Missionary work in the Philippines and in Porto Rico has been remarkably successful thus far, and it is being prosecuted on broad and fraternal lines by the various denominations.

WORK FOR THE WORLD'S WOMEN.

Comments on the Epworth League prayer-meeting topic for May 31: "Work Among Heathen Women."

A stream never rises higher than its source. A nation never grows greater than its mothers. Where womanhood is debased, there will be found a debased people. Where womanhood is honored and exalted, there will be found civilization at its best. Ours is a great nation in those respects which are most worthy, because woman has a larger and more noble place in the life of America than anywhere else in the world.

Consciously or unconsciously, every man gets his religion from his mother.

Work for women has progressed greatly since it has been done by women. It used to be that no women missionaries went out into the field except as wives. Today there is an army of women teachers and doctors and "ministering servants" who bear on their hearts the cross of that most chivalrous of crusades, the modern missionary movement.

The best friend of womanhood the world has ever seen is He who called Mary "Mother."

ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

WEATHER: Clear at 5 p.m.; wind southeast, velocity 14 miles.

After discharging a large portion of her cargo at Redondo, the steamer Dispatch brought 180,000 feet of lumber consigned to the Crescent Wharf and Warehouse Company of this port.

The steamer Santa Cruz arrived from San Francisco and way ports with eighty-three tons of merchandise consigned to the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. After discharging she took on a return cargo of freight, and sailed this evening for San Francisco, via way ports.

The steamer Navarro brought 700 railroad ties consigned to the Empire Construction Company.

The steamer Coronado, finished discharging her cargo at this port and sailed today for San Francisco for orders.

Disappointed at Peer.

A good story about the Earl of Yarmouth came out the other day. It seems that the young man and Miss Thaw dined with a Pittsburgh family a week before their wedding. The daughter of the hostess, a little girl of 9 years, sat opposite to the earl, and not once did she take her big eyes from his face.

Finally she said: "Are you an English lord, sir?"

"Yes," he answered, laughing. "I am an English lord."

"Really and truly?"

"Yes, really and truly."

She regarded him in silence for a moment. "I never saw an English lord before," she said. "I have always been very anxious to see one."

"And now that you have seen one, you are satisfied, aren't you?" the young man said gaily.

"No, I am not satisfied," the little girl returned. "I am disappointed."—[New York Tribune.

Pay Me When I've Cured You

I am always able to obtain prompt results. Even the first benefit noted is genuine and lasting, and the improvement continues until the cure is complete. No more could be expected from perfect treatment, no less could be expected from perfect treatment. Quick cures prove perfection in all my methods.

Weakness

So-called "weakness" is but a symptom of local inflammation or congestion, and a radical cure is merely a matter of restoring normal conditions throughout the organic system, and this I accomplish thoroughly and with absolute certainty.

Stricture

No other physician employs my method of curing this disease. I have cured thousands quickly, thoroughly and permanently, without resorting to surgery. Don't give up hope because others have failed. Come to me.

Varicocele, contracted disorders, piles, specific blood poison I also cure—thoroughly and permanently. Consultation and advice free. Send for my copyrighted pamphlet, "Live All Your Years a Man." Free upon request.
